BRISTOL SAYS TREATY RUINS NAVAL POLICY

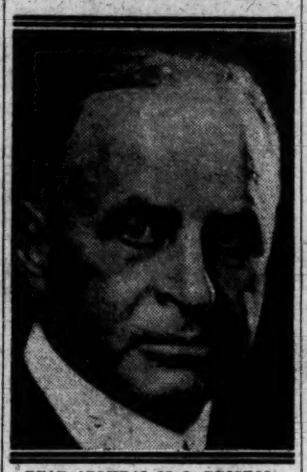
Admiral Sees Defeat of U. S. in Case of War With Japan.

SIGNIFICANCE GIVEN TO VISIT OF DAWES

Envoy Coming on World's Fair Project May Aid Pact Fight.

JONES CITES VIEWS ON 6-INCH-GUN SHIPS

Expansion in 1935 Instead of Reduction Would Be Advisable, He Says.



REAR ADMIRAL M. L. BRISTOL.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

While the London Naval Treaty was being subjected to further attack before the Senate foreign relations committee yesterday, it became known here that Ambasador Dawes shortly will return to the United States and probably will confer with President Hoover and with members of the Senate about the pact. The ambassador, who was a member of the American delegation, has not been summoned by the President, it was explained, and is coming here in connection with the Chicago World's Fair project. But he may nevertheless be in a position to help stem the threatened rising tide against the treaty.

Developments of the past week have brought accumulative indications of a serious fight in the Senate over ratification. Testimony at the public hearing of the Senate committees on foreign relations and naval affairs has presented the pact in an entirely different light from that which had been expected by the American delegation.

Bristol Flays Pact.

In some respects, the most damaging testimony so far directed against the treaty came at yesterday's hearing, when Admiral Mark L. Bristol, speaking with the approval of the general board of the Navy, of which he is chairman, characterized the treaty as a sacrifice of America's naval policy, a denial to America of parity with Great Britain and a surrender to Japan which would jeopardize the Nation's national defense in the Pacific.

At one point the admiral frankly stated in response to a question that the disadvantages imposed on the United States Navy by the treaty would mean defeat in war in the event of hostilities with the Japanese.

Admiral Bristol began by outlining the purpose and function of the general board during the past 30 years. Whenever America's naval policy has been under consideration, the board has been relied upon to make exhaustive studies, to get the best naval opinion and to provide the most authoritative information upon which the government could rely. The general board was relied upon, it was explained, to formulate the Nation's naval program at the Washington conference of 1922, the Geneva conference of 1927, the conferences at Geneva and on other occasions whenever the question of adequate naval defense was involved.

8-inch Gun Ship Policy.

Reduction when possible and no competitive building but an American Navy second to none is the board's slogan since the Washington conference. Adherence to the 5-5-3 ratio established at Washington and maintenance of the American policy of freedom to build types of ships for

CONFERENCE GAVEL REFUSED BY CANNON

Accused Bishop Steps Aside After Delegates Give Him Ovation.

TRADE REPORT DENIED

Dallas, Tex., May 16 (A.P.).—The object of an investigation by the Senate lobby committee and also a church committee as the result of alleged stock market speculations, Bishop James Cannon, jr., of Washington, D. C., today stepped aside as presiding officer of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

It was not, however, until after the rank and file of the conference delegates had applauded him vociferously that Bishop Cannon, whose turn it was to act as president of the day, turned the gavel over to Bishop W. B. Beaucamp, of Atlanta.

Bishop Cannon explained he did not wish to preside "because of matters known to this conference," referring to charges of stock market gambling preferred against him by 22 prominent lay delegates, including Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy.

The episcopacy committee of the church, which is considering the charges, met late today. There have been unverified reports that the committee decided at a previous meeting to order the bishop brought to trial before a church court. Some announcement was expected tonight.

Bishop Cannon declined to discuss the action today of Charles W. Tuttle, Federal district attorney at New York, in granting permission to the Senate lobby committee to examine all records of his transactions with two New York brokerage firms.

"I feel it would not be seemly for me to comment on any of these personal matters," the bishop told newspapermen.

Action of the episcopacy committee in exonerating Bishop Cannon and three other bishops of a charge of undue political activity in the 1928 presidential campaign cropped up during the conference session in connection with the market speculation accusation.

Bishop H. M. Dubose, of Nashville, read from the Dallas Morning News an article, which he said intimated that he and other bishops, who were cleared of the political charge, had "traded" with anti-Cannon members of the episcopacy committee whereby the political count was to be dropped and the stock market accusation

GRUNDY GAINS ON TARIFF GIVE FOES WEAPON

Senator's Fight for High Rates Becomes Issue in Primary Battle.

OPPONENTS DECLARE USEFULNESS ENDED

Champion of Protection Held at Odds With His Party Nationally.

MELLON INTERESTS FIRMLY BEHIND HIM

Complications in Contest for Gubernatorial Nomination Tangle Davis Vote.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16.—If Senator Joe Grundy, who went down to the Nation's Capital and attracted a lot of attention a few months ago, is defeated in Tuesday's senatorial primary it should be a lesson to the youth of the land whose ambition is to go to the city and make good.

Because defeat for Senator Joe, if it comes, will be due to the fact that he made too good. That is the sole argument being made against him now, but it is being made wth a tremendously telling effect. The visiting observer is impressed at once with one outstanding fact in this State's muddled campaign and that is that the senator is not only arrayed against strong political factions in his own State, but against the country, or, rather, the Republicanism of it, as a whole.

It is Senator Joe and his high tariff idealism against the rest of the party, against the President, against the high councils of the party, against nearly everything, in fact, except the very powerful manufacturing interests of this State. Indeed, if Grundy wins Tuesday, one may very safely put his finger on the crack that is coming in the Republican party.

Grundy's Usefulness Questioned.

Republicans here who have national contacts and who are supporting the great humanitarian, Secretary of Labor Davis, give this as their main reason for doing so. Grundy, they say, is a disturbnig element and must be dissociated from the party. And they claim they are reflecting the attitude of the party as a whole. This influence working into the State from intangible sources is doing Mr. Grundy no good. It is, indeed, the heart and soul of the campaign against him.

Return Old Joe to the money collecting realm, that is the slogan, which is not to say just yet, of course, that it will be accomplished.

This argument translated into the terms of the street is taking such form as that the old man has ruined his usefulness at Washington, that his frankness has dissipated his effectiveness. A senator has only one vote, it is being argued, and Old Joe has made himself so offensive to his colleagues that he will never be able to get anything for the State.

Administration Is Involved.

Now there is "Jim" Davis. He has the knack of getting along with people. He will glad-hand his fellow senators, work with them and in the end accomplish more or get more for the State than Mr. Grundy could ever possibly do.

Mr. Davis is all right on everything, it is claimed. He is for the people, for the interests and, on prohibition —"well, now you know that Jim Davis is not a dry. He can't say anything though because he is in Hoover's Cabinet."

The whole idea of the Davis supporters seems to be to just get him in and that he will be satisfactory to

Senators Plan Study Of Election at Polls

(Associated Press.)

The Senate campaign funds investigating committee is preparing to go direct to the polls in the Pensylvania senatorial primary next Tuesday and make a first-hand study of the conduct of this bitterly contetsed battle.

The tentative program calls for the five members of the committee spreading out over the State at strategic points to see for themselves how the ballots are cast in the race between Senator Grundy and Secretary avis for the Republican nomination. Talk of this unprecedented procedure was heard at the Capitol yesterday after Chairman Nye of the in vestigating committee returned from a mysterious visit to Pensylvania. Senator Nye would not discuss his trip nor confirm the report that the committee was planning to go to the polls.

Already charges of irregular registration of voters in Pennsylvania in the primary are before the committee. It will have a special session today to determine definitely whether to undertake the study.

CITY BEAUTIFICATION PROGRESS OUTLINED

Treasury Aid Tells Hoover $300,000,000 Program Is Well Under Way.

MORE CONTRACTS WAIT

(Associated Press.)

Beautification of the Nation's Capital and expansion of Government buildings in the city are expected by the Treasury Department to cost more than $300,000,000 during the next eight or ten years.

Reviewing the progress on the projects, F. K. Heath, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, reported to President Hoover yesterday that much of the work is now under way and that other contracts are to be let before December of this year.

The largest operation under the program is the projected group of eleven buildings to be constructed along the south side of Pennsylvania avenue near the base of Capitol Hill.

Mr. Heath said that by December of this year it is hoped that actual construction operations may be under way for a new Postoffice Department Building and that ground will be broken for the Department of Justice Building, followed by a General Accounting Building and one for the Department of Labor.

Improvements on Capitol Hill entailing an expenditure of more than $25,000,000 include an addition to the House Office Building and enlargement of the Senate Office Building, the construction of a new building for the Supreme Court and general landscaping of the grounds from the Capitol to the Union Station.

Beautification projects, including parkways, boulevards and drives, call for $43,750,000. This sum includes the Arlington Memorial Bridge across the Potomac River near the Lincoln Memorial and completion of the George Washington Memorial parkway to Mount Vernon.

A civic center for the municipal government in Washington expected to cost approximately $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 also has been approved by Congress and the Cramton bill now pending provides improvements involving a total cost of $24,500,000.

Millions Donated By Presbyterians

Benevolences Receive Total of $4,570,258, Says Annual Report.

Atlanta, Ga., May 16 (A.P.).—The twentieth annual report on stewardship in the Presbyterian Church, U. S., released here today by Dr. Roswell C. Long, secretary, lists contributions to benevolences during the year ended March 31 at $4,570,258, an increase of $206,284 over the previous year.

The report will be submitted to the general assembly of the church in Charlottesville, Va., next Thursday.

In the total of benevolent contributions is included $1,195,548.34 for foreign missions; $522,370.16 for home missions; $308,852.44 for christian education and ministerial relief; $85,532.19 for religious education; $16,018.29 for Bible cause, and $20,299.63 for the assembly's training school.

SENATE GROUP APPROVES CAR MERGER PLAN

Little Likelihood Is Seen for Enactment at This Session.

CUT-SCHOOL-FARES MOVE IS DEFEATED

Reduction Is Authorized, but Not Directed in Resolution.

REAL ESTATE BILL ALSO GIVEN FAVOR

Howell Measure on Dry Law Enforcement Subject of Warm Debate.

The joint resolution for a merger of the local street car companies was reported favorably yesterday by the Senate District committee. However, there seems little likelihood that it will be enacted at this session.

The committee also made a favorable report on two other local measures—the Blaine bill creating a commission to regulate the real estate business here, and a minor bill to authorize the Commissioners to compromise and settle a lawsuit involving the Commercial Coal Co.

The Howell bill to give Washington a prohibition enforcement act was debated by the committee for an hour or more, but was not voted on.

The discussion on this measure evidently was a spirited one. Leaving the meeting, which was behind closed doors, Senator Tydings (Democrat), of Maryland, declared that the committee had been engaged in "tearing up the Magna Charta and the Bill of Rights."

Wants It More Drastic.

The Maryland senator, a wet, said that, whereas he once had opposed the bill, he now wanted to see it made even more drastic than it is. Then, he said, he wanted to see if President Hoover would dare sign such a measure.

The merger resolution was drafted by the Public Utilities Commission, and, in reporting it yesterday, the Senate committee followed all of the commission's recommendations.

With regard to reduced fares for school children, the resolution "authorizes" the Utilities Commission to order a reduced fare, but does not "direct" it to order one. This represents a defeat for the advocates of the reduced fare, who had asked that the reduction be made mandatory.

Noonan Wanted Free Fares.

John J. Noonan, in fact, had asked that free fares for school children be made mandatory.

The court review bill, once section 12 of the merger resolution, was not acted upon yesterday. Until it is acted upon there will be no action on the merger resolution, this having been agreed upon by the committee several months ago.

This bill would take away from the local courts the power they now have to upset decisions of the Public Utilities Commission.

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt Visits Charlottesville

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., May 16.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the Governor of New York, was a visitor at the University of Virginia, Monticello, Ash Lawn and other points of interest near Charlottesville today. Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied members of the senior class of the Tod Hunter School, of New York City, of which she is a faculty member. This group was headed by Miss Marion Dickerman, the principal.

After a day of sight-seeing, the party ended the afternoon by calling upon President Edwin A. Alderman at his home on Carris Hill.

AUTHORITIES CHECK ADMISSION OF BAKER MURDER BY SOLDIER

Private Confesses, but Story and Facts Vary in Some Details.

TELLS OF ATTACKING GIRL IN AUTOMOBILE

Strangled Her and Drove Across Key Bridge, He Declares.

SEARCH INSTITUTED FOR DISCARDED GUN

Suspect Denies Removing Articles Later Found in Catchbasin.

Investigating authorities were unable last night to unravel the new but tangled skein which the Mary Baker murder case presented following a confession by Harold L. Brewster, Army private, stationed at Third Corps Area Barracks near Potomac Park.

Officials said there were no qualifications to the man's admission of the crime, but in some essential details his story was at variance with facts hitherto developed.

Brewster, the self-confessed perpetrator of the murder, yesterday told Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth that after the slaying he washed the blood from his hands in the stream that passes through the culvert where the Navy Department clerk's body was found on April 12.

Search for Gun Starts.

Search for the gun with which the murder was committed was begun early today. Brewster is said to have told police that he threw the .32-caliber revolver into the dense underbrush a short distance from the culvert.

The soldier is in the guardhouse at the barracks of the headquarters company, of the Third Corps Area, at Eighteenth and C streets northwest, where he has undergone intermittent interrogation since Wednesday.

Arlington County authorities last night told The Post that Brewster said he approached Miss Baker as she was ready to drive her automobile from its parking place in the Ellipse. He said he approached the left side of the automobile. The window on the left side was raised.

She Lowered Glass, Claim.

Brewster stated that he smiled at the girl as if he was acquainted with her. Miss Baker then lowered the window, and said, "There must be some mistake. I don't know you." Brewster said he replied, "That's all right."

With thi sresponse he struck the girl, according to his statement to authorities. He then declared he entered the automobile and drove it away.

En route to Arlington County, according to Sheriff Howard B. Fields, the girl showed signs of reviving. Brewster said that he clutched her by the throat and strangled her.

Brewster said he entered Arlington County at the Key Bridge and drove to Cemetery road. As he neared the culvert it is believed that the assault took place since Brewster claims that he fired three shots into the girl's body before he reached the place where the body was found.

Asserts He Put Body in Stream.

Brewster is left-handed. About 100 yards fro mthe culvert, he confessed, he threw the .32-caliber gun into the underbrush on the north side of Cemetery road. When the culvert was reached he said he lifted the body from the automobile and placed it in the stream. Then he washed the blood from his hands.

Brewster added that he drove the automobile to the point of its abandonment near Military road. When he left the car, Brewster said, he did Prohibition Attitude of Opponents in Senate Contest Scored.

Newark, N. J., May 16 (A.P.).—Breaking into the Republican contest for nomination for United States senator, Representative Franklin W. Fort today came to the defense of the eighteenth amendment, which Ambassador Morrow and his other opponents have attacked.

"I believe in the eighteenth amendment," Mr. Fort said in the statement announcing his candidacy, "and I am unwilling that my native State should directly or indirectly go on record for its repeal."

Scarcely twelve hours earlier Ambassador Morrow opened his campaign by advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment and return of control of liquor traffic to the States. The other candidates are Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, former United States senator, and John A. Kelly. The amendment was adopted with the aid of Mr. Frelinghuysen's senatorial vote, but he recently announced he was in favor of repeal and govern-

MOB IN TEXAS BURNS SLAYER'S DEAD BODY

Man, Who Killed Land Owner, Is Slain in Gunfight With Posse.

NEAR RECENT LYNCHING

Honeygrove, Tex., May 16 (A.P.).—Angered over the slaying of E. F. Fortenberry, 50-year-old land owner, a crowd of several hundred persons late today snatched the bullet scarred body of George Johnson, 30-year-old Negro, from a cabin where he had been slain in an exchange of shots with a sheriff's posse and dragged it in front of a Negro church, where it was burned.

The crowd made a rush on the cabin after the Negro ceased to return the officers' fire. The mob tied the body to a motor truck, dragged it two miles to Honeygrove and after circling the business district a few times, headed for the Negro section of the city.

Halting in front of a Negro church, the mob strung the body up by the legs to a tree after the body was saturated with gasoline taken from automobile tanks; a match was applied.

No attempt was made to molest other Negroes and no property was destroyed. After the body was burned, a heavy rain storn dispersed the crowd. County officers made no request for outside assistance and no further trouble was anticipated.

Honeygrove is about 50 miles east of Sherman, Tex., where a week ago today a mob burned the Grayson County Courthouse causing the death of George Hughes, 41-year-old Negro, charged with attacking a white woman.

Several buildings in the Negro section of Sherman also were destroyed by fire during the rioting and that city is still under martial law proclaimed by Gov. Dan Moody. Hughes' body was burned after it was recovered from a vault in the ruins of the

MORROW AROUSES POLITICAL CIRCLES

Aggressive Wet Statement Hailed Joyously by Antidry Groups.

FORT ACTION EXPECTED

The clear-cut announcement of Dwight W. Morrow on prohibition at the outset of his campaign for the Republican nomination for the Senate in New Jersey, caused a real sensation in political circles here yesterday. Friends of Mr. Morrow expected him to take the "wet" side, but they did not look for such a bold, aggressive utterance. Nothing in years has given the opponents of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act so much joy and hope as the Morrow declarations.

The action of Representative Franklin W. Fort in declaring that he would try for the Republican nomination on a "dry" platform was not unexpected. He had indicated several days ago that he might enter the contest for the Senate. The drys welcome him as the only hope for their cause in New Jersey, as they expect the Democrats to nominate a wringing wet.

Democrats and Republicans manifested keen interest in the news from New Jersey. Mr. Fort was in Newark, and his colleagues were eager to see what he would say.

There was a quick line-up here on possibilities of the New Jersey campaign. It is agreed by a majority of those who discussed the Morrow declaration and the Fort reply that New Jersey will be the center of political interest the coming summer and fall. It is believed here that with a man like Mr. Morrow, with his great prestige as business man, diplomat and friend of the President, leading a constructive movement to eliminate the dry amendment and the enforcement code, the entire country will give attention.

Onlookers here believe that President Hoover is embarrassed by the promised contest between two of his

West Point Officer Says U. S. Academy Did Not Know of Wedding.

A War Department investigation to determine if any West Point official knew that Christian Keener Cagle, the Army's football ace, was married during the last two years of his competition, was demanded in the House yesterday by Representative Fish (Republican), New York.

The demand brought the immediate response from Capt. W. H. Wells, intelligence officer at the military academy, that an investigation already had been made and "resulted in finding that no officer at West Point had any knowledge of Cagle's marriage until it came out this week."

Mr. Fish said that any official who knew Cagle was married should be transferred.

Gore to Ask Seat In Senate as Wet

Blind Man Senator Voted for Dry Amendment and Volstead Act.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 16 (N.Y. W.N.S.).—Thomas P. Gore, the blind former senator from Oklahoma, shortly will announce himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, running as a wet, it is understood by political leaders here.

Gore, who voted for the eighteenth amendment and also voted to pass the Volstead act over Wilson's veto, will base his wet campaign on the proposition that the dry law, as it now stands, is unenforceable. Whether he will run as a modificationist or an advocate of repeal is not known to his friends here, who are awaiting his arrival in Oklahoma City in a few days with keen interest.

The blind former senator will be the first office seeker in Oklahoma to run as an antiprohibitionist during the present campaign.

For several years former Senator Gore has been practicing law in the East. Following a trip to Europe last summer he has been staying in Washington.

Authorities Check Details.

Inspector William S. Shelby, Lieut. Edward J. Kelly and Department of Justice agents, who have been investigating the murder, last night were checking details of Brewster's story.

Authorities are inclined not to put too much faith in the story of the soldier since it was learned that he had been suffering of nervousness in the past few months.

Some significance was attached to the alleged confession by the entry into the case of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice. Mr. Hoover participated in the interrogation of the soldier at the barracks of the Headquarters Company at Eighteenth and C streets northwest.

Upon his withdrawal from the group of questioners Mr. Hoover said he had nothing to say. The soldier is being held in the guardhouse of the barracks and can not be removed from the premises without a civil warrant.

In the man's quarters at the barracks a gray cap was found yesterday. Officers of the post say that he also owns a gray suit. The man seen by witnesses of the attack in the Ellipse wore a gray suit and cap.

Off Duty on Murder Date.

A check-up of the man's activities at the barracks revealed that he was off duty on the day of the murder. The time of his return to his quarters could not be determined.

Several conflicting stories have been told by the suspect which are being investigated by police. The gun with which he is alleged to have murdered the girl he said he bought in a Georgetown store. Investigation at the store revealed that firearms are not sold there.

Several of the men in the suspect's circle of acquaintances reported to their superior officers that the man had mentioned Mary Baker's name on several occasions. A report was made on Wednesday and Capt. Bolling ordered him held for investigation.

Wednesday afternoon the man was interrogated by officers of the company. During the questioning he is said to have admitted that he knew the man that killed the girl. On the night of the murder, he is said to have told authorities then, he drove the slayer to Baltimore. When it was learned that he did not own an automobile, he is reported to have told authorities that he murdered the girl.

U. S. Agents Notified.

Officers of the Headquarters Company grilled the man on several occasions and on Thursday notified the Federal authorities. Inspector Shelby and Lieut. Kelly entered the case early yesterday afternoon when Federal authorities called them in.

Officers at the barracks described the suspect as 35 years old, weighing 165 pounds, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, with sallow complexion and sandy gray hair.

An attempt was made to learn the place where the man had thrown the gun. So far as police could learn from the suspect he discarded it in the bushes near the murder scene.

His superior officers at the barracks yesterday said that the suspect's Army record is unblemished. His length of service could not be learned yesterday, although it is understood that he enlisted from Washington.

Two Girls in Culpeper Are Injured by Auto

SENATE WILL SEEK TARIFF BILL ACTION

Move Is to Be Made to Get Measure Back From Conference.

HOUSE STANDS ADAMANT

(Associated Press.)

An answer to the question whether the tariff bill will be put to a final vote at this session or remain deadlocked in conference will be given by the Senate Monday. The decision will come on a resolution by Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, chairman of the Senate conference committee, seeking a release from informal pledges binding that committee to the Senate's debenture and flexible clause.

Smoot offered the resolution yesterday as the only means of getting the bill back to the Senate without the conferees having to sign another partial agreement.

Prior to its introduction, Democratic leaders assailed the House Republican managers, asserting on the floor that they wanted to see the bill fail. Senator Smoot replied that all the House conferees wanted was "free and full conference," but he agreed with Senator Simmons (Democrat), North Carolina, that the managers of the other branch refused to cooperate in bringing that about.

To have signed another partial report to get the bill back in the Senate would have forced separate votes on the disputed provisions in the House, which already is on record against them. So is President Hoover.

The House managers renewed their ultimatum at a conference with the Senate group yesterday that negotiations were off until the Senate conferees were given a free hand to work out a compromise.

The resolution was the only way out of the tangle. Realizing that its defeat will mean death for the tariff bill at this session, Republican leaders immediately began a sprited drive to muster the necessary majority to put it over. The resolution was agreed upon at a conference of Republican leaders called by Senator Watson, Indiana, floor leader.

Democrats and Republican independents, who wrote the debenture and legislative flexible clauses into the bill over President Hoover's protest, were making no claims of victory, but were laying plans to carry on a spirited fight.

Four More Killed By Wood Alcoohl

New York, May 16 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Chief Medical Examiner Norris today announced four more men had died from drinking wood alcohol, making the number of fatalities from poison liquor in the last week ten. Dr Norris said he hoped the prohibition authorities here would try to trace the source of the wood alcohol supply to prevent a series of deaths similar to that of a few years ago.

Bucharest, Roumania, May 16 (A.P.).—Street rioting occurred here tonight when police and soldiers prevented the distribution of newspapers containing forbidden articles referring to former Prince Carol.

M. Filipescu, editor of one of the Bucharest newspapers, was severely injured by a polic ecommissary. Newsboys gathered at the newspaper offices in an effort to get copies of the papers but were dispersed by the police.

Recently a bitter attack was made by Vintila Bratianu, Liberal leader, against the government and the regency council. He accused the government of Premier Maniu of conspiring to bring about the return of Carol.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

An exhaust "cutout" with its attendant noise is specifically prohibited by the local traffic regulations. It is looked upon as the cause of so much noise that it becomes a common nuisance.

Formerly it was the custom to equip cars with a device for cutting out the muffler in the belief that it increased their power. But no matter what the reason may be, the regulations provide that an automobile must be equipped with a muffler which shall not be cut out or put out of operation in any way.

Example: A driver finds after going over an obstruction in the roadway that his muffler has been damaged so that it no longer muffles the noise of the exhaust. If he does not have it repaired at once, he violates the regulations every time he uses his car.

SENATE TO EXAMINE CANNON STOCK BUYS

Caraway Will Send Agent to New York to Make Investigation.

COMMITTEE ACTS LATER

(Associated Press.)

The way was opened yesterday for the Senate lobby committee to examine all records concerning transactions of Bishop James Cannon, jr., with two New York brokerage companies.

Permission was requested by Chairman Caraway, of the committee. Federal District Attorney Tuttle, of New York, who has possession of the records, replied that after conferring with the Department of Justice he would assent to the examination.

Senator Caraway said he expected to send John Holland, committee investigator, to New York today to make an investigation. He will examine the records of the brokerage houses of Charles Goldhurst and Kable & Co.

Bishop Cannon is facing the possibility of a church trial at the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Dallas, on charges growing out of stock market transactions. He will appear later before the lobby committee.

In announcing yesterday that he had requested permission to examine records, Senator Caraway said into Bishop Cannon's financial transactions it ought to "know the whole story."

The subject of Bishop Cannon's finances came before the committee in testimony by Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, who charged that the bishop had received $65,300 from E. C. Jameson, New York capitalist, for use in the 1928 Virginia anti-Smith campaign but had reported receipts of only $17,000.

McBride Defends Lobby Statement

'Whipped Wets to Frazzle,' Dry Chieftain Tells Maryland Branch.

Baltimore, May 16 (A.P.).—Defending his statement that "the Antisaloon League was born of God," made before the Senate lobby committee, Dr. F. Scott McBride, of the dry organization, today told directors of the Maryland branch of the league that "it will keep on fighting while he leads."

"We whipped the wets to a frazzle," Dr. McBride told the Maryland directors. "I think all this turmoil over prohibition proves that the people are solidly back of the law. The wets don't want beer and wines. They want to break down prohibition and get us back to where we once were."

The reelection of George W. Crabbe as Maryland superintndent of the league was announced following the meeting. His annual report declared that Maryland is almost equally divided on prohibition.

friends—Mr. Morrow and Mr. Fort—but they also feel that he will be glad to see the test now under way carried to the end. His mind, friends assert, is open on the question of the advisability of national prohibition laws.

Joyful wets are already boosting Mr. Morrow for President. His statement on prohibition has given them courage.

against Bishop Cannon would be pushed.

"I resent this statement," Bishop Dubose said. "I have never tried to hide anything, but this is untrue. I do not believe there has been any such compromise."

Bishops E. D. Mouzon, of Charlotte, N. C., and John M. Moore, of Dallas, and finally Cannon, all of whom had been named by the Rev. Rembert Smith, of Georgia, as taking undue part in politics, followed with denials of any compromise.

Sealed Rum on Yacht Is Seized at Honolulu

Honolulu, May 16 (A.P.).—Mrs. Jeanette Hyde, collector of customs here, asked officials at Washington today for radioed instructions concerning the seizure of 70 cases of liquor on the yacht Orion, owned by Julius Forstmann, wool manufacturer of New York.

The Orion arrived from the Far East Tuesday with the liquor listed on the manifest, but under seal. Forstmann said he had been advised that if the liquors were on the manifest and sealed they would not be seized, but they were placed in a vault in the customs office.

Burglar Alarms Loot Of Beginners in Crime

Chicago, May 16 (A.P.).—Police said today that William Stacey and Albert Brussilo made a novel start on a career of crime.

"Do you know what those things are?" inquired a policeman who accosted them trundling a cart of merchandise from the plant of the Universal Printing Co.

"No, we don't," the pair replied. "What are they?"

"Burglar alarms."

METHODIST BISHOPS TO BE RETIRED AT 72

Legislation of Conference to Affect Four Prelates in 1934.

FIGHT IS MADE IN VAIN

Dallas, Tex., May 16 (A.P.).—An arbitrary age limit of 72 years was placed on bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at the quadrennial conference of the church here today, to guard against "embarrassments" which in the past have caused the church to hesitate in retiring a superintendent who has passed the age of efficiency.

The legislation, adopted by a large majority, four years hence will affect three and possibly four of the present members of the College of Bishops, although it will not become effective until the close of the next general conference, in 193. Those affected and their present ages are:

Collins eny, 76, Rich7mond, Va.; W. A. Candler, 73, Atlanta, Ga.; H. M. ubose, 72, Nashville, Tenn., and W. F. McMurry, 66, Fayette, Mo. There was some doubt as to McMurry because of the ambiguous warding of the memorial, which said:

"No bishop shall remain on the effective list longer than the general conference nearest his seventy-second birthday, provided that the provisions shall not become effective until the close of the general conference of 1934."

Sponsored by the committee on episcopacy, the memorial was explained for the committee by Dr. J. W. Moore, of Charlottesville, Va., who brought out the embarrassment which had attended superannuation of bishops in the past.

"No man seems to know," Dr. Moore said, "when the time for his retirement comes." Not without a fight was the resolution adopted. Judge John B. Hutcheson, of Jonesboro, Ga., pleaded with the delegates to retire the superintendents for inefficiency, not for old age. He cited the age and brilliance of Justice Holmes, of the United States Supreme Court, as proof of his contention that age has nothing to do with efficiency.

The memorial also provides that "a bishop may be superannuated on account of age or infirmity, at his own request on on recommendation of the committee on episcopacy."

DAYTON SHOWS BIG GROWTH IN CENSUS

BRIDGEPORT TOTAL LAGS

(Associated Press.)

Dayton, Ohio, forty-third city in 1920, and Bridgeport, Conn., forty-fourth, found the numerical gulf between them growing when they finished 1930 census count yesterday within a few hours of each other.

Dayton, increased by 24.9 per cent, totaled 199,683, and had passed Worcester, Mass.

Bridgeport, increasing by but 2.5 per cent, had been passed by San Diego, Springfield, Hartford, Youngstown and Grand Rapids.

Dayton, in turn, was passed by Houston, forty-fifth city in 1920—by a long, strong leap.

"Then and now" tabulations of the three, Dayton, Bridgeport, Houston, offer a striking example of the way the 1930 census has been shifting the bits of glass in the national kaleidoscope.

The tables follow for the two counts:

Forty-third city	Dayton, Ohio,	152,559.
Forty-fourth city	Bridgeport, Conn.,	143,555.
Forty-fifth city	Houston, Tex.,	138,276.
Houston, Tex.		290,811
Oakland, Calif.		284,213
Dallas, Tex.		260,397
Birmingham, Ala.		257,657
Akron, Ohio		257,378
Memphis, Tenn.		252,049
Providence, R. I.		250,288
Syracuse, N. Y.		207,007
Dayton, Ohio		199,683
Worcester, Mass.		196,345
Grand Rapids, Mich		168,234
Youngstown, Ohio		167,224
Hartford, Conn.		161,324
Springfield, Mass.		149,639
San Diego, Calif.		147,897
Bridgeport, Conn.		147,206

Shaker Heights, Ohio, population 17,892, joined the large increase list. The 1920 census book showed its population but 1,616 on which basis the increase would be 1,007 per cent.

This would place Shaker Heights third on the list of percentage increases, putting Pampa, Tex., back to fourth place.

Washington-Nicaragua Round Trip Mark Set

A record for a round-trip flight between Washington and Nicaragua was established yesterday. A crew of Marine Corps and Navy officers, headed by Capt. Arthur H. Page, left Anacostia Field Saturday afternoon and returned to the same field at 2:25 p. m. yesterday.

The flyers made their way to Nicaragua by way of Cuba and across the Caribbean Sea, making a total of 2,136 miles on the southbound trip. The return route was largely overland, the itinerary being by way of Mexico, totaling 2,546. The total distance was 4,682 miles.

Tulsa Gets Airport Conference.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 16 (A.P.).—The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America today decided to hold its 1931 National Airport Conference at Tulsa, Okla.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:45 p. m. to noon today.

Rear Admirals Mark L. Bristol and Hilary P. Jones appeared before the foreign relations committee and attacked the London naval treaty, disclosing that the American negotiations provided for three 8-inch gun cruisers less than the Navy general board has set as a minimum defense.

Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, introduced a resolution asking the Senate to relieve its tariff bill conferees from their promises not to abandon the debenture and legislative flexible provisions.

Adopted the Bratton resolution to request from the Secretary of Commerce information on the causes of airplane accidents since May 20, 1926.

Senator Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, introduced a resolution to put the Senate on record in opposition to granting of permits or licenses by the Federal Power Commission for the development of water power sites.

Passed the House bill establishing two additional Federal prisons.

Passed the House bill to provide for the appointment of an additional Federal judge for Minnesota.

Chairman Johnson, of the commerce committee, announced that hope for final action on the House rivers and harbors bill rested on "a 50-50 chance" of agreement by a subcommittee on a proposal for Federal operation of the Erie Canal in New York State.

Aroused by the ransacking of the offices of Senator Johnson (Republican), California, Majority Leader Watson proposed that an additional night guard be employed at the Capitol.

Chairman Nye submitted a report to the campaign funds committee on his Pennsylvania senatorial investigation.

Passed and sent to the House a bill to raise the pay of Washington's policemen and firemen.

Chairman Caraway, of the lobby committee, announced that he planned to send a committee investigator to New York to assist in an investigation of transactions that Bishop James Cannon, jr., had with brokerage houses.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:10 p. m. to noon today.

Representative Fish (Republican), New York, demanded an investigation at the United States Military Academy to determine if any of the officials knew that Christian Cagle, star football player, was married during the last two years of his football career.

Adopted an amendment to the annual naval supply bill to set aside $3,194,000 to begin work on the $10,000,000 naval public works program.

Passed and sent to the Senate the Ketcham bill to expand the foreign agriculture information service.

Received from the President recommendations for supplemental appropriations as follows: $40,000 to continue litigation in connection with the Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California, and $17,640 to permit the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a local office at Omaha, Nebr.

Representative Williamson (Republican), South Dakota, introduced a resolution authorizing an investigation of all postoffice building leases, and an inquiry into campaign contributions which may have influenced the granting of these leases.

Chairman Britten, of the naval committee, charged that the Naval General Board had not studied the air defenses of San Francisco Bay in concluding that Camp Kearney, Calif., was most suitable for a dirigible base.

ADVERTISERS PICK GOVERNING BOARD

C. E. Newell Is Selected to Succeed H. K. McCann as Chairman.

WORK ABROAD STRESSED

C. E. Newell, of the Newell-Emmett Co., New York, was elected chairman of the board of governors of the American Association of Advertising Agencies at the termination of its convention at the Mayflower Hotel yesterday. He succeeds H. K. McCann, of New York.

Other members of the board elected were W. C. D'Arcy, of the D'Arcy Advertising Co., St. Louis, vice president; H. B. Humphrey, of Boston, secretary, and E. DeWitt Hill, of the H. K. McCann Co., reelected for two years.

Mr. McCann and H. T. Ewald, of the Campbell-Ewald Co., Detroit, were elected members at large, and the following were named as directors representing various districts of the councils of the association:

New District Directors.

George F. Gouge, of Batten, Barton, Burstine & Osborn, Inc., New York, representing the New York district; Harold Bugbee, of the Walter B. Snow and Staff, of Boston, for the New England district; A. King Aitkin, of the Aitkin-Kynett Co., Philadelphia, for the Philadelphia district; C. C. Fogarty, of the Matteson, Fogarty-Jordan Co., of Chicago, for the Western district, and Thomas E. Basham, of the Thomas Basham Co., Louisville, for the Southern district.

Pointing out that the need for good advertising abroad is as obvious as the need for good advertising at home, Henry C. Fowler, of the J. Walter Thompson Co., speaking on export advertising, declared that "many American companies whose success in this country has been built largely upon advertising either forget or wilfully ignore the existence of a similar necessity in foreign fields."

He explained this as being due probably to the fact that "some mistrust exists as to the effectiveness of the media available; much more particularly is it due to the form of organization under which most companies have had to expand their foreign sales."

Personnel Problem Discussed.

M. L. Wilson, of the Blackman Co., of New York, told the agency men that "the problem of personnel is the problem back of the success or failure of any agency. If you have the right men, you will succeed. If you haven't, you won't."

He declared that although there are many methods of passing upon applicants for jobs, "none has improved the application of ordinary common sense." He expressed the belief that although final choice should be left to the head of the department, other executives should have an opportunity to examine the applicant.

At the conclusion of the morning session, which was held behind closed doors, the 200 or more delegates to the convention adjourned to the Burning Tree Golf Club.

Report on Census For Capital Ready

Bureau Threatens Arrest of 300 Who Refuse Information.

With a warrant issued for one man who is alleged to have refused to give the Government census information and similar action being threatened against 300 other persons, the Census Bureau is preparing to give a preliminary announcement of the population of Washington late tonight. If the count is completed by the scheduled time, the report of the population will be given in The Post tomorrow.

The warrant was issued yesterday against Patrick Gallagher, the Iroquois Apartments, of 1410 M street northwest. Gallagher, according to J. Sterling Moran, supervisor of the District census, has persistently refused to furnish enumerators with information and has suggested that census officials get the information they want about him from Vice President Curtis.

The warrant against Gallagher had not been served last night. Mr. Moran said that he has the names and addresses of approximately 300 other persons who have refused to give information. Letters of final warning were sent to these persons last night. They will be given until Monday to communicate with the Census Bureau. All persons refusing to answer census questions are subject to a fine of $100 or 60 days in jail or both.

20 Editors Will Help Child Welfare Drive

(Associated Press.)

Twenty editors of American magazines met with Secretary Wilbur yesterday and organized an advisory council to assist the White House conference on child health and protection in bringing to the attention of the public scientific information on child welfare.

Secretary Wilbur told the editors that their task would be to put scientific facts in understandable language. The achievements of the conference, he said, will be of world wide interest.

New Envoy to Canada Selected by Hoover

(Associated Press.)

A new minister of the United States to Canada has been selected by President Hoover and has been declared acceptable by the Canadian government.

The White House declined yesterday to make known the name of the appointee, but it was sated that his name would be sent to the Senate very soon. The nomination has been held up awaiting word from Canada that he was "persona grata."

Home Town of Hoover Loses 37 in Ten Years

West Branch, Iowa, May 16 (A.P.). President Hoover's home town lost 37 persons during the decade ending this year.

Its 1930 population was given today as 651, compared with 688 in 1920.

INQUEST SCHEDULED AS TWO DIE IN CRASH

PISTOL FOUND ON BODY

An inquest into the deaths of two men who were killed in a head-on collision between two automobiles at Waterloo, Md., early yesterday, will be held when the three men who were injured have recovered sufficiently to tell their story, Justice of the Peace Howard U. Gosnell, of Savage, Md., said last night.

The two dead men are Frank Swope, 32, of Hollandtown, Md., and William Handy, colored, 29, 1247 Twenty-second street northwest. The injured are Frederick Juliano, 24, of Baltimore, reported in a critical condition; John Thomas, 23, 1113 B street northwest, cuts on body; Robert T. Burgess, 29, 2310 W street northwest, deep cuts on the head, arms and legs. The injured men are in St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore.

Pistol Found on Body.

Swope, Juliano and Burgess were in the same car. A pistol was found on Swope's body and his two companions also are alleged to have been carrying weapons.

A colored man, Marcus Curtis, of Washington, reported to Maryland State police that his automobile and 20 cases of liquor had been taken from him earlier in the evening by Swope and his companions.

Thomas and Handy were riding in the same car, with Handy driving. Thomas told State Policeman C. E. Beaseman that he was going to Baltimore in an effort to locate a job as a chauffeur. He said that he had been asleep on the back seat when he was awakened by the crash and that he knew nothing of the events leading up to the accident.

Police Guard Placed.

The others at the hospitals refused to make any statement, and a police guard was placed over them. Police said that manslaughter charges may be preferred against the men later.

Policeman Beaseman found the wreckage and victims. He called Dr. R. C. Stuart, of Savage, who pronounced Handy and Swope dead and gave first aid to the injured. The injured were taken to Baltimore in the ambulance of Lloyd Kaiser, Laurel undertaker.

Sergt. G. P. Gearhart, of the Laurel substation, assumed charge of the investigation later. It is believed by police that Swope and his companions were hijackers and that Handy was a bootlegger on his way to Baltimore to bring back a load. All of the men in the accident are known to police.

GRUNDY VICTORIES ON TARIFF GIVE FOES WEAPON IN PRIMARY

everybody. That is the keynote of his campaign. He is making the most of his support of the administration. If there is one clearcut issue in the campaign, it is the administration versus Grundyism. The outcome may very well have its effect throughout the country.

Mellon Interests Back Grundy.

And with this the issue, there would be the amazing picture—if it were not so old by now—of the source of Mr. Grundy's chief national strength, the Mellons. One might have had the impression at one time that the Mellons' support of Grundy would be passive, but that is certainly not the case.

The best information here is that they are pulling every string at their command to put Grundy over; that it has become a matter of pride with them, a pride that dwarfs any selfish purposes.

It is the gubernatorial race between Francis Shunk Brown and Gifford Pinchot that the politicians are interested in, of course, and in which the Mellons, because of their vast wealth in this State, would seem to be most interested in, but the available information is that they are not, that they are interested in the nomination of Grundy above all else. It has come to be a matter of national prestige with them, if one may accept the information here as fact.

Brown Enthusiasm Lacking.

Their enthusiasm for Brown for governor is said to have lessened to the point where dopesters are expressing the belief that the Mellons do not seriously care whether Pinchot or Brown is elected.

There is some evidence in support of this, for one thing the seeming indifference to Brown's candidacy of the Mellons' chief lieutenant here, J. J. Coyne. Coyne is the only local leader to remain with the Mellons in their support of Grundy. It is a question as to whether he is not most sympathetic to Pinchot's gubernatorial candidacy.

An explanation of the Mellons' reputed lukewarmness to the Brown candidacy is found in the statement that if he wins the Philadelphia crowd of highbinders will know no restraint. They may be expected to be a most merciless crowd with which to deal, it is said.

Grundy Aid Goes to Pinchot.

Regardless of just how W. L. Mellon may really feel, observers here say that since he issued his first statement indorsing Grundy and Brown they have not been able to get the slightest trace of any activity in the latter's behalf.

The fact that Mr. Grundy, too, is tied up with Pinchot would seem to argue against the contention that the Mellons could just not stand him. Grundy is credited with having elected Pinchot before and if there is one thing clear in the present campaign of knifing and cutting each others hearts out, it is Grundy's sincere support of Pinchot. Their campaigns are tied as closely together as they could possibly be without the two of them having the same campaign manager.

And in this connection, one of the surprises of the campaign is Pinchot's strength.

Bets Placed on Pinchot.

There is good Pinchot money here in Pittsburgh. One bet was laid on him two or three days ago of $1,000 to $800 by a man who is supposed to know his betting onions and yesterday a $10,000 even bet was recorded.

There were reports here today which must be taken with a grain of salt, but which will bear checking up, that the cutting of Davis at the eastern end of the State has already set in. One widely circulated report was that Barney Meyers, Davis-Brown campaign manager in Lancaster County, had left Davis' name off the sample or advisory ballots which he sent out for his followers' guidance. This report is repeated because this cutting of Davis is what has been feared and which will in the final analysis determine whether he is to win or lose.

Certainly, it can be stated that Pinchot's strength has frightened the Brown supporters into the mood of being receptive to Grundy overtures.

BALTIMORE'S TRIAL OF HOODLUM WAITS

Gangster Wanted on Maryland Robbery Charge Fights Extradition.

FORFEITED BAIL ONCE

Chicago, May 16 (A.P.).—Willie Niemoth, one of the Saltis gang's beer peddlers, is not going back to Baltimore just now to face a three-year-old pay roll robbery charge. Willie was arrested today and Chicago police sighed gratefully in the belief that the long, law-entangled fight to send the hoodlum back to Maryland was over. But Willie just laughed and showed officers a notice from Justice Frank K. Dunn, of the Illinois Supreme Court, showing that it has not yet been decided whether Niemoth will be turned over to the Baltimore authorities.

The court a month ago upheld a lower court ruling, ordering Niemoth extradited, but a stay was granted for arguments on rehearing and the State Supreme Court does not meet again until June.

So police had to content themselves with throwing Willie in jail for the night on a vagrancy charge.

Baltimore, May 16 (A.P.).—Possession of Willie Niemoth has been sought for nearly three years by Baltimore authorities who want to try him on an indictment charging complicity in the $47,500 pay roll holdup of the Sonneborn Clothing Co. here in 1926, in which one of a bandit gang of five was shot to death.

Niemoth once forfeited $20,000 bail in Chicago where he had been arrested and held for officials here. Later he was rearrested, released on bail and ordered extradited, but appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court. The court last month ruled he should be turned over to Baltimore. Meanwhile Chicago police were seeking him again in connection with the slaying of John "Dingbat" Oberta.

Niemoth is charged here with having held up, with four companions, the paymaster of the clothing company in front of its downtown plant. Later the automobile they used was found with the body of one of the five who had been shot to death. James Sammons, Chicago, also is under indictment for the holdup but has never been arrested.

VIRGINIA PROFESSOR WINS SCIENCE PRIZE

SIGMA XI INITIATES 21

Charlottesville, Va., May 16.—Dr. Carl C. Spidel, associate professor of anatomy in the University of Virginia, was awarded the president and visitors' research prize of $100 in gold tonight at the annual meeting of the Sigma XI honorary scientific fraternity.

The paper which won the prize established by Hollis Rinehart, of Charlottesville, was entitled "Studies in Hyperthyroidism vs. Regenerative Properties in Amphibian Larvae."

The Sigma XI high school medal, given each year for the best essay from a high school in Albemarle County was won by Miss Alice Kiser, of Scottsville, for a biographical sketch of Michael Faraday.

Dr. C. E McClung, professor of zoology at the University of Pennsylvania, delivered the annual address to the society. His subject was "The University and Research."

Two members of the faculty and nineteen graduate and professional students were initiated into Sigma XI tonight The faculty members honored are Dr. Orland Emile White, professor of agricultural biology and director of the Blandy Experimental Farm, and Dr. Dudley Crawford Smith, associate professor of dermatology. Student initiates were:

From biology—William C. Barrett, jr., Roanoke, Va.; Paul Whiteman Bowman, Clarendon, Va.; Horace E. Haden, University, Va.; Carl H. McConnell, East Radford, Va.; John M. Robeson, Lynchburg, Va., and Thomas Wallace Whitaker, of Monrovia, Calif.

From chemistry—Richmond Thomas Bell, Milwaukee, Wis.; George Lewis Cunningham, Greer, S. C.; Robert Francis Selden, Hampton, Va.; Carlisle Monroe Thacker, St. Matthews, S. C., and Thomas Aubrey White, Wilmington, N. C.

From geology—Fred Anderegg, Grenoble, France, and Raymond Smith Edmundson, Winchester, Va.

From mathematics—Robert Lewis Harrison Echols, University, Va.

From medicine—Joseph William Houck, Harrisonburg, Va.; Margaret Elizabeth Moriaty, Newton, Mass., and William H. Paine, Knoxville, Tenn.

From physics—Everly John Workman, University, Va.

From engineering—Avery Henry Reed, sr., Marion, Ky.

REVUE PRESENTED AT FALLS CHURCH

Madison School Minstrel to Also Be Shown Friday at McLean.

COMEDY WILL BE GIVEN

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The pupils of the Madison School at Falls Church presented a minstrel and revue entitled "Kiddies' Dress Minstrel" last night in the auditorium of the school. The play was under the direction of Miss Nancy Gregory Edwards, principal of the school.

The master of ceremonies at last night's performance was Paul Gibson. The first-grade number was presented by Virginia Melvin, Adelaide Garner, Lorraine Green, John Abbott, Frances Hollins and Virginia Caton. The members of the Stepping Around Chorus, which presented a number of dances, including the Dark Town strutters' ball, black bottom and cake walk, were Frances Parrott, Mary Elizabeth Payne, Nancy Moses, Olive Weetman, Katherine Rucker, Catherine Tasker, Emily Jane Lawrence, Mary Louise Graham, Myrtle Perry and Anne Talman.

The black-faced comedians were Earl Hall, Charles Grogan and George Adezna. The boys quartet was composed of William Keyser, William Lawrence, James Brown and Jack Parrott. Frances Parrott gave a comedy address distinguishing the state of matrimony from that of single bliss. Several selections were rendered by the girls quartet, composed of Emily Jane Lawrence, Frances Parrott, Mary Elizabeth Payne and Olive Weetman.

The "Old Women in the Shoe" dance was given by Ruth Smith, Louise Turner, Lorraine Green, Virginia Melvin, Bernadine Brown and Virginia Caton, as girls, and Jane Thompson, John Abbott, Adelaide Garner, Frances Moses, Frances Hollins and Ruby Lee Parrott, as boys. A solo toe dance was given by Catherine Tasker. A song and dance act entitled "My Sugar" was given by Frances Moses and Carter Edmunds. Frances Parrott and Olive Weetman took the part of two country hicks. The play and dialogues were original, and given last night for the first time. The performance will be repeated tonight in Falls Church and next Friday and Saturday nights at McLean.

Members of the Oakton High School will present an eccentric comedy in two acts, entitled "Matrimonial Exchange," this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The persons taking part in the play are Harris Nipe, Paul Hallman, Frederick Loental, Karl Horn, Warner Moore, Franklin Norfolk, Reba Cupp, Esther Kincheloe, Mildred Beard, Bessie Driver, Elsie Buser, Virginia Carr, Estelle Rollins, Mary Runyon, Branch Grove, Velma Miller, Margaret Thompson, Bert Adams, Ronald Blake, Genevieve Havener and Mary Lee Brumback.

Divisional Superintendent of Schools Wilbert T. Woodson, continuing the work of the school hygiene in Fairfax County, has planned a program on the conservation of sight which starts Monday and continues through the week.

Each day a group of schools will be visited by Field Secretary Charles F. Southard, of the Eyesight Conservation Council, who will with motion picture slides show the children and all persons attending these meetings the importance of normal eyesight in education and in business. He will also explain the necessity of avoiding eye strain, glare and accidents to the eyes.

Superintendent Woodson states that as a very large amount of education is obtained through the eyesight, it is important that the eyes of a pupil should be as near perfect as possible. This work in the county will be carried on without cost to any one. Mr. Woodson has arranged this schedule with the assistance of Proctor L. Dougherty, former Commissioner of the District of Columbia, chairman of the National Eyesight Conservation Council.

The Fairfax County Board of Public Welfare has voted to investigate the possibility of reconditioning the old county almshouse on the Little River turnpike just west of Fairfax as a county detention home for women and children who at the present time must be kept in the already overcrowded county jail at Fairfax.

The welfare board has gone on record as opposed to the sale of this house and 14 acres of land by the county board of supervisors in view of the present need for such a detention home in the county. Mrs. Louise S Mangham, superintendent of public welfare in the county states that she has daily need for some place to take care of the cases that come under her jurisdiction.

It has been suggested that the board might be able to have the house furnished through the cooperation of the various churches and fraternal organizations of the county. Chairman R. R. Buckley and Mrs. Mangham plan to obtain estimates on the cost of the necessary repairs and try to find a man and his wife who would be willing to manage the home. The board of public welfare will hold another meeting before the June meeting of the supervisors so they will be able to submit a concrete proposition for taking over the building.

A banquet will be given by the Alumni Association of the Franklin Sherman High School tonight in the Parish Hall at McLean to the senior class. Mrs. J. L. Kefauver will act as chairman. She will be assisted by the members of the McLean Community Library Association.

U. S. Worker Files Plea For Absolute Divorce

Richard M. Pettey, a Government employe temporarily residing in New York City, yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce in District Supreme Court against his wife, Melissa A. Pettey, of Twelfth street southwest near B street. A corespondent is named.

Mr. Pettey tells the court that he and his wife were married in the District in April, 1917. He charges his wife and the corespondent with many intimacies and states that she has told him she would divorce him as soon as the corespondent is able to support her. Attorney Henry M. Fowler appears for the husband.

Georgia Pastor Accepts Call to Staunton Church

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., May 16.—Dr. Hunter B. Blakely, of the faculty of Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga., has accepted a call to the First Presbyterian Church here.

He succeeds Dr. A. M. Fraser, for 35 years its pastor, who resigned November 1. Dr. Blakely will assume his work here June 1. Lexington Presbytery has not fixed the time for his installation.

DAWES TO RETURN AND AID FIGHT ON PACT OPPONENTS

American naval needs in accordance with fair treaty limitations have been and still are advocated, Admiral Bristol explained.

A necessary part of this policy, it was emphasized, was America's right to build 8-inch gun ships necessary to protect the nation in the event of a war in the Pacific. On this, it was asserted, the board has never wavered. Efforts of the British and Japanese at the Geneva conference to dislodge the board from its position failed, it was further explained, and the board maintained its position even when Prime Minister MacDonald came to Washington last year and exerted diplomatic pressure in favor of the British 6-inch gun cruiser policy.

MacDonald Visit Recalled.

At the time of Mr. MacDonald's visit the general board was asked to state the irreducible minimum in 8-inch-gun cruisers which could be offered as a concession to Mr. MacDonald's demands for a lower American tonnage in this type of ship. The board reluctantly placed the irreducible minimum at 21 8-inch-gun cruisers, it was explained.

Estimates of the cost of the London treaty navy as compared with a navy constructed along American needs without treaty limitation showed in one instance that the treaty navy will cost more than the navy without limitation. By comparing a navy constructed along another line of the general board's recommendation it was shown that the navy without limitation agreement would cost $285,000,000 more over a six-year period than the treaty navy.

"But we would have the kind of ships America needs," Admiral Bristol added, "instead of the kind we do not want."

Questions Put Forward.

Speaking personally, Admiral Bristol suggested certain questions that senators should consider before passing judgment on the London treaty. Will it develop good will? Has it really reduced the cost? Is the treaty a square deal? Are we justified in giving up our naval policy?

"Does the treaty give to the United States parity?" asked Senator Johnson.

"No," replied Admiral Bristol.

"It is necessary, in order that the United States be protected in its commerce, to maintain the 5—3 ratio?"

"That is my belief."

"Does the London treaty maintain the 5—3 ratio with Japan?"

"It does not."

Senator Reed at this point intervened to ask why abandonment of the 5-3 ratio would jeopardize America's position with Japan.

Need of Invasion Envisoned.

"If any difference should arise," said Admiral Bristol, "which might result in war or threatened war between the United States and Japan the United States would necessarily have to carry the campaign into the waters of Japan."

"Wouldn't we be safe if Japan doesn't invade us?" asked Senator Reed.

"Yes, but we'd lose the war," replied the admiral.

Senator Black desired to know if Philippine independence would not lessen our responsibilities, but the admiral said that it would be necessary in any event to have a naval base there and that the question of Philippine independence would not affect the military situation.

Senator Reed read the statement which the general board prepared in response to directions that it stipulate the maximum concessions at the time of Mr. MacDonald's visit to Washington and sought to bring out that the eighteen cruisers of 10,000 tons and 8-inch guns obtained at London nearly equaled the 21 ships and that the three ships sacrificed were compensated for by 6-inch gun cruisers. The admiral replied that the United States had only sixteen ships during the life of the treaty and that he objected to the principle of sacrificing our naval policy.

Board Memorandum Used.

Admiral Bristol was temporarily excused when Admiral Jones entered the room and took the witness chair to answer questions by Senator Reed. The general board's memorandum was used as the basis for questions by Senators Reed and Robinson, both of whom were delegates at London and are being relied upon by the treaty supporters to guide the Senate in passing judgment on the work of the negotiators.

In view of the general board's statement during the MacDonald visit and in view of the further fact that the general board was willing at that time to accept a small number of 6-inch-gun cruisers, it was earnestly contended by Senators Reed and Robinson that there was inconsistency between the board's present position and its position last year. Both senators sought to show that the only difference between the board's position and the position of the American delegation at London was that the delegation yielded three 10,000-ton cruisers in exchange for smaller 6-inch-gun ships.

Jones States Views.

But Admiral Jones maintained that the surrender of America's position on 8-inch-gun ships was vitally important in any event and particularly important in view of the final terms of the treaty which committed America to the 6-inch gun policy for 1935 and enabled the British to have freedom, under Article XIX, to replace 6-inch-gun ships with 8-inch-gun vessels during the life of the treaty. There is an ambiguity in Article XIX which apparently gives Great Britain this right, although Senators Reed and Robinson do not so interpret that clause.

An amendment or reservation on Article XIX is regarded as virtually certain now, in the light of statements by Secretary Adams, Admiral Jones and Admiral Pratt, all of whom admit that the language of Article XIX is subject to two interpretations.

Expansion Policy in 1935.

In reply to a question by Senator La Follette, Admiral Jones said that if the London treaty is ratified he would be opposed to carrying out the building program permitting America to construct 6-inch gun ships.

America would be in a better position in 1935 if she refrained from building under the London treaty, the admiral maintained, because she would otherwise find herself with 6-inch-gun ships which could not be replaced and which would be of little use to the Navy, while Great Britain would have 86,000 tons of old ships to replace with 8-inch-gun ships if the British so desired.

The only escape for America, under the London 6-inch-gun program, would be to go into the conference of 1935 and urge a naval expansion policy for all nations, instead of a program of reduction. Only by advocating expansion could America claim the right to build 8-inch-gun ships and maintain her frozen tonnage in 6-inch-gun ships, the admiral maintained, and he said America's whole record in the disarmament question had been toward reduction or limitation and not expansion.

The committee adjourned until Monday morning, when Admiral Bristol will resume his testimony.

Reitrement Bill Faces Conferees

Prospects of Agreement on Measure Seen as Fairly Certain.

The Senate and House conferees on the new retirement bill will meet this morning for the first time in more than a month, and the prospects are fairly brgiht for an agreement—if not this morning, then at a subsequent meeting.

Senator Dale (Republican), of Vermont, is expected to approve the bill, and so is Senator Couzens (Republican), of Michigan. Senator McKellar (Democrat), of Tennessee, however, is definitely oposed to the measure.

The situation among the House conferees is pretty much the same. Representative Lehlbach (Republican), of New Jersey, and Representative Smith (Republican), of Idaho, are ready to approve the bill, but Representative Jeffers (Democrat), of Alabama, says he could never approve it.

Pittsylvania Man Dies At Home Near Chatham

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., May 16.—Jerry W. Giles, merchant, of Pittsylvania County, died suddenly at his home near Chatham yesterday from a heart attack. He was 66 years old and had been ill some time.

Mr. Giles was active in community and church affairs. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon from the home.

Mimic Air Battle Will Cease Today

Armistice at Noon to End Week of Hostiliites of Reds and Blues.

With hostilities in the seven days' war in the air between Red forces stationed at Bolling Field and a Blue army at Aberdeen, Md., nearing an end, success smiled yesterday on the attackers. Today at noon an armistice will be declared, with permanent peace dependent only upon a final tabulation of results.

Pursuing tactics which they would normally employ in actual warfare, ten Red bombers climed to an altitude of 12,000 feet and, obscured by clouds, droned their way to the Blue stronghold. Six of them succeeded in eluding Blue outposts, pursuit planes, and antiaircraft artillery, and reached their objective. Eighteen attack planes, in flights of three each, essayed the feat at varying altitudes, two flights breaking through during the day, the other four being intercepted.

The week of experiments with a network of interconnected outposts as a defense against aerial attacks has been watched with much interest by Army officers. It is said by some observers that final development of this system of defense may necessitate development of an entirely new type of pursuit plane.

FIRST LADY CHEERFUL DESPITE BAD FALL

Hoover was not idle. A few days ago she was lifted from wheel chair into automobile for her first ride since the injury.

She has had the oval room adjoining her bedroom on the second floor converted into a private sitting room with furniture brought from her former home on S street. Close by is the palm room, also created by Mrs. Hoover, which supplants the rose room Mrs. Coolidge had there.

In this cozy upstairs retreat, Mrs. Hoover received delegates of adult night school pupils from North Carolina, a party of visiting Japanese girls and a group of Girl Scouts, who were thrilled at being received in Mrs. Hoover's private quarters.

When not receiving visitors, Mrs. Hoover has passed the time knitting, reading, conferring with her secretaries and working out plans for rock gardens. She is much interested in these and one is being constructed at the President's camp on the Rapidan under her instructions. Another, which she planned, has just been completed at the Girl Scouts' little house.

Knitting has always been a favorite pastime with Mrs. Hoover. Those invited to her private sitting room usually have found her with a ball of yarn in her lap. There has been much work to do for her new grandchild, Joan Hoover. Writing letters to California has helped to pass the time. Word of the name selected for the little girl was received at the White House a few days ago from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, jr.

bility rules and was followed by Chairman Britten, of the House naval committee, who said West Point's insistence on its own rules was just "the old story of the Army high hat."

Mr. Fish said it was time for an investigation. He wanted West Point to win, he added, but amateur football should not be injured in winning.

Mr. Britten said the military academy was the only institution in the United States that refused to play under intercollegiate rules. The Illinois representative added that he had b told at the War Department that if West Point changed its rules "the team could not win a game."

This attitude, Mr. Britten declared, was unsportsmanlike.

Referring to the break in athletic relations between the naval and military academies, Mr. Fish said the "Army should clean house, change its rules and get together with Annapolis."

In order to bring about a renewal of the Army-Navy games, he added, both the military affairs and naval committees should use their influence.

FORT ENTERS JERSEY RACE AS SUPPORTR OF PROHIBITION

amendment with a nebulous plan which can mean only the Government's entry into the liquor business. I am opposed to the Government's entering any business, particularly the liquor business.

"Mr. Morrow is more definite. He proposes simply a return to the legal status which prevailed before prohibition. Despite his denunciation of the saloon it would restore to the States every power they ever enjoyed to permit the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors, including the power to reopen the saloon."

A few months ago, in a speech in the House of Representatives defending prohibition, Mr. Fort suggested that citizens should have the right to make wine and home brew in their own homes.

The primary will be held on June 17.

The Fort announcement brings three friends of President Hoover into the contest, but Mr. Fort, like the others, has announced that the President is not taking sides. Suggestions made in advance that his candidacy would carry an indication of personal preference by the President were termed by Mr. Fort as "not only untrue but utterly unjust to me."

The Antisaloon League, which today labeled Mr. Morrow "the white hope of the liquor interests," greeted Mr. Fort's candidacy with applause.

"Fine, bully," said the Rev. James K. Shields, State superintendent of this organization in assuring Mr. Fort that he would have its wholehearted and enthusiastic support.

Gov. Morgan F. Larson, who had a hand with Senator David Baird in getting Mr. Morrow to enter the race, was less enthusiastic. "He has a right to run if he wants to," he said.

"I recognize," Mr. Fort said, "that apparently the odds are against my victory, that the people of New Jersey are supposedly more strongly against prohibition than are those of any other State, but I can not believe that after full and free discussion, their reasoned determination will follow their present apparent mood."

The prohibition stand of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was interpreted tonight as meaning "the return of the saloon in those States which desire it" by former United States Senator Joseph S. Freylinghuysen, who is opposing Mr. Morrow for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Of Representative Franklin W. Fort, who today announced his candidacy on a dry platform, Mr. Freylinghuysen, who spoke over the radio, said, "I know he takes his position from a sincere belief in the effectiveness of the eighteenth amendment."

While he conceived the prohibition views of himself and Mr. Morrow as similar, he said he saw "a very vital point of difference between the attitude of Mr. Morrow and myself."

"In reaching my conclusion that the eighteenth amendment should be repealed I left no loophole for the return of the saloon," he said, "whereas, in spite of Mr. Morrow's stated opposition to the saloon, his program must inevitably permit the return of the saloon under the advocacy of a State's rights policy for the regulation of the liquor traffic."

BYRD'S EXPEDITION STILL FAR IN DEBT

Explorer Denies Danger of Bankruptcy, but Works Hard to Get Funds.

WILL MAKE U. S. TOUR

Panama, May 16 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, interviewed in his room at the Hotel Tivoli today, said his Antarctic expedition "has not paid for itself yet." The explorer, who on March 11 at Dunedin, New Zealand, was quoted as saying that the expedition was on the verge of bankruptcy, today emphatically declared it was not bankrupt.

"The expedition simply has not paid for itself yet," he said. "That is why we are working so hard to meet our obligations."

The approximate cost of the expedition was estimated at $750,000 by the admiral's friend, Capt. Railey, today, though exact figures were not available. Admiral Byrd said this amount compared favorably with the money expended by the British explorer Capt. Scott and his ill-fated expedition.

Works on Motion Picture.

Tomorrow the admiral will spend most of the day working on a motion picture and on a 17,000-word story for a mazazine. He said today he hoped to fly over the Panama Canal at the first opportunity.

The bark, City of New York, is scheduled to arrive in Balboa May 29, and is due to arrive in New York with the assembled members of the expedition on June 25. She is being towed in by the expedition's steamship Eleanor Bolling, and made 122 miles yesterday. She is about 1,400 miles from Balboa.

Capt. Railey announced that Admiral Byrd's American lecture tour would begin at Pittsburgh on October 1. The Admiral will speak in New York on October 18 and in Chicago on Armistice day. Soon after arriving in the United States, Admiral Byrd and Capt. Railey will make a transcontinental tour.

To Make Flight Monday.

The explorer is leaving on Monday in a commercial airplane for a flight to Boquete, but will not attempt to pilot the machine because of his unfamiliarity with the country. The plane will return to Panama the same day, but Admiral Byrd will probably remain at Boquete a week.

The volume of business for him to transact in connection with the expedition is tremendous.

The explorer lunched with President Arosemena of Panama today, and was guest of honor this evening at a stag dinner given by Admiral J. R. Y. Blakeley, at the Union Club.

Sunday School Teacher Training Is Planned

A teacher training school in conjunction with the work of the vacation church schools department of the Washington Federation of Churches will be held every evening from 7:30 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock from June 4 to 11, inclusive, at the Calvary Baptist Church, it was announced yesterday.

It is proposed to make the training school a standard under the International Council of Religious Education. Classes to be given follow: Training in worship, Miss Mabel N. Thurston; primary materials and methods, Mrs. Roselle E. Mitchell; junior materials and methods, Miss Bess C. Miles; administration of a vacation school, the Rev. E. O. Clark. Dr. K. E. Carlson is dean of the school.

Newport Society Woman Enters Catholic Convent

Mrs. Edward C. Post Gives Her Estate in Center of Summer Colony as Retreat for Sisters of Our Lady of Mount Carmel.

Newport, R. I., May 16 (A.P.).—Mrs. Edward C. Post, wealthy widow and long prominent in Newport society, has determined to forsake the glitter of the outside world for monastic walls furnished by herself, it became known today.

Tomorrow Mrs. Post will become a novitiate in the Catholic Order of Carmelites at Stoneleigh, the old Post villa, which she is turning over to the order. The estate will become one of three monasteries of the order in the United States.

Since the death of her husband, a widely known sportsman, a number of years ago, Mrs. Post has devoted much of her time to religious work. Three years ago she had erected a high stone wall around her estate, giving the grounds all the seclusion of a monastery. The estate is almost in the center of the summer colony.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Post was Miss Emilie Thorn King. She is the descendant of two of the earliest families of the summer colony.

The estate will be used as a retreat for Sisters of Our Lady of Mount Carmel and transfer of the property comes on the anniversary of the canonization of St. Teresa. Presumably her entrance to the order calls for relinquishment of all worldly goods and wealth by Mrs. Post, who is a convert to the Catholic faith.

Baltimorean Elected District Civitan Head

Richmond, Va., May 16 (A.P.).—Harold Pschudi, of Baltimore, was elected governor of the Chesapeake District Civitans, at the district conference that closed here today.

Randolph Norman, of Richmond, was chosen lieutenant governor of the Richmond district; Shelton Cameron, of the Washington district, and C. M. Bassford, of the Annapolis district. Frank G. Wade, of Richmond, was named secretary and treasurer.

2,000 SEE PILGRIM STEPS' DEDICATION

Bishop Freeman Officiates at Impressive Rites on Mount Alban.

DONORS IN ATTENDANCE

The Pilgrim steps leading to the south transept of Washington Cathedral were dedicated yesterday afternoon by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, in the presence of a congregation of 2,000 persons and the donors of the Pilgrim steps, Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Taylor, of Philadelphia.

Former United States Senator George Wharton Pepper, lay canon of Washington Cathedral, delivered the dedicatory address.

Gordon A. Hardwick, jr., and Roland Taylor Ely, youthful grandsons of the donors of the steps, unveiled the tablet of dedication by drawing apart ivy vines which covered it.

The Pilgrim steps, which are constructed of stone from quarries once owned and operated by George Washington, were designed by Mrs. G. C. F. Bratenahl, in charge of landscape development of the cathedral close, and wife of the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of Washington. The design was executed under the supervision of Charles H. Merryman.

Senator Pepper paid high tribute to the designer and the donors in his address. He pointed out the spiritual aspect of this new cathedral construction and said that with the Pilgrim road now contemplated and the Pilgrim path leading to the steps it would comprise one of the most impressive cathedral approaches in the world.

Immediately following the service, Bishop and Mrs. Freeman were hosts with members of All Hallows Guild, the garden guild of Washington Cathedral, at a reception and tea in the bishop's garden in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.

Canadian Evangelists Are to Launch Revival

A city-wide revival to last three weeks will begin tomorrow morning at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, under the direction of the Rev. A. H. Argue and his daughter, Miss Zelma Argue, Canadian evangelists.

The revival will conclude 50 days of revival services which have been in progress at the church in commemoration of the 1900th birthday of the Christian religion. Services will be held every night during the week except Saturday.

ARLINGTON COUNTY POPPY SALE OPENS

Legion Auxiliary Unit Begins Work of Raising Funds for Veterans.

MASS MEETING IS SET

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit, No. 139, launched its annual poppy sale in Arlington County yesterday. The committee, headed by Mrs. Laura R. Maycock and composed of Mrs. C. W. Maffett, Mrs. E. L. Nalley and Mrs. J. H. DeBaus, visited the county courthouse and sold poppies to all county officials and many other persons who were about the building. The sale will continue through Decoration Day, May 30.

The poppies are made by the World War veterans at the Government hospitals at Hampton, Va., and Davis Clinic, Marian, Va. The money derived from their sale not only goes to the World War veteran, but to aid his family. The committee assured buyers that this money is not used in any other way than for rehabilitation and child welfare work, not only in the county but over the entire State.

The Arlington unit sold more poppies than any other unit in the State last year, and that record is sought again. Those wishing to assist who are not members of the auxiliary are asked to communicate with the chairman, Mrs. Laura Maycock, who will be glad to give instructions and furnish a supply of the poppies.

The Parent Teachers Association of the Cherrydale School will present four one-act plays in the school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. The funds will be used to improve the school playgrounds.

Meeting last night at the home of Grover E. Payne, at Ballston, the executive committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation completed plans for a county-wide mass meeting that all residents of Arlington County may have an opportunity to gain first-hand information on the two proposed bond issues, one for sewers and the other for schools.

The mass meeting will take the place of the June monthly meeting and will be held Tuesday night, June 13, in the auditorium of the Washington-Lee High School. County Superintendent Fletcher Kemp and County Engineer C. L. Kinnier will be invited to speak, the former on the school bond issue and Mr. Kinnier on the plans for the county-wide trunk line sewerage system.

Contract was awarded yesterday to Frank Davis, contractor of Arlington County, for the rebuildnig of the Washington Virginia Maryland Coach Co. at Clarendon, which was partly destroyed by fire Sunday night, May 4. The accepted bid was $8,000. Mr. Davis stated last night that the building will be completed within the next 30 days.

Announcement was made last night by Capt. Joseph B. Bailey, of the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department that a movement is now under way to call upon the business interests of Clarendon and home owners for funds needed to purchase helmets and other equipment.

Capt. Bailey said: "The recent fire which threatened the destruction of the garage of the Washington, Virginia & Maryland Coach Co., demonstrated the need for helmets and other equipment for protection of the firemen. The men leave their homes at all hours of the night, receive no pay, and it is hoped that the citizens whom the firemen stand ready to aid and assist nt any and all times will help us."

More than 150 persons attended the supper given last night by the ladies of the Mount Olivet Methodist Protestant Church at the church.

Plans are being rapidly completed by the Arlington County Garden Club for its first spring flower show, which will be given in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce May 23 and 24. Entries will be accepted until 4 o'clock the afternoon of May 23.

The Lyon Park Woman's Club will give a 500 and bridge party in the community house Tuesday afternoon, May 23, at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Maizie Shaw has been elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Cherrydale Fire Department. Other officers are Mrs. Crandal Mackey, vice president; Mrs. Dancey, secretary; Mrs. Ruppert, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William D. Topley, treasurer, and Mrs. C. E. Wismer, chaplain.

Mrs. Vernon F. Weekley was elected president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the James Monroe School at the meeting at the schoolhouse last night. Other officers are Mrs. J. A. Beall, vice president; Mrs. D. T. Lambson, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Branch, secretary.

Richard L. Eacho, vice president of the Back to the District Association, declared that the citizens of Arlington County face an increase in their taxes because a large area of the county has been annexed to the City of Alexandria.

"The Federal Government today owns more than one-sixth of the total area of Arlington County upon which no taxes are paid. By becoming a part of the District of Columbia the Federal Government will pay a portion of the expense to run the District and thereby the citizens of the county would gain," he said.

"The Capper-Cramton bill is now about to become a law and it is not necessary for me to explain what the provisions of that bill mean to this side of the Potomac River with the proper cooperation. In Maryland, where there are like provisions in the bill for development, the State has gone ahead providing a parking and planning commission with funds to operate. In Virginia, it is true, a park and planning commission has been appointed by the governor, but it has no authority nor funds with which to carry any of its plans into operation. I understand the State has no funds, as all appropriations have been made by the General Assembly and no more can be made until the next session two years hence.

"The reasons I have given alone should be sufficient for the citizens of the county to see that much more can be gained and the county better developed by becoming a part of the District of Columbia without going into the question any further."

NAVY ACADEMY SETS JUNE WEEK EVENTS

Fetes, Drills and Athletic Contests to Precede Graduation Day.

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 16.—Naval Academy authorities today announced the program for the commencement period, commonly known as June week, in which a round of social festivities, drills and practical exercises and athletic events occur, leading up to commencement day, which this year will be on June 5.

The following day will be marked by the embarkation of two of the three undergraduate classes on three battleships that will convey them on a summer cruise to foreign ports. It has not been determined who will make the address to the graduates.

The program calls for informal events May 29 and 30 as a prelude to the more important functions. May 31 will be known as "athletic" day, the middies engaging in final contests in four spring sports. It will also be the occasion for the reunion of the graduates association and dinner, ceremonies marking the unveiling of old "Tecumseh," figurehead of the old warship Delaware which has been recast in bronze. Tecumseh is known as the "God of 2.5" (passing in examinations), and is deeply revered by the student body. The sport card for the day will be as follows: Lacrosse with University of Maryland; field and track meet with Notre Dame, baseball with Ohio State, and tennis with University of Pennsylvania.

Commander Frank H. Lash, chaplain, will preach the baccalaureate sermon on the morning of June 1. The schedule for June 2, 3 and 4 calls for a series of drills, band concerts, dances and other informal functions, in addition to the garden party to be given by the Superintendent and Mrs. Samuel S. Robison in honor of the graduates, and the second class ring dance, both on the night of June 3. The "farewell ball" to the graduates will be held the night of commiencement day.

Presentations of colors and prize awards for excellence in the professional branches and athletics will be made respectively at regimental dress parade on the afternoons of June 3 and 4.

Carpenter Dies as Train Hits Auto at Crossing

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 16.—Henry Mankamyer, carpenter and bandsman, living on the Sand Patch road near Meyersdale, was instantly killed late today when his automobile was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio eastbound express train on a crossing at the Meyersdale planing mill, where he had gotten a little lumber for a repair job. His head was crushed.

He had a clear view of the approaching train at the point where he was struck.

BLADENSBURG JAIL TO BE INVESTIGATED

County Community Council Will Also Inquire Into Gambling Reports.

PUPILS PROVIDE MUSIC

Investigation of conditions at the Bladensburg Jail by a committee to be appointed later by President C. P. Close was decided upon at the spring meeting of the Prince Georges County Community Council held yesterday at the Pinckney Memorial Chapel, Hyattsville.

This action was taken by the council after S. B. Shaw, who was a member of the county grand jury committee which investigated conditions at the jail, reported on the things he saw. Among other things he told the council was that the jail is a tiny affair which has not room for comfortable lodging of more than a dozen persons, and that often twenty or more were packed into the room. He also explained that there is no segregation of races or sexes in the jail and that the sanitary conditions are far from ideal. The resolution authorizing the investigation was presented by J. H. Blandford, who was foreman of the grand jury.

The council also decided to appoint a committee to investigate allegations that there is a large gambling establishment in the county and to find out why it can not be closed. A resolution was adopted asking the State Legislature to pass a law prohibiting soliciting rides on the public highways.

The morning session opened with music by the Hyattsville School Second Grade Rhythm Band, directed by Miss Caroline Waler, teacher of that grade. Miss Ethel M. Regan, secretary and treasurer, then read her report.

Mrs. J. Enos Ray advocated consolidation of county almshouses into large central groups where better provisions could be made for the old and indigent. She cited the expense of the individual county almshouse and pointed out that the same money now spent on these establishments could be combined to give better care and quarters.

Superintendent of Schools Nicholas Orem, Miss Mary Kemp, school supervisor, and Miss Kathleen Shears, attendance officer, reported on the activities of the county schools, and A. P. Owens, president of the Hyattsville Chamber of Commerce, told of the county-wide projects undertaken by that body. Luncheon was served by the temple fund committee of the local Eastern Star.

Music by the harmonica band of the fourth and fifth grade pupils of the Hyattsville School ushered in the afternoon session. Miss Frances MacKinnon, Red Cross nutritionist, told of her work in the county, and Maurice G. Reddy, of the American Red Cross, explained how the national Red Cross would function in the event of a county disaster.

Fort Loudoun Chapter, D. A. R., Elects Officers

Winchester, Va., May 16.—Mrs. Frank B. Crawford was last night elected regent of Fort Loudoun Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for the ensuing year, succeeding Miss Rose MacDonald, Berryville. Mrs. Crawford is a charter member of the chapter organized some years ago by Mrs. Katherine Glass Greene.

Others elected were: First vice regent, Miss Anna S. Briggs; second vice regent, Mrs. Boyd R. Richards; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Howard Cather; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard Hatcher; treasurer, Mrs. D. W. Ritenour; registrar, Mrs. Stuart H. Edmonds; chaplain, Mrs. Townsend S. Jolliffe; curator, Mrs. D. J. Howard; historian, Mrs. J. Henry Moling, jr.; parliamentarian, Mrs. Samuel D. O'Neal; librarian, Mrs. O. Vernon Eddy, and genealogist, Mrs. George H. Heist. Seven members were admitted during the year, and the papers of eleven others are pending, it was announced by the registrar.

BIRMINGHAM WINS BAPTIST GATHERING

Gets 1931 Convention by Close Vote of Delegates at New Orleans.

New Orleans, May 16 (A.P.).—During an unusually close contest here today, Richmond, Va., lost to Birmingham as the next meeting place for the Southern Baptist convention when a movement was started to overthrow the selection of the Alabama City by the nominating committee.

Just after W. L. Ball, of South Carolina, time and place committee chairman, announced the unanimous choice of Birmingham by the committee, Dr. Otto Whittington, of Little Rock, Ark., surprised the convention by moving to strike out Birmingham and substitute Richmond. He said that two members favoring Richmond were absent in the committee meeting.

In voting on the motion, President W. J. McGlothlin twice expressed doubt over the result of the aye and nay vote and then asked for a standing vote. Without counting noes the clerk informed the chair that the motion was lost and the convention went to Birmingham, to be held on May 13, 1931.

The convention chose Dr. J. W. Phillips of First Baptist Church, Mobile, to deliver the 1931 annual convention sermon with Dr. J. L. White, of Miami, Fla., the alternate.

The selections for next year wound up the busiest day of the convention, during which the Baptists took a stand in favor of secularizing the State schools and, turning to Christian education wholly within the denominational schools, adopted the $3,000,000 budget for all Southwide objects of the Church, denounced lynch law and set up standards for the social and economic structure.

Why the State of California Chose HUDSON'S Great 8

Its 100% Perfect Score

Hudson's Great Eight, with 100% score, overwhelmed all competition in tests conducted in the purchase of cars for the department of Highway Control of the State of California.

Nearly all makes submitted bids. Eight cars, including Hudson, were chosen for these exhaustive tests — in Speed, Acceleration, Reliability, Stability, Flexibility, Operating Ease, Steering Action, Freedom from Vibration, Shimmying and Freedom from Overheating. The cars tested ranged in list price from $1050 to $1500. Hudson's Great 8, one of the lowest in price, was the only car to finish with a perfect score.

Penalties incurred by others included failure to finish; motor trouble; overheating, shimmying, excessive vibration, shock on steering wheel; jerky performance at low speed after finish; failure to sustain speed; loss of acceleration at high speed and only "fair" brake efficiency. Hudson's Great Eight finished these trying tests without a single criticism.

And against all these well-known and higher-priced cars it received the highest awards by the experts, and was purchased for the Highway Control department.

The experts called special attention to Hudson's "remarkable high sustained speed" and "clean performance", and to the fact that after the tests it showed the lowest speed of any competitor without jerking. Attention was also directed to Hudson's superior acceleration and the fact that at 60 miles an hour "it still had a wallop for acceleration far exceeding any other car tested".

Make These Proofs Yourself. We Will Send a Car To Your Door

Only by riding in or driving Hudson's Great 8 will you appreciate its delightful operation. You are invited to take a trial car and test it for smoothness, speed, acceleration, power, easy handling, comfort and economy. A telephone call will bring Hudson's Great 8 to your door.

THE NAVAL TREATY.

Although the Senate committees have not completed their examination of the London naval treaty, it is already evident that there will be determined opposition to the pact in the Senate.

Rear Admirals Jones and Bristol have given testimony that can not be ignored, and the analyses they have made of the treaty furnish opponents of that agreement an abundance of ammunition. Admiral Jones is regarded as the best qualified naval authority in the United States in matters covered by the treaty. Admiral Bristol is chairman of the General Board, and in his testimony he expressed the unanimous opinion of the board.

An epitome of the testimony of these experts is that the United States does not reach naval parity with Great Britain; that an undue advantage is given to Japan, tending to upset the equilibrium of forces in the Pacific and making it difficult if not impossible for the United States to maintain its interests in the Far East; that clauses in the treaty may be construed to permit Great Britain to build many 8-inch-gun cruisers before 1936; that if the United States should try to approach parity by building 6-inch-gun cruisers it will find that it has "frozen" its tonnage in these small cruisers and will therefore be unable to build the larger type, while Great Britain will be free to replace small cruisers with large ones; that the maximum number of 8-inch-gun cruisers allowed to the United States by the treaty is 16, whereas the General Board insists that 21 is the minimum number that can be agreed upon with safety; and that many ambiguities are found in the treaty, all of them capable of being construed adversely to the United States, with possible consequences dangerous to the national security.

The detailed testimony of these naval officers contains other formidable objections to the treaty, which will doubtless be discussed by the Senate when it comes to deal with the political aspects of the proposed agreement.

Ambassador Dawes is expected to reinforce Senators Reed and Robinson, of Arkansas, in emphasizing the benefits resulting from this three-power agreement, notwithstanding the fact that the United States is called upon to make naval concessions. Senators will be reminded that the London negotiators sought to put an end to naval competition, and that the pending treaty must be regarded as merely a step toward further international limitation of armaments.

Thus the Senate will have before it two crucial questions: Is the treaty what its sponsors declare it to be, or is it full of flaws and dangers, as claimed by the most competent spokesmen of the Navy? Should the treaty, notwithstanding its defects, be ratified for the sake of promoting international good will?

If it should be found that Anglo-American naval parity is or can be denied by the treaty, or that American-Japanese naval relativity is or can be dangerously disturbed, the Senate may be expected to make amendments or reservations or reject the treaty altogether. These are vital points that can not be surrendered for the sake of ratifying a treaty purporting to promote internatinal good will.

If the Senate should find that, while the United States makes very important concessions, the other powers do also, and that the treaty, in spite of its defects, is substantially fair in its naval aspects and undoubtedly useful in promoting international confidence and good will, favorable action may be expected.

Preliminary examination having disclosed that the treaty is involved and susceptible of varying interpretations on vital points, it is a foregone conclusion that the Senate will exercise extraordinary care in considering it. Unfortunate experiences following the conferences of 1922 and 1927 give warning that the United States should be very circumspect in making treaties of this character. Therefore it seems quite probable that the Senate will not pass judgment upon this treaty before next winter.

GARNER'S IRIDESCENT DREAM.

Representative Garner has come forth with an ingenious plan to redeem Democracy in the South. For the sake of swinging the balance of political power below the Mason and Dixon line he would have Texas torn asunder and refashioned into five new States. With 10 senators instead of 2, and 28 instead of 20 electoral votes, triumphant Texas would lead the South and the Democratic party to national hegemony, and the political minority would be rule forever. Truly a wonderful dream!

Projects for division of other States are frequently advanced, but Mr. Garner claims a special status for his scheme. All that would be necessary, he says, for Texas to subdivide its area into four additional States would be an act of its Legislature. This assumption is based on the resolution passed by Congress when Texas was annexed to the United States, in which that State was given the privilege of retaining its geographical identity or of creating additional States from its territory. That was 85 years ago. Obviously Congress intended that Texas might enter the Union as one State or five at that time. Texas chose to remain a political unit, and should that State be tempted to change its mind at this late date it would find many obstacles in its way. Under the Constitution no new State can be created within the jurisdiction of any other State without the consent of both the State Legislature and Congress. Does Mr. Garner hold that a resolution of Congress can set aside this constitutional provision?

Mr. Garner argues that Texas would make 220 Rhode Islands, 112 Delawares or 32 New Jerseys—in area. Unfortunately area has nothing to do with representation in the House. The great waste spaces simply don't count. Texas, with all its territory, has only half as many people as New York, and fewer than Pennsylvania, Illinois or Ohio.

Mr. Garner might have admitted, since he was so frank about the political purpose of his plan, that he has his eye on one of these fanciful senatorial togas. No one can deny the appealing power inherent in any plan to create so many new political jobs. But what will the four-fifths of Texas' loyal sons who would be ousted from the protecting care of the Lone Star State have to say of the scheme? Would not orations about politicians scrambling to power over the broken fragments of their native State be the order of the day?

When the scheme is narrowed down to its practical aspects, about the only merit it has is that it would break the monotony of travelers who now weary of taking all day to ride across Texas.

AMERICANS AHEAD IN GOLF.

The disappointment that Miss Glenna Collett, American woman's golf champion, was defeated by Miss Diana Fishwick, 19-year-old English schoolgirl, for the British woman's championship is eclipsed by the satisfaction over the remarkable showing made by the American Walker Cup team in the matches with the English team played over the famous St. George course. Bobby Jones' team won three of the four foursome matches on Thursday and seven of the eight singles matches on Friday. The American team defeated the British by a score of ten to two.

The game of golf originated in the British Isles. It is only of comparatively recent years that it has become popular in the United States. But for six years running the American Walker Cup team has defeated the British. What better evidence could there be that the United States stands preeminent in the development of stellar players of the ancient Scotch game? While there is general satisfaction over the showing of the American team, there is no disposition to belittle the ability of its opponents. Most of the matches were hard fought. Victory hung on a single stroke. The British team played excellent golf, but the American team played better.

There was a day when Britons looked down upon the American brand of golf. That day has passed. It is recognized now in England that Americans have something to teach the golfers of other nations. In view of the uncertainty as to how well the United States will fare in this year's international tennis competition it is particularly gratifying that Bobby Jones and his teammates should have retained possession of the Walker Cup, which is looked upon as the most desirable trophy in international amateur golf.

HAITI'S BETTER PROSPECTS.

In the inauguration of Eugene Roy as provisional president Haiti took the first step toward independence and the establishment of a stable government as outlined by President Hoover's Haitian commission. Mr. Roy has the support of every important political group in the island republic. Apparently he has chosen an able cabinet. His brief administration has begun under most propitious circumstances.

The enthusiastic reception that was accorded the new president suggests that the people are in complete accord with the plan worked out by President Hoover's commission for the restoration of representative government in Haiti. But the disorder which began when the retiring president, Louis Borno, left the palace is a reminder that Haiti is not yet safely out of its political quagmire. Chaos can not be changed to order and harmony in a day, except on the surface. The most severe test will come in the attempt to establish a permanent government.

The plan to which the provisional government is committed provides for election of a legislature as soon as possible, and this body will in turn elect a president to succeed M. Roy. In carrying out this plan the Haitian people will have an opportunity to make their constitution again effective, and to be rid of the American Marines. The United States will withdraw its armed force as soon as the Haitian government is capable of guaranteeing protection to life and property. If there is a willingness on the part of the political factions to abide by the decisions made by ballot, without recourse to riots and rebellion, the little country may quickly regain its complete independence. The harmony which attended the inauguration may be expected to disappear with the approach of the election, but if only political weapons are employed in the campaign and order is maintained the United States will not be disposed to interfere.

The future of Haiti is in the hands of the Haitian people. The republic has an excellent chance to regain its prestige and absolute control of all its own affairs. The United States has played the part of a big brother in helping a weak country to get on its feet. If Haiti again fails and it becomes necessary for Marines to establish order the people will have only themselves to blame.

ORIENTAL MOTORING

From the London Times.

Acute observers, philosophers for the most part of the peripatetic school, find much to sadden them in the influence of motor cars on morality. It is not only alleged, but truly stated, that the sense of power which comes to a man seated at a steering wheel quickly teaches him the Tamerlane touch. For his hour, and until his tank is empty, he is a great lord, taking rank in the new feudal hierarchy according to the status of his car and the number of horsepower units he can bring on to the road, and despising as heartily as ever Sir John Froissart did the folk of common clay, whether they be of the ranks of the lesser car-owners or simple cyclists or at the very bottom of the social ladder.

Because the rigors of medieval feudalism were somewhat abated by chivalry, it has been a natural hope that some new code might grow up, not around the horse this time but around the car. Yet it can not be pretended that so far those hopes have been realized. The garage proprietor has never shown any particular signs of being under some elevating influence. The fact that so many of the day's dealings are with people who are not likely to reappear, and certainly do not live round the corner, brings with it temptations of its own.

Lifts on the road are seldom offered, for three generations of railroad traveling have established a national tradition of keeping clear of other people in going from place to place. In coaching days no one could talk of having the carriage to himself, and it was soon realized that—whatever their other defects of noise, monotony and danger—the new invention of railways had the decided advantage that everybody could hope to travel in complete solitude.

Much of the appeal of automobile travel has inevitably been the contemptuous privacy that it guarantees; while the Americans, who began by applying their more sociable tradition to the road, have been severely discouraged by reports of drivers who have picked up and put in the back seat people who at a later stage in the ride have cracked their driver over the head and kept the car. Even between roughly equal motorists, where the courtesy of the road is greatest, there is a great deal of ugly competitiveness, and the best hope for the motor car as a refining influence does not now lie in Europe or America at all, but in the East.

Cars are spreading among the Eastern peoples, and if only too often they find, and accentuate, manners based on bad Western models, that is by no means always the case. The extreme politeness of Oriental procedure is connected with a leisurely outlook, and it is pleasant to hear that Orientals regard a car as something that increases their leisure and consequently their opportunities for politeness. For this reason collisions in China and Japan seldom end in the assumption of indignantly defensive and volubly untruthful attitudes by both parties in the way we know so well. Collisions are occasions for speeches and bowings which, if they further delay the traffic, delay it to teach it what good manners are. At the end of the speeches he whose car is the bigger of the two takes all the blame upon himself instead of hastening to engage the cleverer and costlier lawyer.

Pedestrians are treated with the greatest respect, and the new roads now being made in China wind at any angle, however inconvenient, in order to avoid the many cemeteries. It seems that many persons in Japan make a habit of running in front of a car from a conviction that they are being pursued by a demon, whom they rely upon the car to run over. This new use for cars, and the friendly service they can render, have done much to make them popular in quarters which might otherwise have viewed them askance. If a man has a frightful fiend treading very close on his heels, he must let the car get very close if he wants his fiend run over. There are accidents in plenty, but no disposition to blame an overzealous driver, anxious, as Western drivers rarely are, to do a service to the humblest pedestrian.

SMOKING IN BED.

Smoking in bed is dangerous as one may know without meeting the experience it brings; many warnings against it have been made, but there are many who insist on disregarding these warnings. As a result many fires are started and each year there is a succession of stories from various places telling of lives lost, says the Ohio State Journal. As a rule the lives are lost as a result of the smoke. It is difficult to find a greater smoke producer than a thick mattress, and fire started in one fills the room with smoke so quickly the sleeping inmate of the room has no chance to escape.

At a recent meeting of fire insurance executives in New England fire losses from smoking in bed were given consideration. In amount these losses had become important. The question was raised about such fires being inside the limits of a fire policy, and, if so, the wisdom of preparing a new policy form that would make the owner of the property carry a part or all the risk of smoking in bed, if that habit was permitted by the owner. The danger of smoking in bed was great enough in the days when smokers used pipes, but in the days when so many are using cigarettes the danger has been multiplied many times. Those who have acquired that habit jeopardize their own lives and property with each night's smoke.

JUST FOLKS

DISCIPLINE.

When I was young I sighed in vain
Because on picnic days came rain.
I grumbled when my Dad said: "No,"
To some slight joy I wished to know.
"When I grew up," I used to say,
"I'll see that things are done my way."

A little later on I found
Though older, I was duty bound.
The greater privileges brought
More things to do because I ought,
And very strangely then I knew
Some keener disappointments, too.

I used to wonder why my dad
At times seemed worried, troubled, sad.
I fancied life was good to him
And gratified his every whim.
I never dreamed when I was small
That Time deals strictly with us all.

But now I've borne enough to learn
Life's code of discipline is stern.
There's none so rich and none so shrewd
Who can indulge in every mood.
All men have burdens they must bear
And none escapes his hour of care.

Life pays no heed to tears or sighs,
It matters not who pleads or cries.
To disappointment all must bow
On some tomorrow if not now.
So build a faith in which to trust
For grieve and suffer all men must.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

This morning, for some reason not made known to me, you were at outs with the world.

Following the usual procedure in such cases, you wore a look that lowered the temperature in your vicinity at least ten degrees, and your tone of voice when you replied to questions was venomous enough to poison the day for everybody in the household.

So I have a little crow to pick with you and a few remarks to make concerning fair play.

I do not agree with those who maintain that a child should be grateful to its parents for board and lodging, nor do I think young people under obligation to respect the old.

When parents dare to bring a child into the world of trouble and hardships, the very minimum of decency obligates them to care for it and train it until it is ready to fend for itself.

The child owes them nothing on that score.

As to youth's duty to respect age, that obviously is an invention of old people to get something without earning it.

You don't respect an alligator or an egg because it is ancient, for the mere fact of age doesn't make anything respectable.

You should respect old people if they are worthy of respect, not otherwise—which is to say that you are free of any obligation to respect me unless I earn your respect, in which case you will give it to me without thought of obligation.

In short, I don't want you to love me or be courteous to me as a matter of gratitude or duty, and I don't want you to think well of me merely because I'm your dad.

Family ties are a fine thing if the family is fine, but right is more important than kinship and relatives who aren't respectable deserve no more loyalty than strangers who aren't respectable.

If people want your loyalty, let them earn it.

And that brings me to the crow I had to pick.

Picture our family as a little clan adventuring in the big world to get a living.

It is a hard world full of keen competitors and tricksters and dangers, and getting a living in such company is no easy job.

Under present conditions the only member of our family who is capable of bringing home the bacon is your dad.

When he goes out in the morning to lick the world, leaving his women safely tucked in at home, he needs every weapon and shield and bit of armor he can find.

As a good sport and loyal comrade, your part is to help buckle on his armor and warn him of weak spots and bring him a stirrup cup to make his heart stout.

He fights for you and brings home the bacon for you, and if you do anything to handicap him or weaken him, it is much the same as though a knight's squire should betray him to the enemy.

When you fill the home atmosphere with sunshine, he is twice armed and hard to lick; but when you send him out with a heavy heart, he is whipped before the fray begins.

Be a good scout, Honey—and remember this, too, when you are some man's wife and helper—or handicap. Love, DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

GOLF CONVERSATIONS YOU NEVER HEAR.

"Well, playing alone?"

"Yes. I'm really too good for most players."

"Don't you want to play along with us? We're really phenomenal."

"I really think I'm out of your class, but if you don't mind a one-sided contest I don't."

"Not at all. We're apt to be pretty slow and hold you up, but come along."

"Thanks. How's your game going?"

"Never better. How is yours?"

"Amazing. I haven't been able to find a flaw in it this season."

"Same here. I don't know a department of golf, which I have not mastered. My form is flawless."

"Mine, too. There was a time when the game presented certain difficulties, but no longer. It's so simple I often wonder what it is that holds my interest."

"What do you go around in?"

"I can almost guarantee a 74, but today I feel confident of a 72, even if I don't get a break. What's yours?"

"Well, I got a 71 in my last fifteen games. It makes me feel pretty sore. I should go round in 68 or 69."

"That's below par."

"Of course. But what does par mean? Nothing. It's merely a term, a figure of speech."

"True enough. Too much is made of breaking par. It is simple if you don't think about it. The trouble with most golfers is that if they get a birdie or an eagle they regard it as unusual."

"Are you better with your woods or irons?"

"I have no trouble with either. I think I get more accuracy with my wooden clubs and without teeing up."

"I have the same conviction. I particularly like a wood for a shot out of a sand trap."

"So do I. It's the only really absorbing shot in golf outside of a brassie shot out of the mud."

"The professionals tell you to use an iron when in trouble, but I find it makes me timid."

"I have the same reaction. Get me in a deep trap and hand me a mashie-niblick, and I have a feeling I am sure to miss. But let me use a driver and I have all the confidence in the world."

"Are you worried by water holes?"

"I love 'em. The trouble with American courses is that they haven't enough water hazards. There ought to be one for every four holes, at least. They make the game interesting and they develop confidence."

"What do you use across a water hole of say 150 yards?"

"I like a putter for anything up to 170 over water."

"Well, let's go. Would you like a little drink before we start?"

"Yes. I always am more accurate when I'm a little stewed."

"So am I. Well, here you are. Take a good drink."

"Is it good stuff?"

"No, it's terrible. I get it for $2 a bottle and at that it is overpriced."

"I'm glad to hear it. After the game, stop at my locker. I've got something that will blind you."

PRESS COMMENT.

Old Washingtonian Says Residents Here Do Not "Look Down on Congressmen," But Do Not Stand in Awe of Them.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a talk to the Kiwanis Club last Thursday Representative Florence P. Kahn, of California, said: "The people in Washington look down on members of Congress and as a result, those on the Hill have no particular liking for Washington residents."

The substance of what she said, regarding lack of cooperation between Congress and citizens of the District, was of interest. The words I have quoted indicate a sad condition, if true.

However, it is a matter of daily observation that members of Congress, though slow to enact an equitable scheme of taxation, are taking greater interest in District affairs from year to year. That they have no "particular" liking for Washington residents is not strange. Their particular liking is for the voters who send them here.

In the circles with which our charming California observer is familiar it may be that Washingtonians "look down on members of Congress." But, having resided in Washington for more than half a century, I can say, in reference to the legislative branch of our Government, that the attitude of the plain, taxpaying and other residents is that of good Americans.

Coming from one who has lived in Washington for 30 years, as she says, Mrs. Kahn's statement may at least be called surprising. Very likely, in the haste of speaking, she said more than she meant.

It is true that Washingtonians live too close to Congress to admit that all our legislators tower excessively above the average American. But we are fond of Congress for all that. Representative Kahn would have been more accurate if, instead of saying we look down upon, she had said that the people in Washington do not stand in awe of members of Congress.

Plan for Making Banks Clearing Houses for Depositors.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A typical report of a day at the New York Clearing House is that the clearings were $1,500,000,000 and the balances were $150,000,000, which means that clearings stand to balances in the ratio of 10 to 1. The credit and debt relations in the clearing house are interbank relations. The clearing house itself has no credit and debt relations to the member banks. The clearing house finds, declares and allocates balances. It collects balances from the debtor banks and pays them to the creditor banks.

The next step in the evolution of American banking is that the banks shall likewise balance and clear the credit and debt relations of their customers without the bank having become either creditor or debtor in the process. This means that the banks shall find their compensation is fees for the balancing, clearing and collection of customers' items instead of interest on loans to pay for the service of transferring deposits.

Under this system, each trade item which comes to the clearings will change the balances in two accounts and will itself by the entry of subsequent items become submerged below the balance line in each of these accounts, at which moment it may be regarded as cleared. Collections will thus be realized by clearing and not by payment. Items in debt balances need not, therefore, be paid at once, but may rest in the account until they are merged in the regular course, provided that this does not exceed 60 days or such other term as an item may be permitted to rest in a debt balance.

This process will multiply by many fold the service of banking to business.

Georgetown's Right to a Library Conceded, but What About Prehistoric Nacotchtanke, Otherwise Anacostia?

To the Editor of The Post:—Sir: "Cave Dweller," in last Wednesday's letter column, says that on account of its location, its large population and its "historic importance in the growth of the National Capital," Georgetown should have been the first to have a branch library. I agree that a branch library for the trans-Rock Creek community is overdue.

But how about the Anacostia section, including Congress Heights? So far as remoteness of location is concerned, its claim is greater than even that of Georgetown, and as for the historic consideration, Anacostia, once Uniontown, carries us back to the prehistoric village of Nacotchtanke, from which its name is said to have been Latinized. In addition to which there is no community in the District which would derive more benefit from a library branch.

INDIA WOMEN HOLD MILLIONS' DESTINY

One Leader Sits in Road and Other Is Arrested After Raid on Salt Pans.

RIOT NEWS DISQUIETING

Bombay, India, May 26 (A.P.).—Two women today held in their hands the destinies of millions of India's native population, Mme. Sarojini Naidu and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kamaladevi Chattopadhyaya, leaders of Mahatma Gandhi's civil resistance movement, in the hot and dusty Dharsaana roadway until, in a truce with the police, she and her salt-raiding comrades withdrew from the scene.

There was no such happy ending to the exploit of Mme. Chattopadhyaya. She was arrested this morning and sentenced to nine months and two weeks imprisonment for her salt raid in another quarter. In removing her from the Indian political picture the police took occasion to make public a long list of illegal activities attributed to her.

90 Injured in Bengal Riot.

Grave news came from various sections of India. Indicating strict censorship, a dispatch was made public for the first time telling of a riot at Mymensingh, Bengal, Wednesday, in which 90 persons were injured, including a considerable number of police.

There was every indication today that the civil resistance campaign had been reframed on drastic lines at the convention of the working commttee of the All-India Congress at Allahabad, where a number of stringent resolutions were adopted. The "war council" of the Bombay workers congress declared the proposed raid on the Wadala salt works on Sunday would be carried out.

Early today the home of an officer in charge of the Howrah police was bombed while he and his family slept. The house was damaged but the occupants escaped injury.

100 Raid Salt Pans.

Civil resistance volunteers raided the Dharsaana salt pans, in spite of Mme. Naidu's arrest. Taking the police off guard this evening, 100 Hindus rushed the pans. Nine persons were injured, some of them treated by the government officers.

A probable further complication today arose when the chief commissioner of Peshawar wired Pandit Malaviya, congress leader, that he and his followers must not enter Peshawar.

They had been ordered into Peshawar with relief supplies for members of the congress who were victims of the prolonged conflict in that district recently.

Dispatches received late tonight from Bulsar said that three more groups of volunteers had marched for a raid on the Dharsaana salt deposits this morning.

Blessed by Mrs. Gandhi.

Mrs. Gandhi herself gave them a blessing. All saluted the national flag and sang the congress war song, "The Brave Will Not Flee From the Battlefield."

However, as soon as they reached the salt deposits, they were blocked by a police barricade. Nothing daunted, they sat or stood in groups under the eye of the police, spinning "khaddar" and singing nationalist songs. They carried a supply of bread and water bags with them. So far only volunteers from the Gujerat district have been mobilized, but the congress leaders hope to fill a vast area around Dharsaana with volunteers from all parts of the country.

The Haji of Turangzai, who recently threatened an invasion of the northwest frontier province, was said to be contemplating retreat farther into Afghanistan. As a result of the recent British airplane demonstration, twenty Wazir chieftains offered themselves up as hostages for the good behavior of their tribesmen.

CORPSE OF SLAYER BURNED IN PUBLIC

courthouse. A coroner's jury said he died from suffocation.

The ten men in the sheriff's posse exchanged shots with Johnson for several hours. When the fugitive finally failed to answer the shots, the crowd, which had increased steadily in number as word spread about Honeygrove of the gun fight, suspected that the Negro had run out of ammunition and then made its dash.

The Negro was found sprawled out on the floor with a number of bullet wounds in his body. The mob immediately dragged it from the cabin, tied it to the motor truck and proceeded to town.

During the trip to Honeygrove and the trip about the business section the mob made no attempt to destroy any property. No Negroes were seen on the streets.

Fortenberry, who held a deputy sheriff's commission, was shot three times. He was brought here in an ambulance, but died a short time later in a hospital. The land owner, who employed the Negro on his farm 2 miles from here, learned that Johnson had planned to move and, accompanied by Tom Hannard, went to see him about a debt.

As Fortenberry approached, the Negro drew a revolver and fired three shots, all of which took effect. The Negro then grabbed the land owner's gun and fled after threatening Hannard. Hannard notified officers and the Negro a short time later was located in the cabin a few miles from the Fortenberry farm.

The crowd which gathered in the vicinity of the burning was estimated to have numbered between 2,000 and 3,000 persons at one time. The heavy rain, however, soon drove most of them to cover.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 16.—The question that arises on the eve of another hot Pennsylvania primary is just what do the watchers at the poll watch? Watchers at the poll are, of course, an institution in this country, and the only reason they are associated particularly with Pennsylvania's primaries is because of the revelations of the 1926 campaign.

And it does seem, too, that the State has established the business of watchers at the polls on a more extensive scale than other States.

It is a question if the industry is not more highly developed here, in fact, that it is in either New York or Illinois.

* * * *

OBSERVERS here say that the general impression that the army of watchers at the polls which this State employs—the impression that it is made up of hoodlums and bums—is far from the fact.

The impression has been that they were strong-armed men with Roosevelt ian families. Instead, only the latter is true, it is said.

Members of large families do usually get the jobs, it is agreed, but one to see them the day after election lined up for several blocks to get their $5 or $10 as the case may be, could easily mistake them for a line of people going to a movie show.

* * * *

THEY are quite respectable looking indeed, the observers here say, and they have certainly seen enough of these lines to know. They are young women and young men and middle-aged women and middle-aged men.

This being the case, then, the question quite naturally arises as to just what they watch. People of this class would not recognize an irregularity if they were to see it walking boldly to the polls. And if they should perchance recognize it they would have no idea what to do.

Indeed, people of the description which the observers here say fits the vast army of watchers that is always employed, would be the most helpless irregularity detectors in the world.

* * * *

BUT the flattering description of them strengthens the argument that they are a phase of political corruption instead of lessening it.

One can readily understand how a hoodlum armed with a gun or a club might earn his money watching at the polls. A middle class citizen of the type that are the watchers can render no service to the candidate by whom he is employed save that of voting for him and having the other members of his family do likewise. It is hard to see that the candidate expects any other service of him.

In view of Pennsylvania's unpleasant experience before the slush funds committee in 1926 there is speculation as to how many watchers will be used this year. If not many are used, then there will be another unemployment grievance against Mr. Hoover. That seems to be sure. One deep interest that the man in the street has in these campaigns is to make the rich candidates cough up. He will brook no interference from Washington with that quite human desire.

TRUJILLO ELECTED IN SANTO DOMINGO

Former Marine Is President and Urena Aid After Uncontested Poll.

COURT BATTLE PLANNED

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, May 16 (A.P.).—Gen. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo and Gen. Estrella Urena, government candidates, today were elected president and vice president, respectively, of the Dominican Republic. The names of the opposition candidates, Federico Velazquez and Angel Morales, were withdrawn Wednesday by the Alianza of National Progressive Parties and thus the government candidates had a clear field.

The Aliancistas hope, however, to have the election declared illegal by the courts and thus bring about new balloting. They charge that members of the junta central electoral, the body which supervises elections, were illegally appointed some time ago and that the election therefore will not stand up.

Used to Be U. S. Marine.

Gen. Trujillo began in the United States Marine Corps the military career which in twelve years has brought him, at the age of 37, to the presidency of a sovereign nation.

In 1918, the marines occupying the Dominican Republic took into their ranks several native young men to train them as prospective officers for the Dominican army. The Marine Corps was making many second lieutenants of its own that year, the last of the World War, and therefore the issuance of a commission by the president of an occupied country was considered of little significance by many of the Americans, who had readily accepted as a "real buddy" and a "good soldier" the quiet fellow named Trujillo.

But Trujillo made the commission significant. When the Marines withdrew in 1924 he was already a major. Today he is brijadier general in command of the Dominican army.

Continuously in Service.

Trujillo has been a soldier continuously since the Marines discovered him, and there have been few days since 1918 that he has not worn a uniform. In the political campaign, however, he put aside his military habiliments to allay the fears of those who regarded his candidacy for president as a threat of military dictatorship.

Trujillo does not excel as an orator. He prides himself on being "a man of action rather than words." He usually reads his speeches.

In contrast, Estrella Urena is one of the most eloquent public speakers in Latin America. He has distinguished himself in his own country as a lawyer and abroad as Dominican Minister to France, Belgium and Italy. He is three years older than Trujillo.

Gold Star Mothers Hailed On Reaching French Capital

First Contingent Arrives "Dead Tired" to Tour Cemeteries Where Their Soldier Sons Are Buried; Railway Station Gayly Decorated.

Paris, May 16 (A.P.).—The first contingent of 6,000 American Gold Star Mothers who this summer will make a pilgrimage to the French cemeteries where their soldier sons of the Great War are buried, reached the French capital at 10 o'clock this evening.

The party, numbering 231, made in comfort the ride from Cherbourg, debarkation port in war days for the A. E. F., where they landed from the liner America in the afternoon. They were dead tired and choked with the emotion of their mission, but radiant with pride.

For their arrival, the little Invalides Station, on the left bank of the Seine, once again assumed its wartime appearance. It was crowded with men in American and French uniforms and hung with intertwined French and American flags.

The mothers, headed by their elected president, Mrs. Sarah G. Thompson, of New York, and by Mrs. Eva Lindsey, Bethel, Ohio, dean in point of age, were greeted by about 25 American Army officers in full uniform, led by Col. G. G. Bartlett.

The French government officially welcomed them, being represented by Gaston Bacquet, chief of cabinet for the undersecretary of tourism. M. Bacquet brought them the salute of France, but out of deference for their fatigue and emotion, refrained from making a speech.

All the mothers, though weary, gracefully submitted to being photographed before entering automobiles placed at their disposal by the reception committee.

Only Mrs. Felipa H. Crespin, of Omaha, Nebr., the youngest of the group, was ill. Suffering from a stomach disorder, she had to be helped up the stairs to the street level by two officers.

"With a good night's rest we'll be as good as ever again," one of the Gold Star Mothers said. "We're just dead tired, that's all."

They were distributed tonight among various Paris hotels. They appeared to take little interest in the bright lights of the Place de la Concorde and the Champs Elysees, but were chiefly eager to get to bed and rest for the heavy program of receptions awaiting them tomorrow.

Functions are scheduled for both morning and afternoon. In the afternoon, accompanied by Ambassador Walter E. Edge, the Gold Star Mothers will visit the tomb of the Unknown Soldier under the Arc de Triomphe. In the name of the group, Mrs. Thompson will lay a wreath on the tomb.

Mrs. McCormick Lead Set at 218,093 Votes

Springfield, Ill., May 16 (A.P.).—Official returns on the April primary election were announced today. In the race for the Republican senatorial nomination, Ruth Hanna McCormick polled 714,505 of the 1,410,538 votes and Senator Charles S. Deneen received 496,412, giving her a plurality of 218,093.

On the Democratic ballot, James Hamilton Lewis received 247,430 of the 327,311 votes. Next highest was James O. Monroe with 24,390 or 223,030 less than Lewis.

Edge and Pershing to See Battlefields.

Paris, May 16 (A.P.).—Ambassador Walter E. Edge and Gen. Pershing today announced that they would make a tour of the French battlefields on next Monday and Tuesday to inspect the various memorials erected or being erected by the battle monuments commission.

Auto Locomotive Leads to Arrest

Man to Be Tried for Using Car for Advertising Railroad.

Albert E. Lentz, of 501 Twelfth street northwest, will be tried in Police Court next Thursday on charges of using a motor vehicle for advertising purposes and of driving an automobile with view obstructed.

The latter charge was placed against the man after traffic officials had inspected the vehicle, a locomotive on an automobile chassis, at the Traffic Bureau. The vehicle, which is used to advertise the Norfolk & Western Railway and the Grand Caverns of the Shenandoah Valley, was driven to the Police Court Building and was inspected by Judge Isaac R. Hitt before the case was continued.

Lentz was arrested yesterday morning on Madison place northwest by Sergt. Milton D. Smith and Policeman J. R. LeFoe, both of the Traffic Bureau.

WHOZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was a great Oriental monarch who ruled in the fifth century before Christ.
2. At the head of an army said to have numbered more than 2,000,000 men he invaded Europe and defeated the Greeks at the famous pass of Thermopylae.
3. Ultimately he was forced to retreat after the Greeks won two great naval battles, at Artemisium and Salamis.
4. He met a violent death, being assassinated by an officer of his own court.

Answer to yesterday—John Greenleaf Whittier.

Nevada Wins Lead As Wettest State

Digest Poll Also Reveals Louisiana in Favor of Dry Law Repeal.

Two more States give an outright majority for repeal of the eighteenth amendment in the semifinal returns of the Literary Digest Nation-wide poll on prohibition, according to the returns tabulated in today's issue of the magazine.

Louisiana and Nevada join Connecticut, New Jersey and Rhode Island with more than a 50 per cent sentiment for repeal, plus a substantial vote for modification. No States other than the five previously reported, Arkansas, Kansas, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee, register a majority vote for strict enforcement.

Nevada, with a 57 per cent vote to annul the prohibition laws, gains ascendancy as the wettest in the Union in this "straw" referendum. Kansas, with nearly 58 per cent of its ballots registered for enforcement, continues to lead in the dry column. Of the total of 4,562,761 votes tabulated in this ninth report on the poll, 1,386,216, or 30.38 per cent, are for enforcement; 1,340,441, or 29.34 per cent, vote for modification, and 1,836,104, or 40.24 per cent, register for repeal.

French Will Quit Germany June 30

Status of Saar Basin Is One Problem Remaining for Liquidation.

Paris, May 16 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The last French soldiers will leave German soil within the next six weeks. The French government decided today that evacuation of the Rhineland must be completed by June 30, the date fixed by The Hague agreements.

Liquidation measures may continue somewhat longer, but no French uniforms are to be seen in Germany after the fixed date.

One more problem remains to be settled before questions between Germany and France arising from the war are liquidated—the status of the Saar Basin. The negotiations as to the future of this territory are progressing slowly due to liquidation of French capital invested in mines in the region and questions affecting duties on goods entering the Saar from neighboring French territory, a considerable commerce having grown up since the war between France and the Saar region.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Chief of Navy Entertained by Mrs. Rogers

Bay State Delegation in Congress Included in Guest List.

By JEAN ELIOT.

MASSACHUSETTS came into the picture last evening, when Representative Edith Nourse Rogers entertained at dinner at the Willard in honor of the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, and had members of the Massachusetts delegation in Congress and their wives among the guests asked to meet him.

Born in Quincy, Mass., graduated from Harvard, cum laude, Mr. Adams has always had "faith in Massachusetts" and Massachusetts has had faith in him, justified in his choice for national honors. Mrs. Rogers is of Maine by birth but of Massachusetts by adoption. Elected to Congress in 1925 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, the late Representative John Jacob Rogers, she has been twice re-elected on her own record and she has her constituency so solidly behind her that there is every prospect of her being returned next November.

Mrs. Adams was not able to be present at the dinner last evening. She has been ill ever since her return from London, where she went with Secretary Adams, a delegate to the naval conference, and she has not yet recovered sufficiently to accept invitations.

The new Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Frederick H. Payne, who hail from Massachusetts, were among Mrs. Rogers' guests, as were Assistant Attorney General and Mrs. Charles Rugg and Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, also of Massachusetts. The company likewise included a group of correspondents for Massachusetts newspapers, with their wives.

Mrs. Rogers expects to spend the summer campaigning, which she does in the modern manner with the airplane as an adjunct. Tomorrow she will leave for her home in Lowell, Mass., to take part in the American Legion ceremonies on Sunday afternoon, when 1,200 new legionaires will be taken into the fold. There has been a State-wide drive in Massachusetts for increased membership in the legion, and the Lowell "class," 1,200 strong, will be named for Mrs. Rogers. The cadets of the legion auxiliary also bear her name.

Mrs. Rogers, of course, stands ace high with the American Legion because of her work through many years in the interest of disabled veterans. President Harding appointed her personal representative in care of disabled veterans and she was reappointed by President Coolidge and President Hoover.

Honoring Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Col. and Mrs. Leon B. Kromer gave a dinner last night at the Army War College, their guests including Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Herbert B. Crosby, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John L. De Witt, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Edward L. King, Col. and Mrs. William Cavenaugh, Col. and Mrs. Warren Q. Whitside, Col. and Mrs. Herbert J. Brees, Col. and Mrs. Stanley D. Embick, Col. and Mrs. Henry M. Morrow, Col. and Mrs. Charles R. Mayo, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Andrew D. Chaffin and Maj. and Mrs. Edgar Haines.

Mr. Eben F. Comins has gone to Memphis, Tenn., to remain until June 7.

Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton, of Greenwich, Conn., president of the National League of American Pen Women, is a guest at the Willard.

The Assistant Naval Attache of the British Embassy and Mrs. W. C. Horton, who are on a motor trip in the South, are passing some time at the Grove Park Inn at Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Aymar Johnson, of New York, and the Hon. Lady Lawson, of London, are at the Carlton for a few days, having arrived in Washington on Mrs. Johnson's yacht, the Enchantress.

Chief Justice and Mrs. A. A. West, who are passing a few days in New York, are expected to return to their apartment at the Stoneleigh Court tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Peckham, of New York, with their son, are passing a few days at the Mayflower.

Pilgrimage Planned By Antiquities Group.

The yearly pilgrimage of the Washington branch of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities will be held on Tuesday, May 27. They will visit all places of historic interest between Washington and Fredricksburg, as well as a dozen or more places in and around Fredricksburg, so rich in historic lore. They will stop at Aquia Church, noted as one of the three churches in this country, having three pulpits, as well as one of the three oldest and most interesting places of worship in the United States.

Mrs. George Tully Vaughn is president of the association sponsoring this pilgrimage. Mrs. Ella Rust Smith is vice president.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of Miss Bertha Chinn, chairman; Mrs. Ella Rust Smith, Mrs. Ryland Bryant, Mrs. Jesse Webb, Mrs. Harry St. George Tucker, Mrs. John Franklin Little and Miss Amy Powell. Information desired by the public may be obtained from Miss Bertha Chinn, chairman, at Tabard Inn, or Mrs. George Tully Vaughn, president, 1718 I street northwest.

Busses will leave the south end of the Treasury Building at 9:30 a. m. Tickets may be obtained from the chairman, Miss Chinn, at Tabard Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Grafe, whose marriage took place in Athens, Greece, last January, have returned and will stay for a short period with the bride's sister, Miss Alice van Arsdel Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Lytle Brown, jr., of Nashville, Tenn., are visiting Gen. and Mrs. Lytle Brown at their residence, 3508 Garfield street.

Dr. and Mrs. Macpherson Crichton left town yesterday for Wilmington, Del., where they will be entertained by Mrs. Edward Greene Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Dupont. They will return to Washington on Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Crichton entertained at tea on Thursday at the Chevy Chase Club for the guests who had been with them at the horse show. The party included Mrs. William Goode, Miss Alice Goode, of New York; Mrs. Walter H. Bowes, of Greenwich, Conn., Mr. Reese Llewallyn and Mr. William Llewallyn, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Gen. and Mrs. Mitchell Will Attend Ball.

Gen. and Mrs. William Mitchell, who came to Washington from Middleburg, Va., for the horse show, will remain over to attend the hunt ball and breakfast at the Mayflower tonight.

Among the many others from out of town who will attend the ball will be: Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fairfax, of Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Osborne and Miss Margaret Standert, of Cleveland; Dr. Stanley Johnson, master of hounds of the Antietam Hunt Club, at Hagerstown, Md.; Mrs. J. Wilmer Biddle, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Bernard Gimbel and her daughters, of New York; Mrs. Thomas Waller, of Warrenton, Va.; Mrs. May Bartlett, of Birmingham, Ala., and Mr. Charles Delmar, of New York and Washington.

Maj. and Mrs. F. K. Newcomer will entertain a party of twenty at the dinner-dance in the gold room of the Wardman Park Hotel this evening.

The Cavalry Reserve Officers of the United States Army entertained at dinner in the crystal room of the Willard last evening. The guests included Lieut. Col. Arthur G. Hixson, Maj. Harold H. Jacobs, Maj. Harry D. Murray, Maj. Albert J. Myler, Capt. Richard C. D. Hunt, Capt. William J. Yetton, Lieut. Robert Husted Chambers, Lieut. Samuel A. Syme, Lieut. Albert J. McCurdy, Lieut. Benjamin E. Endicott, Lieut. Lathrop E. Smith, Lieut. Daniel C. Fahey, Lieut. Royal A. Wray, Lieut. Henry H. Surface, Lieut. Benjamin H. Pubols, Lieut. Raymond B. Carleton and Lieut. Ernest H. Daniel.

Mrs. Henry B. Rogers and her daughter, Miss Caroline E. Rogers, of Columbus, Ohio, were among the out-of-town visitors at the dedication of the Pilgrim steps at the Washington Cathedral yesterday. While in Washington they are guests at the Highlands.

Mrs. Harry Le Roy Jones has sent out invitations for a garden tea on Monday from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock at her residence, 1310 Thirty-fourth street, in compliment to members of the New York League of Advertising Women.

Horse Show Throng Sees Fine Apparel

Society Turns Out En Masse in Perfect Weather.

The National Capital Horse Show gets "bigger and better" each day. Bright sunshine made a brilliant picture yesterday of the show ring already beautiful in its setting of deep woods and rolling fields.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, who has been an attentive and interested spectator during the previous days of the show, arrived early and alone, in an ensemble of bright navy olue with a smart hat to match.

Mrs. James Alexander Lyon entertained a number of guests in her box who included her sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Robbins; Col. Harry Cootes, Mrs. Cootes, Dr. Guest, Mrs. Edward Tayloe, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. Arthur L. Willard and Mrs. Victor Kauffmann.

In another box were Mrs. Charles McKenney, with her sister, Mrs. Everett Rapley, and her son, Mr. Charles McKenney, jr. Later in the afternoon they were joined by Miss Francesca McKenney and her cousin, Miss Frances Miller, of New York, who arrived this afternoon for a short visit before accompanying Miss McKenney to Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Joseph E. Davies entertained in her box her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Patten Cheeseborough, jr., of Bronxville, N. Y.; Mrs. James Ellwood Jones and her mother, Mrs. Jenkins, from Pittsburgh, and Miss Nancy Jones, who arrived with Miss Emlen Davies.

In another box were Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, Mrs. S. Wallace Dempsey and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis, and nearby Mrs. Luther Reichelderfer. The newly appointed chief of cavalry, Gen. Guy V. Henry, was seen in a box after he had ridden in a number of classes.

Capt. Eugene Regnier was seen, as were Maj. John M. Eager, with Miss Henrietta Allen, in a smart navy blue outfit, and Mrs. Grimes, wife of Maj. Grimes.

Mrs. Edmund Rheem had with her her small daughter, Nancy. Miss Sallie Hews Phillips wore a costume of rose pink, with a soft wool coat to match and a beige felt hat.

Mrs. Lila Roosevelt Lee, in a costume of chartreuse green, and Mrs. George Pulver were together in a box.

Mrs. Bernard Gimbel, of New York, took a keen interest in the spectacular Corinthian class, in which her two daughters took an active part.

Miss Jennie Mason Gibbes, who has been on a motor trip to South Carolina to visit her family since her return from a round-the-world cruise, is again in Washington and will remain until July 1. She will go then to the Monterey Inn, Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., for the summer.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

BECAUSE of the great responsibility with which the radio division of the Commerce Department is charged—that of inspecting ship wireless involving life at sea, and keeping broadcasting stations on their frequencies—it would seem that Senator Dill's resolution transferring the division to the Radio Commission could be considerably strengthened if it provided that the division be made equal in importance to the engineering and legal divisions of the commission.

Further, that the head of the radio division be given a salary of $10,000, the same as Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, head of the engineering division, and Thad Brown, head of the legal division, respectively, and be allowed the same number of assistants.

If this recognition were accorded the radio division it would be particularly fitting, inasmuch as W. D. Terrell, its head, is admittedly one of the most competent officials in the Government service.

One of the two original radio inspectors in the United States, Mr. Terrell was the man to whom Mr. Hoover repeatedly turned when, as Secretary of Commerce, the latter was in charge of radio.

The Kentucky Derby over WRC will be interrupted long enough this evening to present "Amos 'n' Andy." Station WMAL will broadcast the race continuously.

THERE is a report that President Hoover has installed a television set in the White House and at odd moments is experimenting with receiving pictures by radio.

Had they wanted some one to speak with authority, when broadcasting from the historic diplomatic reception room at the State Department, they should have asked Eddie Savoy to step to the microphone.

THE women participants in the Press Club spelling bee will simply have to be on time tonight, because James D. Preston, patriarch of the Senate press gallery, is going to ring the old school bell at precisely 7:30 o'clock, when the broadcasting begins. (WRC).

Up to now the Nova Scotia station has had a corner on fishing bulletins, but it looks as if it might have some competition with Columbia assigning Wile to travel with President Hoover on the trip to the National Parks.

It is a neat accomplishment to deliver a radio speech which will neither run over or under the time allotted to it. Although the address made by Undersecretary of Treasury Mills Thursday night occupied only twenty minutes when he read it in rehearsal, as actually delivered at the advertising agencies dinner it ran two minutes over the half hour allotted to him.

EVEN those sitting on the Seventeenth street side, a half block away from the stage at the Mayflower at the advertisers' dinner, had not the slightest difficulty in seeing or hearing John Barclay, Columbia star, described as the "Washington Monument of barytones."

Appearing to be at least 7 feet tall, Barclay, oddly enough, sang "The Song of the Flea," which is also the favorite song of the Russian Chaliapin, another singing giant.

THE results of experiments conducted at Colgate University on stomach reactions to sound were presented to the American Acoustical Society in New York by Dr. E. L. Smith. He found that "rather profound effects" were produced by loud noises in slowing up the involuntary muscular movements of the stomach. These effects he described as similar to what is known as the "fear reaction," and perhaps identical with the latter.

Dr. Smith found that a noise of "eighty decibels" intensity, roughly equivalent to loud radio music in a room, decreased by 37 per cent the number of normal contractions of the stomach in a minute, and sometimes caused a change in the manner of contraction.

"My horse's name is Charley," the Lonesome Cowboy said a few evenings ago. "I haven't got a dog, but when I get one, I am going to call him George."

No doubt a press agent story will be coming along in a couple of days telling how many gift dogs the performer received as a result of the above hint for one.

Au Courant Interprets the MODE

He has his lounging pajamas today, and this three-piece ensemble of crepe de chine is the last and latest word.

Paris, May 16.

JUST try walking down the avenue on the lookout for something to take or send back from Paris to him, and see how far you get! "Oh, just bring me a Sulka tie, darling" at $4 a sulk—or some of those modernistic belt buckles that only Paris boasts, or a dressing gown and pajama set chez David • • • Well, one doesn't mind so much after all, but neither should one let the boy friend have any illusions about the existing economy in Paris-made things for men. Four or five years ago, yes, but most certainly no longer.

But all conscience on price aside, there certainly are men's things to be gotten in Paris which show more imagination and interest than those you are liable to get anywhere else. Watches that push open with a push of the thumb, to carry in the pocket of one's summer suit when the weather precludes the wearing of more formal clothes, matched by tiny squat lighters, watchcase and lighter in matching lizard skin.

Modernistic cuff links in unusual designs. Or odd cane heads or umbrella canes.

Or for a really swanky gift, a dressing robe and pajama suit ensemble like the one I illustrated for you today, in an odd off-shade of crepe de Chine. He might protest that he would have no time in which to wear it and all that, but that doesn't mean anything, because he'll find the time if you give him the suit!

• • • •

They are the latest thing for men, these suits and you'll probably find that way down deep in his heart of hearts one of them is exactly what he wants!

How then would you like to make him one your very own self? Oh, of course, they're not easy to make and have them look right, but just to prove to ourselves and our deah publique that they could be done, with ten clever fingers and one sewing machine, we got in and made the three pieces in a violent purple for the gorgeous brown-eyed Itallan whose business calls him for the moment to Africa. Believe us when we say that it was a huge success!

And step by making step we called off the directions to La Chic Secretaire to write down on paper for you so that you could make somebody a pajama suit if you wanted to. All you have to do is to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for next week's illustrated leaflet, then make your original suit in unbleached muslin, and there you will be!

Where will he be? Well, depending upon how clever a little seamstress you are, he will probably be staying home nights enjoying the luxury of sitting around or entertaining some of the boys in a lounging suit that even the Prince of Wales might wish some little princess made for him.

• • • •

Speaking of the fur coats for the coming winter as I told you earlier in the week, the silhouette will be rather straight down from the shoulders and close to the waist, with fullness below the hips. And the decidedly overlapping front will be in order, both for warmth and to give the necessary fullness without bulkiness. This overlapping, by the way, is below the waist only.

• • • •

Last day in which you can send for the directions for making the smartest house-dress you ever saw! Blouse and wide trousers that look like a skirt, another skirt that buttons on for answering the doorbell or going shopping, and a little shoulder cape for shopping—all very smart, easily made and launderable.

• • • •

Tomorrow you shouldn't fail to look for the weekly Dare fashion letter in the big Sunday Washington Post. It's there every Sunday.

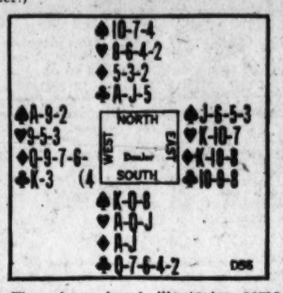
Au Revoir!

The Goofus Trickster

The Goofus Trickster is a pet
That every boy and girl should get.
This Goofus does the cutest tricks
Like chewing gum until it sticks,
Then placing it upon a chair
Or on a door knob—anywhere.
But strange enough there are some folks
Who do not like such Goofus jokes!

WORK ON BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)



The above hand illustrates some points in play with which an Auction or Contract Bridge novice should be familiar.

South would be the Declarer playing a No Trump contract of one in Auction, three in Contract. West would lead the fourth best card of his long Diamond suit, and East would play the King. As far as South's ability to block the suit is concerned, it would be quite immaterial whether he won the first trick or played the Jack on it and won the second. The adverse diamonds must be divided either 4-4 or 5-3, depending upon whether the one card lower than the Six that the Declarer can not see (the Four) is held by West or East.

As East must hold at least three Diamonds, the Declarer can not exhaust East's Diamonds before giving up command of the suit; but by holding up his Ace until the second trick Declarer may obtain important information concerning the division of the adverse Diamonds. West would play the Four on South's Ace so as to let his partner know that he has the three remaining Diamonds.

To make game Declarer now must take eight more tricks before the adversaries obtain the lead and cash their Diamonds. This bars a Spade lead and makes it necessary to take the tricks in Clubs and Hearts. He can take three Heart tricks with the King of Hearts on his right; but to get five Club tricks is more difficult because to do that requires the double good fortune of finding the King of Clubs in the West hand, and with it only a single guard.

If South should lead his Queen of Clubs and West hold the King, West would cover and the adverse Ten would be made good; if East hold the King the finesse would lose, so South should lead a small Club and finesse dummy's Jack. When Declarer is leading from Queen and a number of small cards, toward an Ace-Jack (and neither hand contains the Ten) a small card is the correct lead. When North's Club Jack wins, Declarer's chances are improved, although game is yet far from assured. The King of Hearts must be in the right place and the King of Clubs must be unguarded in the West hand.

As three Heart tricks must be made, which means two leads from dummy, dummy next should lead a Heart rather than continue the Clubs. With South's Heart finesse winning, South leads a second small Club; and when the King falls, Declarer has won a merited victory by accurate play and counting of the cards.

Readers of Dr. Work's column can see and hear him give a lesson at the Earle this week.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

IT will no doubt come as a complete surprise, and a source of keen regret, to his many friends that the engagement of Alexander Callam as master of ceremonies at the Fox Theater terminated last night.

Mr. Callam has served many weeks at the Fox, and has acquitted himself with fine credit, his vocal contributions to the bills having been on a par with the best features they have been able to boast. Furthermore, Mr. Callam has at all times comported himself in a manner that has been highly pleasing to his audiences—something that it has not always been possible to say of certain of his predecessors.

The relinquishment of his post at the local F street cathedral does not at all mean that he is severing relationships with the Fox organization that have been mutually agreeable and profitable. It is my understanding, on the contrary, that Mr. Callam is being elevated by the New York office to duties elsewhere which they deem of more vital importance, and that his recently signed long-term contract continues in force. The only loser seems to be the Washington public.

I am led to believe that, at least during the impending heated term, no new master of ceremonies will be appointed as Mr. Callam's successor, the Fanchon & Marco units either furnishing their own or functioning as best they can with none.

There is a glad word for the bridge addicts in the announcements for the new week, inaugurated yesterday, at the Earle Theater.

Readers of the "Work on Bridge" department of The Post will be happy to know that Milton C. Work, one of the world's foremost authorities on all forms of bridge whist, will occupy the screen at the Earle this week as star of one of the Warner Brothers Vitaphone Varieties, a short-reel subject in which he indubitably will endeavor to guide dub husbands into a sufficient perfection of their game to preclude the likelihood of being pistoled to death by wives who object to having their aces trumped.

It may be of interest to those who take their cinema seriously to know that two last-minute changes have been made in the advance bookings announced for the week of May 24.

At the Fox, "High Society Blues" will be followed by Warner Baxter in "The Arizona Kid," instead of Edmund Lowe in "Born Careless," the film version of the sensational novel of "Louis Beretti."

In place of Lowell Sherman and Alice Joyce in "He Knew Women," the RKO-Keith Theater's attraction following the second week of "The Cuckoos" will be Tiffany's widely-heralded screen version of "Journey's End," recognized as one of the finest plays to come out of the war. The camera rendition is said even to excel the stage. Colin Clive is the featured player.

Since this is the season of producing-company conventions and announcement of new product for the ensuing twelve months, it would be a smart thing to read the big motion picture section of the big Sunday Post, on sale at all newsstands for a little jitney, for the first of a series of statements of studio output for the year from August, 1930, to August, 1931, to be published as fast as they are released. This one pertains to United Artists productions. Order your copy NOW. (Adv.)

How to turn gray young. Get a job as manager of a local downtown first-run temple of the titillating tintypes, and, spring temperatures and weather changes being what they are, try to figure out one day in advance whether to fire up the boiler or tune up the refrigeration plant!

How would you like to hear the dialogue which would ensue if Philo Vance, Sherlock Holmes, Sergt. Heath and Dr. Fu Manchu should get together to discuss crime with Jack Oakie as the victim? Don't laugh, you can in one of the skits in "Paramount on Parade," current at the Columbia.

Benny Davis is the itinerant m. c. at the Palace this week with his "Broadway Stars of the Future" revue. Who else remembers when his night club was one of the "spots" on the boardwalk down by the Ritz in Atlantic City a couple of years ago? Yes, the same Benny.

I trust that confession hasn't upset any police theory that Mary Baker was a suicide!

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

BONED LEG OF LAMB.

(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Many people always have a leg of lamb boned for roasting. They say it is surprising how many attractive servings can be made from either a hot or cold boned leg that can be sliced evenly from end to end. Any butcher can bone a leg of lamb for you or you can do it yourself.

"In boning, first take out the irregular aitch or pelvic bone at the large end. Cut into the meat on the thinnest or 'stifle' side and lay back a flap of meat deep enough to expose the leg bone and permit its removal. You will have a pocket here for stuffing or the leg may be sewed together and roasted without stuffing. A good sharp, thin knfie is needed for boning."

Anybody can carve a roast prepared in this way and serve it much more quickly than the ordinary leg roast. For sliced cold cuts the meat is much more shapely than when the leg is carved with the bones in.

French-Hunter Wedding To Be Held Today.

Miss Emma Dulany Hunter and Mr. Amos Tuck French, jr., whose engagement was announced Thursday by the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Warner Baltazzi, will be married today in the Church of the Advent at Westbury, Long Island. It will be a small wedding with only members of the two families present at the ceremony, which will be performed at noon by the Rev. Richard D. Pope. A small wedding breakfast will follow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Baltazzi in Westbury.

Miss Hunter, who is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dulany Hunter, of Washington, will be given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Baltazzi, and will have no attendants.

Mr. French will have his brother, Mr. Stuyvesant LeRoy French, as his best man. Mr. French and his bride will go to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for their wedding trip, and on their return will make their home in New York.

Miss Hunter returned from Europe a few days ago, where she has been living in Paris. Her father, who died about four years ago, was in the diplomatic and consular service. He was secretary to the American Embassy in Cairo and later for many years was consul general in the Alps Maritimes.

Mr. French returned last week from Europe.

Mrs. Horace Van Deventer, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Mrs. Charles Nagel, of St. Louis, Mo., are at the Powhatan.

At the marriage of Miss Martha Charlotte Macatee and Mr. Theodore Silkman Repplier on June 6, Miss Lina Macatee will be maid of honor and Miss Mary Cook Macatee will serve as bridesmaid.

Mr. Ewing Repplier, of New York, will be best man. Mr. Repplier has selected as ushers Mr. Sam Syme, Mr. Charles Macatee 3d, Mr. James Francis Greene and Mr. Heath Goldsborough, all of Washington. A reception for relatives and house guests will follow the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Parker, jr., entertained at a buffet supper last evening in their apartment at Cathedral Mansions for Miss Nancy Spalding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Spalding, and Mr. Peter Hamilton, jr., of New York, whose marriage will take place today.

The Minister of Norway and Mme. Bachke left yesterday for Philadelphia where the minister will address the Norwegian Society of Philadelphia at the Norwegian National Day exercises this evening. In his address the minister will pay tribute to Dr. Fritjof Nansen, whose obsequies will take place today at Oslo. The Minister and Mme. Bachke will return to their apartment at the Mayflower tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sanders left Washington yesterday for Louisville, Ky., to attend the Kentucky Derby. Before returning to Washington Mrs. Sanders will make a fortnight's visit to her old home in Terre Haute, Ind.

Mrs. Stokes Halkett left Washington yesterday to be absent until autumn and will be with her motner, Mrs. Phelps Stokes, in Connecticut for part of the summer.

Annual Mite Box Opening Planned.

The annual mite box opening of the W. F. M. Society of the Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church will be held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. I. McDougle, 140 B street northeast. Bishop Bristol will conduct the devotions. Mrs. John R. Edwards, wife of former District Superintendent Edwards, will tell of her recent trip to the Orient, where Dr. Edwards went as secretary of the board of foreign missions.

Shackles Banned In Training School

Protest Over Two Boys Leads to Decision to Lock Up Rebels Instead.

Because of the protests raised over the shackling of two boys at the National Training School for Boys, the board of trustees yesterday issued orders to the superintendent to discontinue the practice.

The board decided that it would be better to lock obstinate boys behind closed doors or transfer them to "some reformatory with the physical characteristics of a penitentiary," Francis H. Duehay, president, said.

The use of shackles at the school was originally ordered, it was said, to prevent some unruly inmates from escaping. The lack of walls or cells at the institution makes it comparatively easy for the boys to run away.

Neuritis
There is no pain like Neuritis, nothing quite so torturing, so utterly unbearable. It robs life of all joy and makes people desperate. But Neuritis is not hopeless—it responds to proper treatment, just the same as other diseases. A well-known physician has written, "Have been drinking Mountain Valley Water for six weeks and am glad to say I am feeling better than I have for two years." Mountain Valley Mineral Water, for 75 years the prescribed water at Hot Springs, Arkansas, tends to neutralize the acids which are irritating the nerves and retards the further accumulation of these acids by aiding healthy, normal elimination through the kidneys. Renew your hope—learn how Nature can help you. Phone for booklet today. Met. 1062.

POST LEGION AWARD PLANNED TOMORROW

MEDALS WILL BE GIVEN

Distinguished Service Medals and other awards in the District Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be made at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at a dress formation of the Overseas Military Band, Drum and Bugle Corps at Union Station Plaza.

Among the awards is a $100 check from The Washington Post for the Front Line Post, No. 1401, which won first prize in The Post "Highlights of the World War" contest by submitting the most stories. George Barrows will present the award for The Post and Commander Harry J. Hooley will accept it. During the ceremony the Overseas Band will play "The Washington Post March."

The Front Line Post will also be awarded the recruiting championship streamer for showing the greatest percentage of gain in membership—110 per cent—in the department last year. The gold medal for distinguished service will be given to Eli F. Busada, of Follow Me Post, No. 1830, for bringing in the most members for the final quarter.

Other awards include the Gen. Anton Stephan Recruiting Cup to Potomac Post, No. 1085; distinguished service citation to Dr. B. C. MacNeil, of the Veterans' Bureau.

Harvey L. Miller, department commander, will inspect the musical corps following these exercises, and at 2 o'clock the Overseas Band will give a street concert in front of the Willard Hotel.

Capt. Buchanan to Head Naval War College

Capt. Allan Buchanan, chief naval aid to President Hoover, is due to be made chief of staff of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., within the next two months, it was learned yesterday. Capt. Buchanan refused to confirm or deny the rumor.

Since his assignment to the White House, Capt. Buchanan has been the principal adviser of the President on naval armament. He is recognized as one of the leading authorities in the service on this subject. He graduated from the Navy Academy in 1900.

1,000 Boy Scouts Camp Out Tonight

Patrols to Vie for Honors in First Outing of the Spring Season.

Approximately 1,000 Boy Scouts of the District will camp out tonight in the first of the season's five divisional camporees, which will start at 1 o'clock this afternoon and continue until 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Instruction in the proper use of a camp site, safety, sanitation, and neatness will be the feature of the camporee. Each patrol will contest for honors in camping. A team will be selected to represent the District at the regional camporee at Natural Bridge, Va., June 27-29.

The first division, or Northwest group, will camp at Randall Highlands. The third or Rock Creek park group will be at Braemer Forest. The Woodrow Wilson reservation at Burnt Mills, Md., will be used by the fourth division, also of the Northwest section. Troops of the Virginia area will camp at Terril's field, near Cherrydale, while the Maryland group will gather at University Park.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me what to do with my fern. I keep it in a room with a temperature of about 74 degrees. I received the plant two weeks ago and want it to do well.
GLADYS H.

Give your fern water every other day, or when the surface of the soil is dry. Then submerge pot in water for about five minutes. This method of giving water means that every particle of soil in the pot would be saturated. Whenever you water the roots, make it a rule to spray the tops. Keep the plant in a light, but not sunny place and see that it has plenty of fresh air at all times. Florists ventilate their fern houses twice each day. Set the fern outdoors as soon as the weather permits. In the open keep it in the shade.

I am inclosing a leaf and flower of a plant which seems to have finished blooming. Is there anything I can do with it or must I set it aside to rest? Will it flower next year?
MRS. CHARLES McM.

The plant is a cineraria, a plant of a season's growth, maturing the same year the seed is sown. When its period of flowering is over, the plant must be discarded, for it is of no further use and will gradually die.

I am about to construct a lily pool, only a small affair, however. It will be a round pool, 3 feet in diameter. What must be the depth of the pool in order to grow a few of the more common varieties of water lilies?
ALICE P. L.

A pool 2 feet in depth will grow lilies.

Pleaes tell me how old a wistaria must be before it begins really to bloom.
ANN T. U.

It all depends on the conditions. As a rule, the vine must be about 10 years old before it develops much bloom.

Pleaes tell me if delphiniums require much sun; also the kind of soil they demand.
AN AMATEUR GARDENER.

Delphiniums like plenty of sun. The soil should be rich and deeply prepared, a cool, friable loam. Even hot, sandy soils, if watered and fertilized, will give excellent results. Be sure to stake all taller plants.

Please tell me if you consider bonemeal a good fertilizer.
MARIE T. R.

Yes, bonemeal is one of the best general fertilizers for flowers because it contains not only nitrogen but phosphorus. You may use it in sufficient quantities to white the soil. There is no danger of applying too much.

Is it true that forget-me-knots and English daisies are best sown in the fall?
ETHEL A. P.

Yes. Otherwise the plants are likely to become too large for convenient handling.

Tannery, Cheif Rival, and Bradley Pair, on Outside.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16 (A.P.).—Racing fortune, so far as the luck of the draw is concerned, smiled upon the chances of Gallant Fox, outstanding favorite for the Kentucky Derby tomorrow, with the famous Earl Sande up, and the East's chief hope for another triumph over the West in this $56,000 classic of the turf.

In the field of sixteen crack 3-year-olds named to start, Gallant Fox drew the seventh position from the pole and horsemen, eager to seize any and all portents, immediately regarded this as a favorable break for the big brown colt, already heavily supported to win and backed down to the unusually short odds of around 7 to 5.

In capturing the two big Eastern races, the Wood Memorial and Preakness earlier this spring, Gallant Fox drew the pole position, was caught in bad early jams and forced to come from behind or go around to win. The result of the derby draw was considered to have minimized the chance of a bad getaway for the horse which will carry the colors of William Woodward, of New York.

Tannery Unlucky In Draw.

Tannery, Edward F. Prichard's chestnut colt and most heavily backed of all the Kentucky entries, was not so lucky in the draw. This strapping son of Ballot placed well on the outside, at No. 13, an ill-omened number among the superstitions of the turf. Even less fortunate were the Kentucky pair of Edward R. Bradley, whose Breezing Thru drew position No. 14 and Buckeye Poet the extreme outside place, No. 16. It was recalled that last year, Bradley's favorite, Blue Larkspur, failed to overcome the handicap of being on the outside fringe of the field.

Tannery, acknowledged one of the best mud horses in the field, may find more favor from the weather gods, for the prospect of showers tonight and possibly tomorrow morning carried the threat of heavy going. If such conditions prevail, Tannery, already a good second choice at about 3 to 1 in the wagering, may be given a last-minute even chance to beat Gallant Fox, which is not believed to favor anything but a good firm track.

Downs in Gala Dress For 56th Classic.

The Churchill Downs oval was in excellent condition today, a trifle cuppy, and it was not expected that a shower or two would serously affect conditions, especially if the prediction of clear and cool weather for tomorrow afternoon is fulfilled.

The Downs, mecca for the thousands in the vanguard of the derby day jam, bloomed brightly today bedecked in gala dress not only for the fifty-sixth running of the 3-year-old classic, but also as a gesture of welcome to the distinguished visitor from England, the Earl of Derby. Illness has upset the busy social schedule of the earl, but from Lexington came word that he was expected to be sufficiently recovered to watch the big race tomorrow and present the gold trophy to the winner's owner in a ceremony to be broadcaht to England as well as throughout the United States.

Upward of 50,000 spectators will witness the derby at the picturesque Downs, scheduled to be run at about 5:15 p. m. (Central standard), perhaps a trifle earlier. Millions will hear its brief but thrilling details

Louisville Pervaded by Carnival Spirit on Eve of Stake.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16. — The Kentucky Derby, which is an emotion as well as a horse race, again has created a state of gibbering agitation among the locals and the visitors in Louisville.

There is much excitement, but perhaps I overestimate it because the zone of the commotion really is limited to a few blocks along one street called Fourth street, this being one of those high-minor league towns in which the commoners gravitate to one or two well-lighted drug-store corners and a few hotels at carnival time, which is Derby time here. But what there is of it is very gal, although a bit harsh.

The present state of mind on Fourth street is the result of a strange combination of influences. In the stud farm style of expression, which comes readily to the tongue after a few days in the Blue Grass region, you might say that this hullaballoo and helling around which is now going on in Louisville is the get of a fine old tradition, almost an ideal, bred to commercial ballyhoo.

In some respects it is pretty and inspiring, but now and again it lays back its ears and kicks out with its seven-toed hoofs, as when some drunken crowd in a hotel room raise a lot of obscenity through a transom. Then you might say that the spirit of Louisville at Derby time was not different from the spirit of Philadelphia at Tunney-Dempsey time or the spirit of St. Louis at world series time.

But it mustn't be judged strictly by that. The Derby is more than half a century old and there is something about the show and the town that seems to awaken the spirits of gone Kentuckians who went to the Civil War on thoroughbred mounts, just as the Harvard-Yale game, a traditional treasure-piece of the East, always suggests the hovering presence of great athletes long since gone. Call it back-ground or by any other rubber stamp name and it still remains something that no ordinary commercial sporting production, such as a million dollar prizefight, can create.

It was good ballyhoo to bring Lord Derby, of England, to Kentucky at Derby time and the Kentucky Derby needed ballyhoo this year because, to be practical about a practical matter, Churchill Downs, with all its tradition, like the clergy with their holy purpose, must have money on which to live. The attendance is expected to amount to about 90,000 customers, which is a large number of customers even for the world series or a world championship fight in the major leagues, and Lord Derby's presence in the blue grass region at this time has been a stimulus to the publicity which is the lure that brings the customers.

The civil authorities of Louisville seem to reserve for Derby time that same tolerant forbearance for the out-of-town spender which the sheriffs and constables of the Florida East Coast evince when the spendthrifts are down from the North in winter.

On occasions when he goes for an overnight train ride, the American sport addict generally takes an opportunity to relax and raise the devil with his pals in a hotel room, usually at the cost of some damage to his personal interior as well as to the interior fittings of the room. He desires to sing songs, then play leap frog and to parade the hotel corridors shouting that he came from Elmira, N. Y., or New Ulm, Minn. These whims are looked upon with a kindly eye by the local police, who realize

Yankees Rout British Golf Team, 10-2

Ouimet Is Only U. S. Player to Be Beaten in 8 Singles.

Sensational Rally of Moe Feature; Voigt Wins, 10 and 8.

By FRANK H. KING.

SANDWICH, England, May 16 (A. P.).—With ten matches won and only two lost, Walker Cup honors today went to the United States for the sixth time. With a ceremonial dinner in old Guild Hall at Sandwich tonight, Bobby Jones, captain of the American Team, was given again the international golfing trophy which Britons never have won.

Jones' men today gave Roger Wethered's team the most decisive defeat a British team ever received in this country. Th largest crowds ever to see Walker Cup matches in England watched the contests.

The Prince of Wales followed the matches both days, the foursomes yesterday and singles today, with a set of big binoculars added to his equipment today. He really needed a ladder to see over the crowd, numbering more than 5,000. There were 3,700 paid admissions.

Ouimet Drubbed by Torrance.

In singles matches today, the British were able to win only one, T. A. Torrance drubbing Francis Ouimet, 7 up and 6 to play. As the Americans won three of the four foursomes, the final score was 10 to 2. Two years ago at the Chicago Golf Club the Americans won, 11 to 1, Torrance, then as now, winning the only singles match for the British.

Today's contests were finished in almost dead calm, continuing the ideal weather of yesterday, a rare condition for this windy channel coast country.

The position of the American team this morning was that the players from the United States needed to win three matches and halve one. Jones' men consolidated their position before lunch time. Jones, Roland Mackenzie and George Voigt had big leads, Harrison R. Johnston had a comfortable advantage over Cyril J. H. Tolley and George Von Elm and Rex Hartley were all square.

Dr. O. F. Willing and Don Moe were behind, but in position to make a threat in the afternoon and the defeat of Ouimet, who could not make his putter behave, was indicated.

It was the afternoon play that furnished the thrills and excitement, sending the Prince of Wales and the other golf fans scurrying over the big sand dunes to witness golfing drama.

Wales Nearly Hit by Wethered's Shot.

Wethered almost struck the Prince in the head with one of his wild shots which contributed to his defeat by Jones, 9 up and 8 to play, the most severe of all their long and friendly rivalry in international golf.

George Voigt's victory over Sir Ernest Holderness, 10 up and 8 to play, was the most crushing blow to Britain, but young Don Moe is the hero of the Walker Cup Team.

Fighting against a four-hole handicap after the morning 18, the young Oregonian shot a sensational 67 on a course conceded to be one of the hardest to score on anywhere. In a great finish which will write Moe's name in golfing history he defeated J. A. Stout, 1 up, when he was 7 down with 15 holes left to play.

Four down at lunch, the Oregon youngster saw his opponent start the afternoon round with three 3s in a row to go 7 up. Then the Portland boy went into action. He shot the next six holes in 20 strokes to get five of the holes back, and on the second nine he regained the other two.

Moe Climaxes Rally On Eighth Hole.

The climax came at the home hole. The youngster fired a great shot from 200 yards straight to the green, the ball stopping 3 feet from the cup. Stout missed a putt for a 4 and conceded defeat. This putt and one on the fifteenth were the only two Moe failed to hole, so his "approximate 67" was not very approximate.

Mackenzie had a big lead all day and seemed certain to win at all times, but William Campbell showed great ability to halve holes, and the Light Jabs of Loughran Do Not Hurt, Says German; Speed Now Objective in Training for Sharkey Fight.

Herewith is the second of a series of articles, direct quotations from Max Schmeling. They are set down as he speaks them in a daily discussion of his method of preparing for his heavyweight championship fight with Jack Sharkey on June 12 at the Yankee Stadium. The writer, sporting editor of the New York News, is living with Schmeling at Endicott, N. Y. A certain time each morning is set aside for the preparation of these stories. The writer's contributions do not go beyond whipping the spoken material into fluent English.

By MAX SCHMELING
(As Told to Paul Gallico).

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 16.—So, so; now you can see better what I am trying to do, the eye, the distance and the speed. Yesterday I worked for those things. I am not yet ready to mix it. That will come later. Andy Wallace took me by surprise when he started to mix it on the ropes; he was fresh and strong.

"O, ho!" I said to myself. "Da werden wir ein moment mit spielen," which means "I guess I'll play along at this game for a minute, if that's what he wants."

When I saw what he was letting up, I let my right go and crack, and he went down. I didn't even hit him on the chin. I hit him high on the head. It reminded me of that fellow Steif in Berlin. I was boxing exhibitions there, one round with each man. Steif tried to knock me out. They were only two-minute rounds. When I recovered from my surprise and went after him, it was too late. The round ended, but the next night he went on with me again in Breslau. So, smack; I hit him. When he came back to his senses I made him go another round with me, and I hit him again. The next night we were to appear in Cologne, but Steif did not show up. He never came back.

Shoulder Goes Behind Blows With Left.

If you saw me work, maybe you would notice what I do with my left hand. So to the body, and so to the body and head, and with the jab the body goes along, so! I mean shoulder

BRITISH GIRL CONQUERS GLENNA

Miss Fishwick Wins, 4 and 3; American's Putting Weak.

FORMBY, England, May 16 (A.P.). Miss Diana Fishwick, a mere slip of a girl in her teens, today defeated Miss Glenna Collett, American champion, 4 up and 3 to play, to win the British women's golf championship the very first time she tried.

Miss Collett lost to Miss Fishwick at the thirty-third hole after the clever American girl had fought her way through six rounds and defeated three of the greatest players on this side of the Atlantic. As a matter of fact, in all but the actual count of holes, Miss Fishwick was the victor after the morning round, when the players went to luncheon with the British girl 5 up.

Putting lost the day for the visiting title holder, although many of her other shots were not all that they should have been. Miss Collett played as though she was very tired, which she should have been after opposing the English champion, Miss Molly Gourlay, for 21 holes, and barely nosing out Misses Enid Wilson and Hilda Cameron on the eighteenth green.

Ideal Golf Weather Brings Out Fans.

It was a day of summer weather and bright sunshine, as though made for the American. A gallery of 2,000 in the morning and 5,000 in the afternoon showed the interest in the match, although the British really had little hope for the youthful Diana's success.

Glenna was off to a good start, winning the first hole but she missed a 5-foot putt at the second to see the match squared. Miss Collett took three putts at the fourth and from then on she had trouble with her erratic putter.

The match seesawed with the American drawing level at the sixth with a brilliant shot from a trap. Glenna became afflicted with a slice and Diana was 1 up at the turn. The British hope began to get the feel of her putter about this time, while the ball refused to go in for the American and Miss Fishwick won four holes of the second nine to become 5 up after the first eighteen holes.

Practices Putting After Lunch.

Immediately after luncheon Glenna took her putter and went out to practice. Her preparation seemed about to show results for she won the twentieth hole, where she made a

U. S. NETMEN OVERWHELM CANADA

Win Two Singles, One Doubles to Clinch Davis Cup Test.

By TED VOSBURGH.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (A.P.).—In the brief space of two hours today, the United States Davis Cup tennis team chalked up three straight victories over Canada's best players and won its way into the second round of American zone competition.

Johnny Van Ryn took less than half a minute to complete the job he began yesterday and beat Dr. Jack Wright, of Montreal, the Canadian captain, by total scores of 6—2, 6—2, 3—6, 6—2.

George Lott, of Chicago, next came through with a 6—2, 6—2, 8—6 decision over Marcel Rainville, agile little French-Canadian from Montreal, in a match marked by guile, change of pace, "English" on the ball, and clever placing.

It remained for America's dashing young doubles team—blond Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., and the dark-haired East Orange, N. J., boy, Van Ryn—to score the crowning triumph and clinch the series.

Van Ryn, Allison Thrill Gallery.

Smashing and volleying in a spectacular style that roused the gallery of 3,000 to a high pitch of enthusiasm, Van Ryn and Allison, conquerors of the French in the challenge round last year, battered out a clear-cut victory over Dr. Wright and Willard Crocker, of Montreal, at 6—0, 6—4, 6—2.

Only Mexico now remains between the United States team and the right to go to Europe in quest of the famous trophy now held by the French. If the heavily favored American team comes through according to schedule against Mexico at Washington next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, it will be supreme in the American zone and entitled to meet the winner of the European zone contest for the right to challenge France.

The showing of Van Ryn, Allison and Lott today against a strong and courageous Canadian outfit more than fulfilled the high hopes of those who believe the Americans have a chance to regain the cup.

Van Ryn, in his brief bow in singles, was even more effective than in the earlier part of the match yesterday

Pitt Conquers Stevinson in Finals

Manor Star Captures Chevy Chase Title for Third Year.

Beats D.C. Champion, 5 Up and 3, Leading From Seventh On.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

HARRY G. PITT, of the Manor Club, former Middle Atlantic champion, yesterday won the Chevy Chase Club invitation golf tournament, defeating Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, District amateur champion, on the fifteenth green, 5 and 3.

Although Pitt has now won the trophy presented by the late President Taft for the third consecutive time, it developed yesterday that he did not secure permanent possession of the cup, an examination of the records disclosing that the prize is perpetually endowed, and Pitt was presented yesterday with a handsome replica.

Pitt reached the final round by defeating W. P. Youngs, the former Princeton golf star, 4 and 3, while Stevinson easily disposed of Everett Eynon, Columbia, in the semifinal round by the wide margin of 6 and 5.

Poor Golf Marks Final Round.

The final round between Pitt and Stevinson, so far as the first nine was concerned, was not golf of a championship caliber, but this was almost to have been expected, for players who have fought their way to the final are always suffering under a stress and strain which affects their game.

Stevinson, however, was outplayed, and especially was he outputted throughout the round. It is true that he won the first hole after playing his second out of the rough, when Pitt took three putts, but this hole and the fifth, when Pitt played his approach shot into a trap, were the only ones which he captured from his opponent. He lost the second hole when he sliced his second shot into the rough, and should have lost the third, when his second shot landed his ball in a trap, but Pitt missed a short putt and was forced to be content with a half in 5.

With the fourth halved in par 3, although Pitt's tee shot landed the ball on the bank of the ditch, Pitt won the sixth with a spectacular iron shot to the green, which is 448 yards from the tee, while Stevinson pulled his second shot into a trap. Pitt then won the seventh when he was on the green in 2, Stevinson having shanked his approach shot with consequent failure to get home, although he missed his chance to secure a half when he failed to hole a shot putt.

Eighth Hole Is Comedy Of Errors.

The eighth hole, 590 yards, was a comedy of errors. Pitt hooked his drive into a tangle of bushes far off the course and was compelled to play a left-handed shot of about 10 yards for his second, being then still in the rough. Stevinson, after a beautiful drive far up the fairway, played his second about 125 yards from the green. Then he misjudged his approach and played his ball in a trap, with his fourth in the semirough short of the green. Pitt, meanwhile, was on in 4 and went down in two putts for a 6 and a win. Stevinson missing a short putt which gave him a 7. On the ninth hole, after Pitt's short approach, Stevinson again missed a short putt which would have given him a win. Pitt was still 2 up.

The fact that Stevinson was out in 42 as against 40 for Pitt shows that neither were playing golf in championship form. However, on the second nine the large gallery was rewarded for their patient trudging over the fairways. Stevinson secured a half on the tenth by virtue of the first long putt that he had holed, while he also halved the eleventh, after overapproaching green, by running down a 6-footer. The thrill of the afternoon, however, came on the twelfth hole, 368 yards. Both had Hadley Triumphs in First Game Despite Loose Fielding.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Any doubt as to whether the jinx which the Mackmen held over the Nationals last season has been broken was removed here this afternoon when Johnson's team captured both ends of a double-header, 5 to 3 and 4 to 0, to knock the world's champions off the top of the American League ladder and usurp the position themselves.

Irving Hadley and Adolph Liska were the heroes, both turning in well-pitched games. In the opener some mediocre fielding gave the Macks two hits of their total of ten and made Hadley's task much harder. George Walberg, on the hill for the home team, was hit hard and was finally eased out to make way for a pinch hitter, "Ole" John Quinn and Lee Roy Mahaffey finishing out the string. George Loepp, with four hits, including a double, and Joe Cronin, with three one-basers, led the Nat attack in the opening contest.

Liska Deserved Shutout.

Liska deserved his shut-out victory in the second game, George Earnshaw and Ed Rommel opposing him on the hill. The underhand rookie seemed to have just the brand of stuff which the champions detested, for he held them to but three hits, all coming in different frames. Except for an error by Myer and Schang's triple, not an alien would have advanced farther than first base.

Earnshaw, too, performed well, but two doubles by West and Goslin gave the Nats a marker in the sixth and then Joe Judge removed any doubt as to the outcome by crashing a homer over the right field wall in the eighth with two mates on the sacks.

The second game started as an airtight pitching duel between Earnshaw and Liska and for five frames neither team threatened seriously.

Liska, although walking three during this stretch, was nicked for but one hit, while Earnshaw allowed only two safeties. True, these blows, by West and Rice, came at the start of the fourth, but the Mackian hurler then had plenty in reserve and made short work of Goslin, Judge and Myer.

Double by Goslin Scores West.

It was different in the sixth, however. West led off with a double to left, took third on Rice's out and then scored when Goslin smashed a two-bagger past Foxx. Judge followed with a walk, but Myer couldn't keep the rally alive.

Just when it looked as though Earnshaw would pull out of the eighth with no damage done, the Nats quadrupled their lead. West, who had walked, with one down, was held at first on Rice's pop-foul. Goslin singled him to third but the strike count was two on Judge when he picked out one to his liking and emptied the bases with a homer over the right field wall. This blow seemed to take all of the joy out of Earnshaw's life, for he then walked Myer and Cronin, and in turn was walked by Manager Connie Mack, Rommell relieving him and ending the game.

In the opening engagement Hadley was much more effective than the box score would indicate as he was placed in two bad holes due to errors which were not charged. He kept the ten hits he allowed fairly well scattered and not a Mackman reached third until the sixth, when a tap to short on which Bluege interfered with Cronin, gave Foxx a hit and put two on base. Hadley pulled out of this trouble, however, and encountered no more difficulties until the last two frames.

Cochrane opened round eight with a double and, after Simmons had

Robins Pound Lucas As Vance Holds Reds

Cincinnati, May 16 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins ended their first tour of the West today by defeating the Reds 10 to 3 for their second victory in the abbreviated series.

The Robins hit Red Lucas hard in the first two innings and continued against Ray Kolp, scoring eight of their runs in the first three frames. Dazzy Vance hurled the entire game for Brooklyn and held the upper hand in all but the first inning, when the Reds scored twice to take the lead for the only time.

Red Sox Rally in Ninth To Beat Yanks, 5 to 4

Boston, May 16 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A determined team of Red Sox who wouldn't be beaten halted the Yankees' winning streak here today by snatching a ball game with two out in the ninth inning. The final score was 5 to 4, and the Yankees have yet to win a game in Boston. The game produced an abundance of good and bad pitching, timely hitting and hitting that was terrible. The lead seesawed until the final minute and at that time the Sox happened to be ahead.

GALLANT FOX DRAWS NO. 7 POST POSITION IN DERBY

broadcast over two national radio hook-ups, elaborate preparations having been completed to put the description on the air from the track side, in a program starting at about 4:30 p. m.

Busy Definitely Out, Two Doubtful.

Depending upon weather conditions, not more than fifteen and possibly no more than twelve of the sixteen horses named will parade to the post for the mile and a quarter race to gold and glory. Busy, the colt owned by J. B. Respess, was announced as a definite withdrawal. In the doubtful list were Hal Price Headley's Alcibiades, the only filly in the field, and Dick O'Hara, the entry of Patrick H. Joyce, of Chicago, although both owners declared them to start, regardless.

Although nearly all the prerace debate and wagering centers about a duel between Gallant Fox and Tannery, rival hopes of the East and West, the chances of Thomas M. Cassidy's Crack Brigade and the Audley Farm's Gallant Knight drew attention from those figuring the prospects of an upset. In the draw, the latter two flanked the favored Gallant Fox, with Crack Brigade No. 6 and Gallant Knight No. 8. Thus strategically placed, it was figured these two colts might develop as the real threats.

The two rivals appear clearly outstanding to most horsemen in a field that may not number more than an even dozen, the smallest since 1922, when they are called to the post.

"Tannery has speed, is fit and will run all the way to win," observed a turfman today, with no apparent prejudice on the subject. But a half hour later, an equally reliable authority remarked:

"Gallant Fox is the only horse in the race."

Odds Shrink Rapidly On Tannery.

That's the way the argument goes and will probably continue to go for the next two days of speculation. Tannery and Gallant Fox both have been backed down in price at rapid rates since the winter books were opened. Tannery was 100 to 1 when snow was on the ground but tonight figured at no longer odds than 3 to 1. Gallant Fox, bearing the colors of William Woodward, vice chairman of the Jockey Club of New York, is expected to go to the post at 7 to 5, perhaps 6 to 5, if the going is good.

All of Kentucky's hopes and cash are not concentrated on Tannery, however. E. R. Bradley, who scored one-two victories in the derbies of 1921 and 1926, again has two good looking contenders. As a matter of fact, Breezing Through and Buckeye Poet have posted the fastest workouts this week over the full Derby route of a mile and a quarter. Breezing Through was clocked in 2:11 3-5 and Buckeye Poet, timed in 2:12 3-5.

Stock of Ned O Rises.

The East's support for Gallant Fox includes Thomas M. Cassidy's Crack Brigade, second in the Preakness, but this colt did not impress the critics today when forced into a drive to negotiate the route in 2:15 3-5. Meanwhile the stock of Ned O., another Eastern entry, has gone up.

The Texas colors of W. T. Waggoner, owner of the Three D's Stock Farm, will be borne by two entries, Broadway Limited, the $65,000 yearling that has failed to live up to expectations, and Kilkerry, which worked today for the first time since going lame last Monday. Kilkerry, which had been a doutful starter, covered the full distance in 2:18 1-5 in good style, showing no trace of lameness.

Sydney, the entry of J. N. Camden, well-known Kentucky horseman, has not trained well since being beaten badly in a race at the Downs last Saturday and is not expected to start.

SPIRIT OF THE DERBY KENTUCKY TRADITION

that every visitor is a customer, and by the hotel men, who add the cost of the damage to the bills in the first place.

The place is beginning to give noise. Newsboys in the streets are bawling about sure things for sale in sealed envelopes, and a man has handed me a hysterical yellow placard wherein one, Harvey Ames, an authority to me unknown, flatly states that a 50-to-1 shot will win the Derby, offering to acquaint me with the details for the nominal sum of $5.

"I stake my reputation on this long- Derby winner," Harvey Ames exclaims in frantic type.

This may be the chance of a lifetime, but his reputation would be no good to me if I won it.

SCHMELING'S LEFTS CARRY HIS WEIGHT

boxers with the left hand that hit goes behind it and I go in. You see and then they are away. Tap, and then they are back. So Loughran fights with the left hand, and so Scott.

But no damage is done with the blow, and if an opening is made they are not set for the right hand that follows, unless they make a one-two punch

With me, the straight left hand must be used for damage. If used right, it draws blood. I follow it in and my whole weight is behind it. I think that Jack Sharkey uses it the same way. If we begin to exchange left hands I think you will see some fun, and I hope Sharkey misses, because such left hand blows do not do you much good. I read enough about Sharkey's fights to know he has a left hand that cuts. That is why I work to get mine the same way. If I am to defeat my opponent I must have the same weapons he has, at least. If you ask me who taught me that, I can only say that such things a boxer can only learn by himself. You try this way, you try that way. You know something is not right. It does not feel good. It does not have the right effect. You try it another way. So! And suddenly you know that is right.

Style of Fighting Is Natural.

On that tour I made over here and in Germany, I learned all time, it was almost like every night, going to school. I would discover something and then I would practice it. And this way I learn to fight in the style that is best for me. It is my natural style. You remember how they spoiled Paul Berlenbach when they tried to make him do what he was not meant to do? That will not happen to me.

For the present, the eye, the distance and timing. I must practice not to miss at long range. It is—how do you say—very unhealthy to miss Sharkey. He is quick. There is still much time before the fight and I go easy. Tomorrow, if you are interested, I will tell you of my diet, and my habits.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CORAL BEACH, $27.92, $12.96, $5.38; BANNER BRIGHT, $7.44, $4.04; MONTICELLO, $3.12.

CORAL BEACH, in close quarters first part of it, moved up fast entering stretch and slipping through in between leaders, outfinished BANNER BRIGHT in a long hard drive. Latter raced under steadying restraint until reaching far turn, gradually disposed of RING TRUE in stretch and only weakened last few strides. MONTICELLO was forced wide on both turns and finding clear passage through stretch, closed strongly. HARAMZADA could not reach leaders after suffering early interference, but closed gamely in last furlong.

SECOND RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:39½. Off at 2:40½. Winner, C. Van Meter's blk. c. (2), by Lee O'Cotner—Fivolon. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24, 0:48 2-5, 0:55.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FUDGE, $21.80, $7.90, $4.02; CADDY BOY, $24.52, $9.02; UPRIGHT, $2.56.

FUDGE, having an advantage at the start, raced into a long early lead and, increasing his advantage, won with much in reserve. CADDY BOY, never far back and racing strongly through stretch, made a determined bid at winner, but was not good enough. UPRIGHT, practically left, closed an immense gap when straightened in stretch and was going stoutly at the wind-up.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but McGonigle. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:09. Off at 3:13. Winner, W. Maher's ch. m. (6), by Gnome—Tuscan Maiden. Trained by J. McGee. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:25, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:41 4-5, 1:47 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAIRY MAIDEN, $9.22, $4.00, $3.22; EQUATION, $3.64, $3.06; DEVON, $5.00.

FAIRY MAIDEN raced under stout restraint until reaching far turn and, responding gamely when taken to outside, reached leaders at head of the main stretch and assumed the lead to draw clear last sixteenth. EQUATION saved all possible ground while setting the pace on inside, gradually disposed of DISTURB, but could not withstand winner's challenge. DEVON, closer up than usual, but forced wide most of the trip, closed well in the drive.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Harrods Creek. For maiden 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Coocoo Paw. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:43. Off at 3:44. Winner, H. P. Whitney's ch. g. (3), by Peter Pan—Stigma. Trained by M. Goldblatt. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:49 1-5, 1:15.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLOT, $6.96, $4.88, $3.98; VERMICULITE, $12.46, $7.04; MISS BESS, $5.46.

BLOT broke fast and raced closest to the turn and, finding clear sailing, gradually disposed of leaders and held VERMICULITE safe in a mild drive. Latter also suffered from crowding the first part of it, was lucky to get through on inside at head of stretch and, continuing gamely, only faltered final strides. MISS BESS, far back to midstretch, closed strongest of all on the outside.

FIFTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $5,000 added. The Debutante Stakes. For 2-year-olds, fillies. Start fair. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:14. Off at 4:25. Winner, H. P. Gardner's b. f. (2), by Sir Galahad III—Uncle's Lassie. Trained by C. Van Dusen. Value to winner, $6,620; second, $1,000; third, $500; fourth, $120. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:01 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BETTY DERR, $6.50, $4.06, $3.54; PURPLE LADY, $10.20, $7.62; MARTHA JONES, $23.16.

BETTY DERR went to the front soon after break, opened up a lead in first quarter mile and continued strongly while saving ground and had much in reserve at end. PURPLE LADY followed the winner throughout, made a determined bid at head of the stretch but, tiring near end, just lasted to outstay MARTHA JONES. Latter was kept well up from start, lost some ground on stretch turn, but closed courageously when straightened out. REAL PARDNER closed fast after being pinched back after start.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $2,200. The Shadybrook Farm Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:55. Off at 4:57. Winner, Audley Farm's ch. m. (5), by Sir Martin—Irish Lassie. Trained by K. Spence. Value to winner, $1,650; second, $350; third, $200. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 4-5, 1:46 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—EASTER STOCKINGS, $4.70, $3.36, $2.90; WHISKERY, $34.42, $10.10; ROYAL JULIAN, $3.10.

EASTER STOCKINGS, away well and under clever handling, held BLACKWOOD safe for speed on the inside and, saving all possible ground through stretch, lasted to withstand WHISKERY'S bid near end. Latter raced forwardly under steadying restraint, responded courageously when called upon last eighth and was gradually getting to the winner near end. ROYAL JULIAN, away fast, but badly outrun first half mile, moved up with a rush on outside entering stretch and, continuing strongly under punishment, was rapidly wearing leaders down.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:32. Off at 5:33. Winner, O. H. Berz's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RAY RUDDY, $176.56, $54.08, $13.76; CONGO II, $9.72, $5.12; IRENE T., $2.92.

RAY RUDDY moved up on outside near stretch and, closing gamely, outgamed CONGO II. Latter, closer up than usual in early running, moved up with a great burst of speed at the stretch head and, holding on determinedly, was gradually getting to the leader. IRENE T., in close quarters first five furlongs, was taken back rounding stretch turn, then taken to outside and closed strongest of all.

TECH DEALS BUSINESS FIRST SERIES DEFEAT, 15-9

9 Runs in 7th Win Game For Tech

Price Holds Stenogs to 2 Hits After Batson Is Pounded.

Russell Evens Score With Homer; Chase Hits for Circuit.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER.

A HUSKY, grinning blond pitcher, and a nine-run rally in the seventh inning, both produced by the Tech High School Baseball Team, were responsible for a general turnabout of conditions in the interhigh school baseball series yesterday, as that nine won its first championship game and handed Business its first defeat of the series by the score of 15 to 9 at the Central Stadium.

Roland Price, sent in to pitch by Coach Mal Edwards in the second inning, after Business had pounded the slants of Gordon Batson for four hits and seven runs, was the lad who turned in the most effective pitching performance of the series to date in jolting any hopes the Stenogs had of annexing the 1930 interhigh diamond title.

Price Halts Business Rally.

Stopping the rally cold in that frame, Price turned back Business without a hit for the next five frames and, except in the eighth, when two hits, one decidedly freaky, gave the losers their last two runs, was invincible. Price wasn't perfect, granting five walks, but no two came in any one frame, and, except in the eighth, Business failed to place more than one man on base at any time.

And just when it appeared that Price's splendid exhibition was to go for naught, Tech's swatsmiths rose to the heights of their batting power to knock the last remaining props from beneath the Business support by scoring nine runs in the "lucky" seventh. On the short end of a 7-to-4 score at the end of the second, Tech gradually whittled away the Business lead until it was but one run behind. However, the Maroon and Gray failed to score in the fifth and sixth, leaving Business still ahead, until the blow-up in the seventh.

Russell Hammers Homer.

Everett Russell, the first batter, immediately tied the score for Tech by propelling a home-run into deep left field. Then followed two successive outs. But before the next batter could be retired, four hits had been made, two batters had been walked, a like number hit by pitched balls with eight runs resulting. After Price had made the second out, Capt. Benny Spigel singled, Chumbris was hit by a pitched ball, and English walked, filling the bases. Wills' single to left scored Spigel and Chumbris, and Thomas walked, again crowding the sacks.

Wellens' single brought Wills and English across, and after Russell, up for the second time, was plunked in the ribs, Jacobson muffed Benner's hopper, allowing Thomas to count. Price singled to right, scoring Russell and Wellens, and after Spigel had been hit by a pitch, Chumbris walked, forcing in Benner for the final run of the frame.

long drives, with Pitt slightly in advance.

During the walk up the twelfth fairway Miss Marguerite Putnam stepped over to Pitt's side and slipped into his hand a four-leaved clover. "Now, Harry," she said, "you can't lose."

Stevinson laid his second shot on the green while Pitt, with a half-topped approach which skidded across the green, had to play his third shot from a lie back in the rough among the trees. He hit a low ball with a run. The ball hit the back of the green so half-heartedly that it seemed destined to fall back into the semi-rough. Instead of this, it went over the top and, gathering momentum in a downward roll, never stopped until it fell in the cup for a birdie 3, amid a tremendous volume of applause. Stevinson putted and missed his 3. Instead of being only 1 up, as everybody anticipated, he was 3 down. And that really was the end of the ball game. Perhaps, after all, it was the four-leaved clover.

Pitt won the thirteenth by a fine approach from the rough, far off the green, after a sliced drive and a single putt. Stevinson, who overapproached, taking two putts for a 4, and then halved the fourteenth with a perfect approach from off the green and holing out with a single putt. He ended the match with a crashing climax, scoring a birdie 3 on the fifteenth, 440 yards, by running down a 6-footer for a birdie 3. The cards:

U. S. NET TEAM BEATS CANADIANS

which was postponed on account of rain.

Two unanswerable volley placements from his racquet captured the set and match, and Wright was not able to win a point.

Lott, although subject to lapses in accuracy, played a heady game, choosing to work his opponent out of position by clever court strategy and shoot his soft, heavily topped shots into unprotected territory. These tactics enabled him to pile up the amazing total of 36 placements to Rainville's six.

In doubles the work of Allison was outstanding. The hair-trigger Texan did great execution at the net, totaling 22 placements.

To give them experience in international play, Allison and Johnny Doeg, of Santa Monica, Calif., will be used in tomorrow's remaining singles. Doeg will oppose Dr. Wright in Lott's place while Allison will substitute for Van Ryn against Ranville. Although these matches can not affect the result, the United States forces will be out to capture them and make it a grand slam of all five contests.

Crowley, of G. U. Prep, Shuts Out Devitt, 8-0

With its pitcher, Pete Crowley, holding Devitt Prep Baseball Team to three scattered hits, Georgetown Prep Nine had litite trouble in defeating their guests, 8 to 0, yesterday, on the Garrett Park diamond. Devitt was hitless until the fifth, McKeever getting a single in that frame.

2 G. U. TEAMS FACE NAVY TODAY

Rivals Clash in Baseball and Track at Annapolis.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 16.—Tomorrow's program here will be featured by annual visit of Georgetown University field and track and baseball teams to meet Navy. The Hilltop Nine, like the Tars, have a good record for the season and the game is attracting more than usual interest. A lively battle is anticipated.

The game, like the cinder path contest, will begin at 2:15 o'clock. Navy's track team has been defeated but once ths year, by Ohio State, national championship, last Saturday. The score was not so one-sided and the locals are confident of winning the meet although Georgetown grabbed honors by 25 points a season ago. In 1928 the score was 63 to 63.

However, major interest for the day centers in the St. John's-Johns Hopkins stick encounter in Baltimore. The national championship is involved on the conflict together with the lead in the intercollegiate league and one of the greatest lacrosse games ever contested. It is predicted Annapolis will be practically deserted as the town always journeys to Baltimore when the Johnnies and Jays get together in any sport.

The local spring athletic season reaches its peak tomorrow despite the fact that there will be no rowing races. The varsity eight being at Boston for the four-cornered bursh with Harvard, Massachusetts Tech and Pennsylvania as the other contestants.

The other contests on the home card are: Varsity—Lacrosse with Syracuse; tennis with Lafayette, and rifle match with the Quantico Marines. Plebes—Tennis with Central High; field and track meet with Tome School, of Port Deposit; Baseball with Allentown, Pa., Prep School; lacrosse with Peekskill, N. Y., Military Academy.

NATS DEFEAT A'S TWICE, 5-3, 4-0

fouled to Spencer, took third when Cronin's short toss to nip him there was bad. Singles by Miller and Dykes then scored the Mackmen's only runs of the day. With two gone in the ninth, Pinch-Hitter Schang walked and Simmons then popped toward third for what appeared to be an easy third out. Bluege, however, let the ball drop safely for some unexplained reason and the A's had the tying runs on base. Foxx could help none, however, and so Hadley was credited with a well-deserved victory.

While Hadley's mates were causing him lots of worries afield, they were rallying at the bat, jumping into a lead in the second and running in front for the balance of the race. In round two, Cronin's single, Bluege's walk, and singles by Hadley and Loepp netted two markers and the Nats doubled their total in the fifth. This stanza was good for five hits, Walberg suddenly putting on the brakes and disposing of Goslin and Judge with the sacks loaded after two were dead. Cronin's opening one-shot, Bluege's double and singles by Spencer, Loepp and Rice were the blows of this round.

Washington's final counter came in the eighth as a result of Rice's three-bagger to right center and a wild pitch.

Walter J. Newman, Noted Sandlot Manager, Is Dead

Sponsor of Corinthian Nines Held Post in City League.

WALTER J. NEWMAN

WALTER J. NEWMAN, founder of the Corinthian Athletic Club and one of the widest known men in amateur sports in the District, was found dead in bed last night at 13 Sixth street southeast, where he has made his home for the past six years. Heart disease was given as the cause of death. He was 39 years old.

His name has een cynonimous with the Corinthian A. C. and amateur athletics in the District for seven years. He was one of the founders of the Washington Baseball Athletic Association and the Capital City Baseball League, being a member of the board of directors of the latter organization at the time of his death.

Corinthians at Meeting.

One of his Corinthian A. C. members called at his home late yesterday to find the door locked. Arthur Manders, a brother-in-law, residing at 513 East Capitol street, was notified and the body was found after entrance had been forced.

The news of Mr. Newman's death fell with bomb-shell effect upon a meeting the combined teams of the Corinthian A. C. gathered at Immaculate Conception Hall last night. The teams were gathered for their weekly meeting, patiently awaiting the arrival of the man who had endeared himself to them as well as hundreds of other Washington boys who had been associated with him in recent years.

Developed Many Athletes.

Mr. Newman, who was a building contractor, has been planning for several years to withdraw from sports activities but his boys and thir parents have successsfully induced him to return on each occasion to manage the Corinthina Teams.

Devoting most of his attention to the younger boys of the city, Mr. Newman has started many of the present and fromer high school and college athletes on thier way to recognition. A former professional baseball player, he was especially interested in developing young ball players, spending much time and money in producing winning teams in the Capital City League. He also promoted the French's Insect and Midget Leagues and had planned to reorganize these two groups in the near future. Basketball has been his chief hobby during the winter months.

Out of respect to their fallen leader, the Corinthian baseball teams have cancelled all games scheduled for today and tomorrow.

Insect and Peewee Nines Open League Play Today

Capital City League Gets in Full Swing Tomororw.

PROVIDED Jupe Pluvius does not spike the guns, a rumble of championship thunder will be heard today around the Ellipse and Monument diamonds with the big guns ready to boom in general in nearby Virginia and Maryland as well as the District tomorrow.

The Capital City Baseball League, sponsored by The Washington Post, opens its most extensive program in earnest today and tomorrow.

A pall of gloom was lowered over the realm of the Insect and Peewee class teams, which are scheduled to start play today, when it was learned that Walter J. Newman, a close friend of the league and for many years a pillar in the temple of amateur sports in the District, had died suddenly. The Corinthian-Wonder Boy insect game has been canceled in respect to the late manager and coach of the Corinthian A. C.

Nine games remain on the schedule for today. Tomorrow initial games will be played in the District and Prince Georges County unlimited divisions, the senior, junior and midget classes.

Players eligible for today's games follow:

MARYLAND U. LACROSSE VICTOR

Washington College Routed, 20-1, Evans in Star Role.

MARYLAND'S Lacrosse Twelve ran up its largest score of the season yesterday afternoon as the Terrapins handily defeated the Wahington College combination, of Chestertown, Md., 20 to 1, on the College Park field. It was the final home contest this season for the Old Liners, who are to face Johns Hopkins and Navy on the next two weekends in big tests.

Maryland was never in trouble with the inexperienced twelve from the Eastern Shore of Maryland and at halftime held a 14-to-0 lead. In the second half the Terrapins went on to add six more markers, while the visitors were counting their lone tally.

Bill Evans, who is leading the lacrosse scorers of the country this season as he alo did in 1929, yesterday added 7 more ponts to his total, which now has mounted to 34.

Smith Yields 3 Hits As Marines Win, 5-0

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., May 16.—The All-Marines' star southpaw, Harold Smith, pitched great ball here today, shutting out Washington College, 5 to 0, allowing only three hits, fanning seven and not allowing a runner to reach second base. For six innigs it was a pitchers' duel between the Marine hurler and Griffin for the Chestertown team.

In the seventh Sullivan walked, Lusignan singled and Smith beat out a tap toward third, filling the bases. Eddie Gorman then singled to right, and when Creilly allowed the ball to go through him, three runners scored and Gorman reached third. The Marines made two more for good measure in the eighth when Kidd singled, Young was safe on an error by Giraitis. Billingsley, running for Kidd, scored on a wild pitch, and Young counted on Lusignan's single.

The Marines wind up their home games tomorrow when the same teams meet at 1:45 p. m.

Maryland U. Netmen Defeat Richmond, 5-2

Maryland's varsity tennis team defeated the racketers representing Richmond University for the second time this season when it handily triumphed over the Virginians, 5 matches to 2, on the College Park courts yesterday.

The Old Liners garnered three of the five singles matches and both the doubles encounters.

The feature match was between Rosenbaum, of Maryland, and Eacho, of Richmond, which the latter captured by the scores of 6—1, 3—6, 6—3.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, VaV., May 16.—Alexandria's golf season will officially open tomorrow afternoon when the twelve-man team representing the Belle Haven Country Club goes to Winchester for the opening match of the Tri-State Association tournament.

The local team will oppose Purcellville Country Club Team, while Martinsburg will play Winchester. Six teams have represented association every year before, but due to the distance they had to limit it to four.

Lewis aKne, popular golfer at the club, has been chosen captain of the team for the coming year at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. The twelve men making the trip are as follows: Capt. Kane, Tom Sebrell, Charlie Rollins, B. F. Howell, B. Clem, Fred Souder, C. C. Carlin, jr., W. W. Demaine, Dr. S. B. Moore, Clarence Robinson, William Herring and Cameron Roberts.

Episcopal High School Baseball Team will close its season tomorrow afternoon when they play Woodberry Forest in the latter's field.

Sam Moncure, former Episcopal High School and local boy, is playing regular on the Navy Lacrosse Team. Sam is the brother of Thomas and Bill, stars in every branch of sport while at the Episcopal High School and later at the University of Virginia. This is Sammy's third year at the Naval Academy.

Alexandria will have a Tom Thumb golf course within a few more days. The Fresh Air Golf Course of America is the name that has been given the course that will open up on Pentagon Field. A number of Alexandrians are waiting to have the course opened.

clever second shot to the green, but she hooked her tee shot to a trap at the twenty-third and lost this hole and the next.

The British girl was hitting the ball straight and sending her approach putts dead. For a time Miss Collett recovered her faltering game, winning the twenty-seventh and running down a putt of 18 feet at the twenty-eighth. She was only 4 down then, but suffered another lapse and could not break through on the next three holes which were halved.

Glenna chipped from a bad lie close to the pin to win the thirty-second and become 3 down with 4 left to play. At the thirty-third, where she was in trouble yesterday, Miss Collett slicked to rough and was short of the green in 3. Miss Fishwick, too, was in the rough from the tee, but she was able to use a spoon and sent a great shot to the green ending the match. The cards:

Shady Aak to Meet Woodlawn Tomorrow

The Shady Oak Nine, which has been winning consistently this season, will entertain a formidable foe tomorrow when the Woodlawn Athletic Club, of the Virginia section of the Capital City League, invades the Shady Oak, Md., diamond for a game at 3 o'clock. The game, the first ever scheduled between these clubs, is expected to draw a record crowd for the diamond, which is on the Marlboro road about fifteen minutes from the iDstrict line.

Dutch Gaum will do the pitching for Shady Oak.

NATS AND A'S RENEW FEUD HERE

Marberry Will Seek Club's 7th in Row Over Champions.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—The Nationals and Mackmen returned to Washington tonight where they will resume their first-place battle in the Clark Griffith Stadium in single games tomorrow and Sunday. With a record of six straight voctories over the world's champions to their credit, the Nats, to a man, are confident that they will hold their place at the top of the ladder in the two games just in the offing.

Fred Marberry, whom Manager Johnson believes has finally reached good form, is due to do the Nats' pitching tomorrow, while Bill Shores, a young righthander, likely will oppose him.

Sam Rice stretched his hitting streak to 27 games in today's doubleheader. His first of two hits in the opener was a single to deep short in the fourth inning. He prolonged his streak in the second game when he again singled in the fourth inning.

Cronin Misses Chance For Triple Play.

A poor throw by Shortstop Joe Cronin in the third frame of today's opener was all that kept the Nationals from turning on one of those much sought after triple plays. With none out, Dykes on second and Boley on first, Walberg attempted to bunt. Hadley was after his pop as quick as a flash, cutting out toward third and just managing to snare the ball with his bare hand. As both runners were winging, Hadley's peg to Cronin covering second killed Dykes, but in his anxiety to nail Boley also, Cronin hit the Mackian shortfieder in the back as he was tearing back to first. The Nats never again will come any closer and fail on a play of this kind, for it simply can't be done.

The Mackmen probably are beginning to have plenty of respect for George Loepp as a lead-off man. This former Oriole, who plays center for the Nats when they are facing left-handed pitching, opened this afternoon's first game with a double, making the fourth time this season he has led off with a hit against the Philadelphians. Loepp, by the way, has hit safely his last six times up, as he was credited with four in row today before giving way to West when Quinn took the alien hill starting the eighth.

Hadley's Hitting Was Predicted.

Pitcher Irving Hadley predicted that he would do a little fancy hitting after the usual pregame drill, during which he poled out a clout into the upper stands in left. He made good his first time at the tee, singling to left to drive home Cronin with the Nats' first run of the game. He cracked out another safety later in the game.

In the fifth frame of the curtain-raiser, Boley raced behind second to rob Bluege of a hit, taking the bounder with one hand and making a back-handed toss to force out Cronin midway. He had no chance to make a play at first.

The very next inning saw Joe Judge make a sterling contribution, the Nats' captain making a sensational leaping gloved-hand catch of Haas' liner which had all of the earmarks of being at least a double as the ball left the bat.

While sliding into third base in the eighth, Catcher Mickey Cochrane, who has been having trouble with an injured right leg, hurt it again, jamming his ankle, and had to be carried from the field. He probably will be out for several days.

One of those things which can not be explained occurred in the Macks' ninth of the opener when, with two gone and Schang on first, Simmons popped up. Catcher Spencer started for it, saw that it was fair and in Bluege's territory, and quit. Bluege also started for the ball and then after glancing at Spencer, seemed unable to locate it again, the result being that it landed safely and went as a hit. While all this was going on Schang was hustling to third. Fortunately, Hadley was able to hold Foxx, next up, to a fly to Goslin.

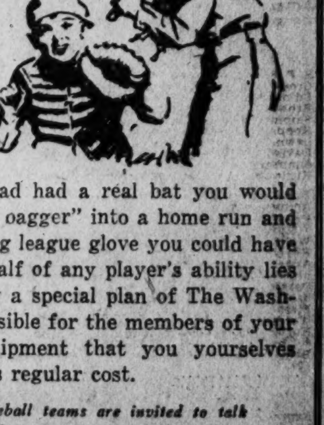
Team!



You know that if you had had a real bat you would have stretched that "two oagger" into a home run and that if you had worn a big league glove you could have held that "hot liner." Half of any player's ability lies in his equipment, and, by a special plan of The Washington Post, it is now possible for the members of your team to secure the equipment that you yourselves choose at a fraction of its regular cost.

Managers of amateur baseball teams are invited to talk over this plan with Mr. Casey at The Washington Post, who will explain every detail. Get in touch with him at once.

STOCKS SCORE GAINS IN LISTLESS MARKET

Net Changes Prove Mixed With Rails Leading in Advances.

EXPORTS DROP SHARPLY

New York, May 16 (A.P.).—Wearied by its own inertness, the stock market dozed through a dull session today. Only during the last 50 minutes did traders take much interest in the list, but in that interval they bid briskly for a number of rail and farm implement shares, sending them up 1 to 4 points. Net changes were generally mixed and of small proportions.

Total sales were the lowest since January, amounting to 2,083,300 shares, and only the late rally saved the volume from falling below the 2,000,000 mark.

With the leading issues displaying firmness in the early dealings, operators on the short side concentrated upon two or three soft spots, notably National Supply, American Locomotive and Electric Storage Battery, all of which were pushed into new low ground for the year. The first named was sold on its unfavorable earnings report, while liquidation of Locomotive represented a belated reaction to the dividend cut.

Several Rails Advance.

Such rails as Atchison, Delaware & Hudson, New York Central, Southern Railway, New Haven and Western Maryland were leaders in the late advance, while St. Louis Southwestern & Chicago Great Western preferred carried to new peak prices for the year. International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor and Oliver Farm Equipment rallied about 2 points each. J. I. Case moved up 8. United Aircraft rose 5 points in what appeared to be a driving in of shorts. Celotex gained the same amount on dismissal of the receivership petition.

Several interesting items came out in the day's news. The foreign trade report for April showed a decline of about $90,000,000 in exports and of approximately $100,000,000 in imports in comparison with the same month a year ago. The gold movement for April embraced imports of $65,539,000, mostly from the Far East.

The Annalist's business activity index for April showed an upturn of 3.3 points from the low of March, with most of the gain in freight car loadings, electric power production and cotton consumption, although all of the component items for which data were available, with the exception of zinc, registered an increase.

Business Remains Uneven.

The weekly trade reviews emphasized the uneven course of business. Dun's said there was an absence of a decisive trend, pointing out that the fall in commodity prices had not been definitely arrested, that adjustments in production were continuing and that there was also evidence of "the operation of other forces which are natural to a period of economic change." The survey added that "disappointment over the results in various quarters this spring is tempered by the knowledge that the marked tension caused by last autumn's speculative collapse has been relieved, and that the movement toward rehabilitations is under way." Bradstreet's recalled that commercial consumers' stocks of soft coal on April 1 were the smallest, with the exception of last July 1, since November, 1922.

Time money declined a quarter of 1 per cent in the 90-day maturity. Otherwise there was no change in the credit situation, although Wall street heard reports of an expected cut in the Reichsbank's rediscount rate to 4½ per cent from 5.

The grain markets were strong. Wheat sold up 2 cents on continuation of the export demand and bullish weather. Corn was 1¾ to 2⅛ cents higher on predictions of frost in the Central West, a firm cash market and large Chicago shipments. Raw sugar was firmer, while cotton closed steady, up 15 to 23 points.

Foreign currencies fluctuated narrowly. The Spanish peseta rallied slightly.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 16 (A.P.). — Big export business, together with indications of irreparable crop damage in southern and southwestern Kansas, did a good deal to send the wheat market soaring today. It was estimated that during the last two days 3,000,000 bushels of North American wheat has been bought for shipment overseas. Highest prices here since April 29 were reached today for wheat, and a burst of activity carried corn also to the topmost level in some time.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong, at nearly the day's summit, 2¼ to 3½ cents a bushel over yesterday's finish. Corn closed 2⅛ to 2⅝ cents up; oats, ½ to 1 cent advanced, and provisions varying from 25 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Accelerating a succession of upward swings in the wheat market here were fresh upturns in Liverpool prices, with talk current that Liverpool houses appeared to be taking a hand at purchasing Chicago wheat future deliveries. Meanwhile, the fact developed that no wheat whatever had cleared for Great Britain from Argentina in the last week, and that total shipments to all countries from the Southern Hemisphere were trifling compared with a year ago. Furthermore, by way of contrast, wheat was being loaded in Chicago today for lake shipment East, and special notice was being taken here that wheat stocks at Hamburg, Antwerp, Liverpool, Manchester, Genoa and Naples have decreased 1,723,000 bushels during the first half of May.

Increasing attention today also was given to persistent advices from authoritative unofficial sources that decidedly unfavorable crop conditions are showing up throughout most of the southern half of Kansas. In this connection a leading Chicago field observer telegraphed today that from Newton, Kans., to Wichita, including a wide circle, nearly two-fifths of the wheat seen has developed spindly short straw and is thin on the ground, with undersized heads. He adds that despite the very best weather which has been prevailing much of the Kansas crop continues backward. Under such circumstances the market closed in something of a flurry, with previous sellers struggling to reverse their trade position and with no apparent increase in offerings despite the day's advance.

A forecast of frost tonight in the Northwest, together with reports of light frosts already in parts of Iowa and Missouri, had a particularly bullish effect on corn. Besides, receipts of corn were scanty, only 45 cars in Chicago today, compared with 110 cars a week ago. Oats went higher with wheat and corn.

In the provision market lard was firm, but meats suffered a decided drop.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, May 16 (A.P.).—Cotton was higher today with new crop months leading the advance on covering and trade or commission house buying, which appeared to be promoted by unfavorable crop advices from the Southwest and reports of further rains in Western and some central belt sections.

The new October contract sold up to 15.08, or 26 points net higher, and closed at 15.05, while July advanced to 16.42, or 18 net higher, and closed at 16.39. The general market closed steady at net advances of 15 to 23 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 7 points on reports of further rains in the Southwest. There was some selling of near months which may have been promoted by the issuance of notices amounting to about 9,000 bales. These notices appeared to be promptly stopped by the leading long interests, however, and the near months later stiffened up with the rest of the list.

May contracts, which had sold off to 16.08 during the early trading, advanced to 16.31 late in the day and closed at that price. New crop positions were relatively active and buying was reported on apprehensions of unfavorable weather developments over the week-end. Reports of recent storm damage in Texas and the detailed weather reports for the day showing heavy rains in Oklahoma and Arkansas contributed to the advance which carried the old December up to 15.44 or 27 points net higher and the new to 15.17 or 26 net higher. Closing quotations were a few points off from the best under realizing.

It was estimated in the trade here that notices issued against May contracts in the various futures markets so far amounted to about 421,850 bales, including 348,800 in New York. Certificated stocks as reported to the New York Cotton Exchange at designated delivery points and Savannah aggregated 482,927 bales, and additions to this total are expected before the last notice day, which will be May 23.

Liverpool cables reported trading much restricted with near months higher on covering and scarcity of cotton. A sustained demand for cotton goods was reported from the British home trade in Manchester but there were complaints of a poor export business in cloths and yarns said to be inactive.

Port receipts today 11,401. United States port stocks, 1,670,658. Exports 11,827, making 6,396,840 so far this season.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Prince & Whitely and Others.

W. W. P.—Will you please give me some information regarding Prince & Whitely common and Insurance Shares? What is your opinion of each of these two stocks? Which is the better one to invest money in? What is your opinion of Transcontinental Air Transport?

Answer—On April 15, 1930, Prince & Whitely Trading Corporation directors declared an initial quarterly dividend on common of 25 cents per share. It was stated at the time that earnings for March last applicable to common stock, and after reserves for taxes and preferred dividend requirements, were estimated officially at almost equivalent to the initial dividend declared. However, the corporation is of the general management type, and as the future success of concerns of this description is so largely dependent upon the efficiency of their management, this column refrains from expressing an opinion relative to the prospective value of their securities.

Insurance Shares Corporation reported for year ended December 31, 1929, total net income of $546,739, compared with $378,048 for 1928. Common stockholders received a payment of all accumulated dividends to April 15, 1929, amounting to $1.54 a share, but none has been reported since. As a nondividend paying issue at present, the stock possesses very little attractiveness. Unsatisfactory earnings and the fact that no dividends have been paid on the stock, render Transcontinental Air Transport highly speculative.

Thermoid; American Sumatra.

K. L. W.—Kindly give me your opinion of Thermoid and American Sumatra Tobacco. Which of the two would you prefer to hold?

Answer—From the standpoint of investment, Thermoid is chosen because dividends of $2 per annum are paid. Dividends on American Sumatra Tobacco were suspended a few months ago because of the unsatisfactory earnings last year. American Sumatra specializes in tobacco for cigar wrappers, and its earnings are governed by the crop, weather and prices, both of which were not satisfactory the last 12 months.

Earnings of Thermoid last year were $950,000 before interest and taxes. The company is a manufacturer of mobile brake lining and a factor in its field. At current prices the yield on the stock is about 8 per cent. Thermoid may be classed as a speculative investment with some long-pull attraction.

R. H. Macy & Co.

B. H. S.—I am a stockholder in R. H. Macy & Co. and would like whatever information you have concerning the company.

Answer—Sales of the New York City store are exceeding those of this time last year, but the Newark and Toledo establishments are not faring so well. A 17-story addition to the New York store is under way, which will allow for the introduction of many new lines. Profits for the year ended February 1, 1930, equaled $6.70 per share, as against $6.86 per share in the previous fiscal year.

Earnings last year include those of L. Bamberger & Co. at Newark, whose stock was acquired by Macy last fall. Sales and earnings have been on an up-trend, and with enlargement of its New York City establishment, this improvement should continue, providing expenses are kept down. Dividends of $2 a year are paid. Last February, shareholders received a 5 per cent extra stock dividend. Macy may be classed as a speculative investment having some promise.

Pan-American B.

V. F. T.—What is your opinion of Pan American "B" stock? Is this company controlled by the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana?

Answer—Standard of Indiana controls Pan American through 80 per cent stock ownership. An offer was made recently by the Indiana company to acquire the Pan American minority stock on the basis of seven shares of Indiana Standard for six Pan American. No dividend has been paid by the latter since 1927, when $6 per share yearly was given stockholders.

Latest earnings statement available shows $1.16 per class "B" share earned in the first half of 1929, as against $1.55 for the same time in 1928. It would appear advisable to exchange Pan American, which pays no dividend, for Standard of Indiana, whose annual payment is $2.50.

BOND PRICES SLUMP SLIGHTLY; DULL DAY

Fractional Gains Scored by Few Carriers in Active Close.

FOREIGN LIST IRREGULAR

New York, May 16 (A.P.).—Bond prices receded slightly on a ragged front today as the volume of sales became reminiscent of the days during the bull stock market.

The market has been somewhat dyspeptic and showed it today as price trends pursued an uncertain course that varied fractionally either way. During the earlier trading convertibles were most active. Toward the end an increased demand developed for railroad bonds and some briskness in the bidding turned many upward.

The favorable conditions for bonds was mirrored in the record low rate of interest paid by the Treasury in its offering of bills. The bank discount rate bids for the $100,000,000 and constituted the most favorable Treasury bills averaged 2:54 per cent rate at which the Government has been able to dispose of its short term bills. Bonds have not reflected this easy credit as large investors have been attracted to new issues. Small buyers have not come into the market very extensively.

Prime and secondary rails joined in the mixed movement, and in few did the range extend beyond a point. Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Boston & Maine 5s, Rock Island 4½s, Missouri Pacific "F" 5s, New Haven 6s, and Pennsylvania 4½s were among those to record fractional advances. Erie 5s, St. Paul 5s, Seaboard 6s, San Francisco 4½s sagged.

Stock privilege issues alternated through the trading day in weak and strong movements and most of them finished at slight advance. Philadelphia Reading Coal & Iron 6s, with a gain of 1½ points, and Missouri Pacific 5½s, with a loss of 1¼ points, were the two extremes.

Numerous inactive issues made their appearance in the foreign group but the sales were thin generally except in a few bonds. The general trend was irregular.

The market for United States Governments was the lightest of the year. Sales were confined to liberties and all lost ground.

Curb Review

New York, May 16 (A.P.).—The curb market was again purely a professional trading affair today. There was some bidding up of the utilities, and United Light A developing marked buoyancy, but oils ran into moderate selling, and industrials and specialties were dull and irregular. Total sales only moderately exceeded 800,000 shares.

United Light A took the market by surprise with a sudden spurt of more than 6 points to 54⅞, within a point of its peak. This stock has been drifting along rather quietly, since its runup some weeks ago on announcement of a natural gas distributing project. The stock has been under fairly steady accumulation, however, and the floating supply is believed to have been substantially curtailed.

Natural Fuel Gas was also a strong spot, surging up 5 points to a new high at 40⅞, then losing some of its gain. The speculative enthusiasm for natural gas issues was apparently kindled anew by the news of the Columbia Gas, United Corporation affiliation. United Gas was firm, and Appalachian Gas and a few others were fairly active. Electric Bond and Share sold up more than a point, but such recent favorites as American Superpower and Niagara Hudson did little, and American Gas lost a point.

Columbia Oil droped 5½ points to a new low at 11½, then rallied to 15. This evidently reflected disappointment that the United Corporation exchange offer for Columbia Gas was announced as after deduction of the dividend of Columbia Oil shares to Columbia Gas stockholders. Gulf lost 3 points, and Humble a point, but Cities Service rose ¾ in heavy trading. A further cut in Pennsylvania crude prices, and continued dissension among Santa Fe Springs producers in California were evidently adverse psychological factors.

The aviation issues turned quiet and irregular. Irving Air Chute was a firm and active spot, and Detroit Aircraft rose fractionally. Irving management announces that its business has increased 50 per cent since the first of the year, which is regarded as favorable in view of earnings of $2.15 a share in 1929.

Dresser B stock rose a couple of points. Deere was quiet and firm, but failed to participate in the advance of the farm implement on the big board. National Steel lost more than 3 points, and Van Camp Packing, which recently touched 16, again sold off, getting down to 8¼. In the merchandising group, Sally Frocks and Russecks reached new 1930 lows.

LIBERTY NATIONAL ELECTS DIRECTOR

Harold N. Marsh, Attorney, Will Serve on Board of Capital Bank.

BUSINESS LOOKS BETTER

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Harold N. Marsh, attorney, of the firm of Marsh & Rogers, Shoreham Building, was elected a director of Liberty National Bank yesterday. Mr. Marsh was born May 2, 1887, in Cleveland, Ohio, and received his preliminary education in the public schools of Dixfield, Me., and at the Deering High School, Portland, Me. He was graduated from Bowdoin College in 1909, and subsequently attended the law schools of Harvard and George Washington Universities, being admitted to the bar in 1916.

During the late war he served overseas as a captain in the Coast Artillery Corps. Following his discharge from military service, in 1919, he was for a brief period associated with the United States Shipping Board, after which he returned to the general practice of law, being for a time associated with Rufus S. Day. Since 1925 he has been a member of the firm of Marsh & Rogers. He is a vice president and general counsel of the Federal Storage Co. and a director of the Commonwealth Investment Co.

In 1921 Mr. Marsh married Miss Dorothy Dennis, of Morristown, N. J. They have four sons and reside in Cleveland Park. Mr. Marsh is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and Phi Delta Phi Fraternities.

New Bethesda Bank Director.

Election of George E. Hamilton, attorney, to the directorate of the Bank of Bethesda, Md., was also announced yesterday. Born in Charles County, Md., March 5, 1855, Mr. Hamilton attended school in Washington and was graduated from Georgetown University in 1872, with an A. B. degree, receiving degrees of LL. B., A. M. and LL. D., in 1874, 1882 and 1889, respectively. In 1922 he was given the honorary degree of doctor of jurisprudence from that university.

In 1876 he began the practice of law, associated with the firm of Merrick & Morris. On the death of Richard T. Merrick in 1885 he became a member of the firm, which became known as Morris & Hamilton, and is now senior member of the firm of Hamilton & Hamilton.

Mr. Hamilton is chairman of the board and general counsel of the Capital Traction Co.; vice president, general counsel and trust officer of the Union Trust Co., and a nationally known member of the Georgetown Law School faculty. He is general counsel of the Washington Terminal Co., a counsel for the B. & O. and other railway corporations, a regent of Georgetown University and a trustee of the Corcoran Art Gallery.

Summary Shows Trade Better.

Volume of business for the week ended May 10, as indicated by check payments, was more than 13 per cent greater than that for the preceding week and 1 per cent above that for the corresponding week in 1929, the Department of Commerce weekly summary of business conditions revealed yesterday.

Wholesale prices showed a slight decline from the preceding week and was more than 7 per cent below the level of a year ago.

The spring prom and bridge party of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, will be held Wednesday evening at Columbia Country Club.

The Washington Stock Exchange will be closed today and every Saturday until October.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau Washington, Friday, May 16—8 p. m.

Forecast for the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia—Mostly cloudy, with some probability of occasional showers Saturday and Sunday; cooler Sunday; gentle to moderate southwest, shifting to northwest and north winds.

The eastern disturbance has continued to move slowly northeastward over New England and the eastern Canadian Provinces, Father Point, Quebec, 29.56 inches, and a trough extends southwestward to Texas. Pressure is quite low and falling from Alaska southeastward over British Columbia and the Plateau and southern Rocky Mountain regions, Dawson, Yukon, 29.36 inches, Kamloops, B. C., 29.48 inches, and Grand Junction, Colo., 29.50 inches. These disturbances have caused showers within the last 24 hours in the Lake region, the Gulf States, portions of the Atlantic States, the Appalachian region, the Plains States, and the Rocky Mountain and Plateau regions and the Pacific States. The area of high pressure that was over the Canadian Maritime Provinces Thursday is advancing eastward over the Ocean, S. S. Leviathan, 30.50 inches, and pressure is high thence southwestward to the Bahamas and Porto Rico. The northwestern area of high pressure is moving slowly southeastward over Manitoba, the Dakotas and Minnesota, Huron, S. Dak., 30.18 inches. The temperature has risen in the Ohio Valley, the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States, the western Canadian Provinces and the northern Plateau region, and it has fallen in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, the northern Lake region and from Utah and Arizona eastward to western Texas.

There will be occasional showers in Tennessee and the South Atlantic States Saturday and Sunday, and the indications are for considerable cloudiness with some probability of occasional showers in the Ohio Valley, the lower Lake region and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States. The temperature will be somewhat lower in the lower Lake region Saturday and Sunday, and in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States during Sunday.

COURT STAGE READY IN BREW AIDS FIGHT

Darrow Plans Defense of Pair Raided for Selling Bottles and Corks.

SAME STORE RESTOCKED

Chicago, May 16 (A.P.).—The arena is being cleared here for what is expected to be a fight to the finish on the sale of equipment and materials which go into the making of home brew.

The case in back of the contest will be that of Joe Grein and J. Pahls, owners of a malt and hops store, charged with violation of the prohibition law in the illegal sale of home-brew supplies. Clarence Darrow, retired attorney and stanch foe of what he holds to be encroachments upon personal liberty, will lead the defense.

He was engaged by the Chicago Malt Products Association and his assistant will be Capt. William F. Waugh, a former assistant United States district attorney. The International Food Products Association will send its attorney, J. F. Donnelly, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, into the defense ranks.

Defendants Restock Store.

The defendants were arraigned today and their case was continued to May 26. In the meantime the Government will make an attempt to indict them. Today, despite the Government seizure of $75,000 worth of bottles, caps, malt, hops and other materials, Grein and Pahls began restocking their store with the same goods. This action was on advice of the attorneys, Grein said.

The Government seeks to destroy the seized stocks through libel proceedings. They are at present impounded in a warehouse.

New Raid Not Expected.

Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowly, who ordered the raid on the Grein & Pahls store following the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court holding sale of home brewing equipment illegal, was out of the city today, and others on his staff were unable to say whether the store would be raided again.

Grein said he had no fear of another entry.

Federal agents who raided the store said they preceded the raid with purchases, receiving at the same time instructions from the clerks on how to make good brew.

"The confiscation of wares that might be utilized in the making of home brew is manifestly unfair," declared Mr. Darrow. "Our defense will be based on the argument that the Federal agents had no right to make that raid. There are many products in this country that can be used either for legal or illegal purposes, and by no twists of logic can it be argued that the sale of bottles and corks is in violation of the prohibition laws. Mr. Grein has never sold liquor in his store and should not be prosecuted."

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

SIXTEENTH STREET EXTENSION OPENED

Gov. Ritchie Delivers Speech Stressing Significance of New Boulevard.

AKERSON ALSO SPEAKS

With the White House at one end and Maryland and points north at the other, the new boulevard extension of Sixteenth street northwest was opened yesterday amid elaborate ceremonies participated in by Maryland, District and Federal officials.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland was the principal speaker. Addressing a throng of several hundred persons who lined the edge of the new thoroughfare at the District line, he expressed deep gratitude at completion of the road, and pointed out its significance in bringing more closely the people of Maryland and the District.

Gov. Ritchie recalled that what is now the District of Columbia was once a part of Maryland, and declared that the resulting kinship between the two communities is growing constantly, fostered by just such new highway projects.

Symbol of Union Seen.

Referring to the granite stone unveiled at the District line, where the Sixteenth street boulevard extension branches off to Silver Spring on the right and Bethesda on the left, the governor declared that the monument constitutes not a mark of division but a symbol uniting the District and Maryland.

The stone, a rough-hewn granite shaft, was unveiled by Maj. D. A. Davidson, Assistant Engineer Commissioner of the District; Miss Cecil Perry, daughter of Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, of Bethesda, and Lacy Shaw, vice president of the Montgomery County commissioners.

In the speakers' stand, erected on a high eminence overlooking the new highway above the stone, were Gov. Ritchie, Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, District coordinator; Representative Louis C. Cramton, of Michigan; George E. Akerson, secretary to President Hoover, and Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, who were speakers.

Others in Stand.

Also in the stand were Edward H. Jones, chairman of the joint committee representing the chambers of commerce of Bethesda, Silver Spring and Takoma Park, and Maj. E. Brooke Lee, speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, who introduced the guest speakers.

The ceremonies were opened by Mr. Jones, who referred to the possibility of Gov. Ritchie's presidential candidacy on the Democratic ticket with the remark that the new highway "may open up a direct route from Maryland to the White House."

Maj. Lee described Maryland as the natural and obvious haven to which the Capital's rapidly growing population must turn, and, calling attention to the unrestricted cooperation which always has existed between the District and Montgomery County, declared that "the future of the Capital depends upon what the people of Maryland do." He cited the opening of the new highway as illustrative of what the people of Maryland are doing.

Talk by Capt. Whitehurst.

Capt. Whitehurst likewise stressed the benefits of such cooperation and coordination between the two committees, and Mr. Akerson extended not only his own congratulations but also those of President Hoover, of whom he said, "In this instance I can say that I represent the President personally."

"The heart of the Capital is not Pennsylvania avenue," said Mr. Akerson. "It is out here in the suburbs, where the people have their homes and raise their children. No city can be prosperous without its suburbs." With this thought in mind, Mr. Akerson declared that the resultant opening of Montgomery County as a District suburb is obvious in its benefits, not only to the country, but especially to Washington.

Mr. Thorpe, who recently became a resident of Bethesda, declared that the new highway is symbolic of the progress of modern civilization as exemplified in the development of ways and means to defeat the time element.

Speech by Thorpe.

"Our fathers," he said, "asked 'how far?' but today the question we ask is 'how long will it take?' Opening this highway to reduce the transportation time between the District and Maryland is in keeping with the urge of the age, as seen in the telephone, automobiles, radio, television and other time-saving inventions."

Perfect weather marked the ceremonies, and after the celebrants had listened to speeches which were carried through loud speakers, Gov. Ritchie extended to them an invitation to accompany the officials on a sight-seeing tour throughout Montgomery County.

A minute or two after the dedication was concluded and the crowd had begun to disperse, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes drove up to the barrier at the District end of the roped-off space, and there was informed by the policeman on duty that he was too late. Whereupon his chauffer turned the car around and sped back toward the District. The Chief Justice was not scheduled to participate in the ceremonies, and apparently had come merely as an observer.

New Facts Bared In Virginia Murder

Alleged Bootlegger Tells of Calling at Rohm Home Night of Slaying.

Richmond, Va., May 16 (A.P.).—Detectives said today they had information from a man, who had admitted he was a bootlegger, indicating that Harry Rohm, 45, leather dealer, may have been shot to death at his home before 9 o'clock Monday night instead of between 10 and 11 o'clock, the time previously set by police for the killing. The man, whose name was not revealed by the police, said he had called at the Rohm home about 9:30 o'clock and several times afterward without succeeding in summoning any one to the door.

Captain of Detectives Wright said this man was identified as the one who called at a next-door neighbor's home Monday night to inquire whether Rohm was visiting there.

Rohm's wife and daughter Anne who discovered the body lying in the front hallway of their home upon returning before midnight, said they had left Rohm alone in the house about 8 o'clock. A friend who called by telephone shortly after 8 o'clock for Rohm's son, Morris, said a man answered whom he thought was the elder Rohm.

Staunton Will Be Host to Diocese of Southwestern Virginia.

Special to The Washington Post

Staunton, Va., May 16.—About 100 clerical and lay delegates are expected to convene here in Trinity Episcopal Church next Tuesday morning for the annual two-day session of the Council of the Diocese of Southwestern Virginia. The Right Rev. Robert Carter Jett, of Roanoke, will preside.

Preceding the council sessions, the annual meeting of the Laymen's League of the Diocese will be held in Trinity Church on Monday night. A brief devotional service will be held at 6:30 p. m., a supper and mass meeting following in the parish house at 6:45. Laymen from all parts of the diocese are expected. Speakers will include Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, U. S. M. C., retired, superintendent of Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Maj. Roy W. Wonson, headmaster of Staunton Military Academy, this city, and Col. George L. Barton, jr., of Lexington, president of the Laymen's League.

Flour Mill and Bridge Burn; Loss Is $25,000

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 16.—Destruction by fire early today of a large flour mill at Marlboro, Va., and a covered wooden bridge over Cedar Creek nearby, caused a $25,000 loss, partially covered by insurance. The mill was owned by L. L. Link, and the bridge by Frederick and Shenandoah Counties.

Mr. Link and his family were aroused by the furious barking of a watchdog at the front door. The mill was then ablaze on the creek side. The fire spread to the entire building and then to the bridge which was built 50 years ago.

SCHOOL BOARD LISTS LOUDOUN TEACHERS

Plans for Year's Work Are Outlined and Holidays Announced.

BOOK AGENTS ARE NAMED

Purcellville, Va., May 16.—The fixing of the 1930-31 school calendar, the appointing of teachers and plans for next year's school work occupied most of the time of the county school board meeting here Tuesday.

White teachers' institute will be held September 9. White schools will open September 10, close for Christmas holidays December 23 and reopen January 5. All white schools will close June 5. Thanksgiving Day and the Friday following and the Monday after Easter are fixed as school holidays. One day will be allowed to attend some fair other than the Loudoun County Fair and to make up the day on some Saturday during the same month, providing all rooms of the school close on the same day.

Two teachers will be employed at Mountville, provided, however, that in case the average daily attendance shall be less than the minimum legal limit of 36, the salary of the grammar grade shall be paid by the patrons of the school.

Book Agents Are Named.

Book agents for 1930-31 were appointed as follows: Round Hill, Patterson's Pharmacy; Purcellville, Miss Muriel Cornwell; Leesburg, H. C. Littlejohn.

Two hundred and fifty dollars was appropriated for salary of home demonstration agent. The board was authorized to renew contracts for the transportation of pupils for 1930-31.

The board resolved that four years of high school work be continued at Waterford, that grades six to eleven, inclusive, be operated on a departmental basis and that three teachers who are properly certified for high school work be employed for three grades, and provided further, that the State Board of Education be requested to accredit the school on that basis.

Resignation Is Accepted.

The resignation of Miss Ernestine Baker, of the Leesburg School, was accepted and Miss Estelle White was appointed to fill this vacancy.

Teachers were appointed as follows: Sterling, Mildred Orrison; Arcola, Elsie Shawen; Coleman, Virginia Slentz; McGraw's Ridge, Lula Mae Davis; Ryan, Mrs. Fred Ball; Round Hill, Juliet Jones; Waterford, high school and sixth and seventh grades, Jane Crawley; Waterford, Emma Clemens, Minnie Russell and Cecelia Beiser; Hillsboro, Mrs. Lillie T. Cummins; Paeonian Springs, Hannah B. Ellmore; Sunny Ridge, Clara Wood; Clarks Gap and Cool Spring, Lucille Griffin; Oak Hill, Alice Wilt; Red Hill and Sycoline, Grace Trittipoe; Tankerfield, Catherine Miller; Aldie, principal, J. B. Potts, and Elsie G. Hume, Emma Elmore and Elizabeth James; Unison-Bloomfield, Mrs. Mary D. Monroe and Virginia McGehee; Middleburg, Mary J. Trainham, Elizabeth Reed and Marie Gum; Leithton, Alice Underwood; Mountville, Mabel Simmons and Ruth Waters; Lincoln, high school subjects, Frances Titus; agriculture, J. F. Potts.

Lynchburg Group Names Officers.

Younger; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James P. Evans; recording secretary, Mrs. John W. Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Wood; historian, Mrs. J. H. Hoskins, and registrar, Mrs. W. A. Anderson.

Fort Hill Club Elects Officers.

Lynchburg, Va., May 16 (Special).—Mrs. George J. Tompkins has been elected president of the Fort Hill Club for the coming year. Other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. W. H. Sandridge; recording secretary, Mrs. C. E. Taylor; coresponding secretary, Mrs. F. C. Barrow, and treasurer, Mrs. H. T. Nicholas.

Cumberland to Hear Archbishop M. J. Curley

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 16.—Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of Baltimore, will address the Converts League at Carroll Hall here next Sunday afternoon. The meeting is sponsored by Court Cardinal Gibbons, No. 520, Catholic Daughters of America.

A special musical program will be provided. Archbishop Curley will administer confirmation at the local Catholic churches next Sunday.

Cumberland Population Announced as 37,713

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., May 16.—The population of Cumberland for 1930 was given today as 37,713 by John J. Stump, supervisor of the census for this district. Cumberland maintains its position as second city of the State. The figures are subject to revision, but it is thought there will be little, if any, change. The population of the city in 1920 was 29,837. Several months ago considerable suburban territory was annexed, increasing the population about 5,000, while the old section of the city shows a gain of about 3,000. With Lavale, Cresaptown and Ridgely, which are suburban, the population would run over 40,000. Over one-third of the city population, or about 36.2 per cent, is concentrated in the south end, a section built up in the past 30 years.

GEORGE MASON UNIT WINS CADETS' DRILL

POPPIES ON SALE TODAY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

George Mason High School Cadet Company carried off the honors in the military tournament staged on Baggett's Field yesterday afternoon, sponsored by Alexandria Post, No. 24, and Arlington County Post, No. 139, American Legion, and with three officers of the United States Army as judges. They were Maj. John Donovan and Maj. Raymond G. Payne, both professors of military science and tactics in connection with Washington high schools, and Lieut. Henry P. Hunt, jr., on R. O. T. C. duty at Georgetown University.

In the competitive drill between the schools the standing was as follows: First, George Mason, with 82 per cent; second, Alexandria, 78¼ per cent; third, Company B, Washington-Lee High School, 72 2-10 per cent, and fourth, Company A, Washington-Lee, 69 8-10 per cent.

The guidon presented by the American Legion went to George Mason, and inasmuch as this cadet company won the contest, a lieutenant colonel of cadets will be selected from this school. The George Mason boys were led by Acting Cadet Capt. Charles Brown in place of Cadet Capt. Stuart Crickenberger, who was injured in a motor truck accident yesterday morning sustaining a broken arm. Also in this connection, every member of the winning company will be authorized to wear a red, white and blue badge, in the nature of a campaign badge.

The American Legion award of a medal to the best-drilled cadet from each of the three schools, went to Cadets James Chilton Bruin, of the Alexandria Corps; to be presented by Post Commander Howard L. Arnold; Cadet Godfrey Pierpoint Runaldue, of George Mason Corps, to be presented by Past Commander F. Clinton Knight; and Cadet Daniel Dugan, of Washington-Lee, to be presented by Commander Edgar W. Pumphrey, of Arlington Post.

The silver cup given by the Alexandria Light Infantry to the captain of the winning company of the Alexandria high schools who had the best average went to George Mason High School, and was presented by Capt. W. Cameron Roberts to Acting Cadet Capt. Charles Brown.

The Washington-Lee Corps was accompanied by its high school band, presenting a snappy appearance, and also by Company I, of girl cadets, under the command of Miss Branson, numbering about 30, all wearing dark-blue skirts, lighter blue sweaters and blue berets.

The committees from the two posts in charge of the affair were Commander Howard L. Arnold, George F. Downham, F. Clinton Knight and Thurlow White, of Alexandria; Commander Edgar W. Pumphrey, H. H. Porter, J. L. McDonald, E. I. Mateer and J. J. White, of Arlington.

Col. Clarence J. Deems, U. S. A., military instructor with the Alexandria schools, and Maj. Chauncey B. McNeil, U. S. A., military instructor with Washington-Lee, were masters of ceremonies.

The judges for the fifth annual flower show, sponsored by the Alexandria Garden Club, which will be held in the armory on Friday, May 23, will be Mrs. Daniel D. Devore of Chatham, the famous Fitzhugh Lee estate at Falmouth, Va.; Mrs. Carl Melchers, of Belmont, at Falmouth, and Mrs. T. R. Boggs, the former Miss Kate Doggett, of The Quarters, Fredericksburg. The classes will be judged by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gay Butler, of Millwood; Mrs. Thomas Fendall, of Morrisworth, Leesburg, and Mrs. William Rust, of Leesburg. Mrs. Butler is the rosarian of the Garden Club of Virginia, and she and Mr. Butler conduct the rose test for that organization. Mrs. Fendall is vice president of the Garden Club of Virginia, and she and Mrs. Rust are active members of the Leesburg Garden Club. The judges will be guests of the local garden club at luncheon Friday.

The chairman of the classes for which prizes and ribbons will be awarded, as announced by Mrs. D. Mauchlin-Nivin, president of the local club, are: Columbine, Mrs. Andrew Pickens; delphinium, Mrs. F. E. Carter and Mrs. Willoughby Reade; iris, Mrs. Anna B. Wicks and Mrs. C. H. Smith; peony, Mrs. R. A. Dawes and Mrs. A. C. Zebriskie; poppy, Mrs. Gardner L. Booth 2d; rose, Mrs. Malcolm Matheson, Mrs. Eliphalet Andrews and Mrs. William Ord; perennial, Mrs. Charles E. Cabell; annual, Mrs. R. P. Williams; shrub, Mrs. R. M. Reese; rhododendron, Mrs. Charles F. Holden; flowers from plants 50 or more years old, Mrs. William B. Lloyd; flower arrangement, Mrs. C. S. Taylor Burke and Mrs. R. T. Hammitt; flower arrangements for children under 13 years of age, Mrs. David N. Rust and Mrs. D. M. French; arrangements in hanging baskets, Miss Marjorie Hall; flower arrangements in uniform containers, Mrs. Louis S. Scott; beside tables, Mrs. William J. Boothe.

The annual Poppy Day sale of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held today, when every citizen is asked to wear a poppy, commemorating the herbic deeds of the World War veterans, and assisting the disabled veterans and their families who are in need of aid.

Mrs. W. Cameron Roberts is chairman of the auxiliary unit that is in charge of Poppy Day. The committee will sell artificial poppies which are made by the disabled veterans at the Veterans Hospital at Marion, Va., and expects to sell not less than 5,000.

The headquarters will be at 822 King street, where Mrs. Roberts and her assistants will be stationed, with volunteer girls selling the poppies on the streets. Those promoting the sale believe that more persons will be seen wearing poppies than ever before.

The proceeds of the sale will go into the relief fund of the auxiliary, which disburses a large amount each year for the relief of veterans and their families.

The safety tests which are being conducted by the Alexandria Police Department in cooperation with the American Automobile Association will be concluded at 6 o'clock this evening. The tests were started at 8 o'clock Monday morning, and a large number of automobile owners have taken advantage of this service, which is free and without any obligation of any nature. A tabulation of the cars examined so far shows that approximately 43 per cent have failed to pass the tests, a much larger percentage having failed to pass the first test, but passed after making minor adjustments.

The last day in which income-tax returns for the State of Virginia may be filed without incurring a penalty for delinquency is Monday, June 2. According to Charles H. Callahan, commissioner of revenue, the returns are unusually slow coming in this year, only about 40 per cent of the usual number having been received so far. The minimum penalty for failure to file a return is $2, and after the final date for filing, all interrogatories are taken over by the examiner of records for inspection. They are then checked back and compared with the returns for the previous year. It is also announced that the field inspectors of the State tax commission compare individual returns with the returns of employers and also with the Federal income-tax return, in an effort to locate discrepancies.

Stanley Schreiber, 27 years old, of Jackson Heights, N. Y., a pilot with the Gates Flying Circus, and James Gates, 32, Farmville, N. C., are in the Alexandria hospital suffering from serious burns sustained when their automobiles collided on the Richmond-Washington highway between Dumfries and Woodbridge, late Thursday night. The men were taken to the hospital by R. C. Burnett, and neither is able to give a clear account of the accident. It is understood, however, that the machine driven by Gates collided with the rear of that in which Schreiber was riding, setting fire to the gasoline tank and severely burning both men before they could be extricated from the wreckage. They were treated by Dr. M. D. Delaney, and last night both were reported as improving.

The city health department announces that all preschool children who have been immunized against diphtheria by the toxin-antitoxin treatment will be given the Schick test at the city hall at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon by Dr. W. Lewis Schafer, city health officer. Dr. Schafer has issued an urgent request that all mothers see that their children undergo this test to determine whether or not they have been fully immunized against the disease.

A joint meeting of the junior and senior boards of the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged will be held in June, when the ladies of the home will be guests of the boards, and a towel shower for the home will be held. Miss Alice Gronau is general chairman of the joint meeting and will be assisted by Mrs. Charles E. Tennesson and Mrs. Stuart Brown, of the junior board, and Mrs. Tyson Janney, of the senior board.

The May meeting of the Forty and Eight, the honor society of the American Legion, was held last night at Hurshey's, with E. H. Hinkins, of Falls Church, chef de gare, presiding. The meeting was given the details of the big "wreck" to be given at Ocean View next Thursday, and a large number of members of the local voiture are expected to attend. Following the ceremonies in Norfolk, the visiting members will have the privilege of visiting the combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets, which are anchored in Hampton Roads.

The body of Mrs. Sammie Ellen Leitch, mother of Dr. Roy H. Case, of this city, who died Thursday in Washington, was brought here yesterday and taken to Wheatley's Funeral Home. The funeral procession will move at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning from Wheatley's Chapel, and the funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock at Andrews Chapel. Interment will be in the cemetery at Brooke Station.

AWARDING CADET DRILL HONOR

OFFICERS ELECTED BY WOMEN'S CLUBS

Virginia Federation Hears Pittsburgh Speaker Discuss Movies.

REPORTS ARE RECEIVED

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., May 16.—With the election of Mrs. J. L. B. Buck, of Hampton, as president of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs and the selection of Roanoke as next year's meeting place, the twenty-third annual meeting closed here late tonight. The closing program was devoted chiefly to Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the national division of motion pictures, who discussed the screen drama of today and its influence.

Mrs. H. L. Ely, of Suffolk, the retiring president, was elected director and Mrs. W. K. Smith, of Clifton Forge, was named auditor, these being the choice of the nominating committee.

Social features today included a reception to all delegates and visitors at Schoolfield and a dinner tonight to Mrs. Diehl immediately before the closing session.

Mrs. Robert McGuire, of Portsmouth, occupied a conspicuous place on the program today, presenting the reports on library science scholarship and that on library extension. The scholarship fund launched with a goal of $300 fell far below the mark with total receipts amounting to $52. Forty-one of the 110 Virginia clubs have developed circulating libraries for the benefit of communities.

All of the recommendations of the retiring president with the exception of one were adopted today. There was objection to one which would require all clubs to become affiliated in an active way with the National Federation projects. The organization renewed its affirmation in the principle of world peace and use of bill boards throughout the countryside was condemned in the report.

Danville Merchants to Meet.

Danville, Va., May 16 (Special).—The annual meeting of the Danville Retail Merchants Association will be held next Tuesday at Hotel Burton. The principal speaker will be W. L. Mitchell, district manager of the United States Department of Commerce, and his address will be broadcast by Danville Radio Station WBTM.

COURT FEES REMAIN PRACTICE IN VIRGINIA

Survey Made by University Shows Workings of Justice System.

ONE TYPE IS ELIMINATED

University, Va., May 16 (A.P.).—While the trial justice system established in Virginia since 1912 has eliminated the fee system as directly applied to the justice, collection of fees still prevails in the other phases of court administration, Dr. Wylie Kilpatrick, associate professor of government at the University of Virginia, points out in a social science survey.

Justices of the peace in criminal cases continue receiving fees for the issuance of warrants, he says; the sheriff, deputy or constable receives fees for arresting the offender and summoning witnesses; the witnesses are paid for trial attendance and the clerk of the Circuit Court secures fees for receiving fines.

Of more importance, Dr. Kilpatrick declares, is the procedure of transmitting fines and penalties imposed by the trial justice to the State instead of the county.

System Not Eradicated.

"The result," he says, "is that the fee system of compensation is not eradicated for all business of the trial court. It merely is eliminated with respect to one type of fee, the charge of the trial justice for hearing civil and criminal cases.

"Surrounded on all sides by officers paid by fees, not salaries, the tendency is to view the trial justiceship as justifiable only in event that office is self-supporting from the receipts of the dollar fee from civil cases and two-dollar fee from criminal cases. For the supervisors appropriating a budget for the county fund of $50,000 to $100,000 (as distinct from road and school funds) the addition of several thousand dollars for a single office will not be undertaken without grave urgency.

A majority of the counties appropriate not more than $1,000 as their pro rata share of the salary of the major judicial officers, the circuit judges. The trial judge must be viewed as an expensive luxury when the cost of the office is two or three times greater than the county's contribution to the office of circuit judge.

Cost Offset By Fees.

"In the eight counties for which the statistics were collected, the cost of the trial justice was offset by the fees he collected and turned into the county treasury in the five counties of Campbell, Chesterfield, Henrico, Nansemond and Roanoke. These are among the most populous counties where the volume of cases will yield sufficient fees to pay the expenses.

"Significantly, the two counties with the lowest salaries, Rockingham and Caroline, do not derive adequate fees to offset the cost of the court. These counties represent probably half the counties in the State and illustrate the present procedure that seriously dampens, if not prevents, the introduction of the trial justice through Virginia.

"One of the wealthiest counties in the State refrained in 1929 from adopting the trial justice plan because a computation of expenses demonstrated a probable cost of $4,400 with estimated fees below that figure."

Hoover to Spend Week-End in Camp

Large Party to Accompany President on Visit to Rapidan.

(Associated Press.)

Accompanied by a large party of guests, President Hoover plans to leave early today for a week-end of fishing at his camp in Virginia.

Those who will make the trip besides the Chief Executive are Secretary Stimson, Attorney General Mitchell, Ogden L. Mills, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Senators Capper of Kansas, and Fess of Ohio; Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of Porto Rico; Representatives Ramseyer of Iowa, Free of California, and Blackburn of Kentucky; J. Henry Roraback, of Hartford, Conn., Richard V. Oulahan, of the New York Times; Lawrence Richey, secretary to the President; and Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician.

The guests will have an early breakfast at the White House, after which they will depart for the Rapidan River retreat, returning late tomorrow.

Heart Attack Kills Man And Car Crashes Fence

Special to The Washington Post.

Westernport, Md., May 16.—George Alvin Hamilton, 40 years old, Franklin, near here, died at the wheel of his automobile from a heart attack yesterday afternoon while riding with his father-in-law, Joseph Blackburn, of Franklin, who succeeded in stopping the car after it crashed through a fence.

Mr. Hamilton is survived by his wife and two children. He was a son of Mrs. Amanda Hamilton, of Franklin. Two brothers and four sisters also survive.

Vinson Child Dies of Burns.

Hagerstown, Md., May 16 (Special), Betty Vinson, aged 4, daughter of William Vinson, who was burned yesterday at her home while her mother was away, died today at the local hospital. The child ran to a neighbor's house, when her clothing caught fire.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA, driving the old flivver, waited for a taxicab to leave its parking place. As the cab drew out another took its place, the driver cutting off Luella.

"I suppose that's what you'd call 'Organized Courtesy' eh?" she said, glowering at the man who had been so rude.

It was rather a mean trick. So I suggested that she speak to the taxi driver—give him a piece of her mind.

"Why don't you speak to him?" she asked.

"I don't know him."

"Neither do I."

"You might at least go out there and make him sorry he stole my parking place——"

• • • •

BACK in my memory came visions of what would happen—what had happened years ago when I tried the same trick with a taxi-driver.

"You know, Luella," I said, "some of these men are ex-prize fighters——"

She looked at me with scorn. "You don't mean to say you're afraid of him?"

My chest flew out. "Of course I'm not afraid of him, only——"

"Only, what?"

"Only, caution is the better part of valor."

"Now I know you're afraid of him——"

• • • •

THERE was no alternative. "Since you insist," I said, "I'll get out and speak to the fellow——"

"Do," said Luella. Just as I alighted from the old omnibus, a traffic cop appeared at the side window and engaged Luella in conversation.

"Say," he said, "what's the big idea—standing here, running your motor——?"

Luella hollered to me. "Never mind the taximan," she said, "come here and chastise this traffic officer——"

"Chastise a traffic officer? Who? Me? Softly, sister, please!"

• • • •

BETWEEN the two of us, and our explanations, we persuaded the officer to call the taxi driver to account, for stealing the parking place.

"Why, I didn't even see yuh," the man shouted.

"If you didn't see 'em," the officer said, in his most judicial manner, "you have no business driving a taxicab—weapon that it is."

"What a wonderful officer," said Luella, and changed her mind a minute later when the big stiff gave her a ticket for blocking traffic.

THE GREAT CRUSADE

By J. C. WISE

One of the Most Widely Discussed Books In the World Today

A War Epic That Is Different

Attacked because alleged to be anti-Wilson, anti-Pershing, pro-Ally and Pacifist propaganda, and because the accounts of the American Army in Paris after the Armistice and of the Peace Conference are thought by some to be scandalous.

It is praised by eminent critics, American and foreign, as "the first big American account of the War;" "the most constructive and worth-while of war books;" "a great book, thrilling with genuine feeling;" "a delightful human story," and "the only American book comparable with 'All Quiet on the Western Front' and 'Journey's End.'"

"America should be grateful for this extraordinary story of its greatest crusade."—Major General Henry T. Allen.

"It has battle pictures that rival Tolstoi's War and Peace."—New York Sun, April 25, 1930.

"You do not read it as a duty. It sweeps you along. Much that is in it might be pondered with profit by the statesmen. It shows the war as the statesman should have seen it."—Buffalo Times, April 6, 1930.

"It should be made compulsory reading in Washington."—The Outlook, April 23, 1930.
